AN INTRODUCTION TO CAROLINA BASKETBALL

ACC Championships

Carolina has won or shared 23 regular-season Atlantic Coast Conference championships and 15 ACC Tournament titles. Both figures are more than any other school in the league. Duke is second with 16 regular-season and 13 tournament championships. The Tar Heels last won the regular-season crown in 2001, Matt Doherty's first year as UNC's head coach. Carolina's most recent of the 15 tournament titles came in 1998, under then first-year head coach Bill Guthridge.

ACC 50

The 2002-03 season is the 50th in Atlantic Coast Conference history. The conference sponsored an official 50th anniversary team, selected by a panel of more than 100 media and school administrators.

The Tar Heels placed 12 on the men's basketball team, more than any other school. Carolina's ACC 50 honorees include: Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Larry Miller, Charles Scott, Bobby Jones, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan, Brad Daugherty and Antawn Jamison.

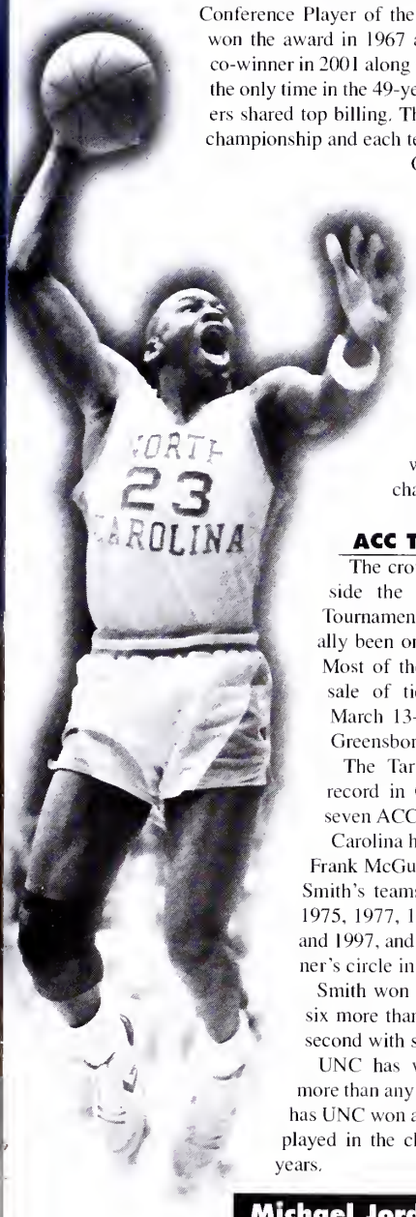
Overall, UNC had 276 selections to various ACC 50 teams, the highest figure among all ACC institutions.

ACC Players of the Year

Ten different Tar Heels have been named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, including Larry Miller, who won the award in 1967 and 1968. Joseph Forte was named co-winner in 2001 along with Duke's Shane Battier. That was the only time in the 49-year history of the ACC that two players shared top billing. The teams tied for the regular-season championship and each team won on the other's home court.

Other Tar Heels to be named ACC Player of the Year are: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Pete Brennan (1958), Lee Shaffer (1960), Billy Cunningham (1965), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

It is interesting to note UNC did not have the ACC Player of the Year in 1982 and 1993, years in which the Tar Heels won the NCAA championship.



Michael Jordan

ACC Tournament

The crown jewel of college basketball outside the NCAA Final Four is the ACC Tournament. The four-day event has traditionally been one of the toughest tickets in sports. Most of the nine schools do not have public sale of tickets. This year's tournament is March 13-16 at the Greensboro Coliseum in Greensboro, N.C.

The Tar Heels have a 30-10 tournament record in Greensboro, where UNC has won seven ACC championships.

Carolina has won the event a record 15 times. Frank McGuire led UNC to the 1957 title, Dean Smith's teams won in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1975, 1977, 1979, 1981, 1982, 1989, 1991, 1994 and 1997, and Bill Guthridge led UNC to the winner's circle in 1998.

Smith won 13 ACC Tournament titles. That is six more than Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, who is second with seven titles.

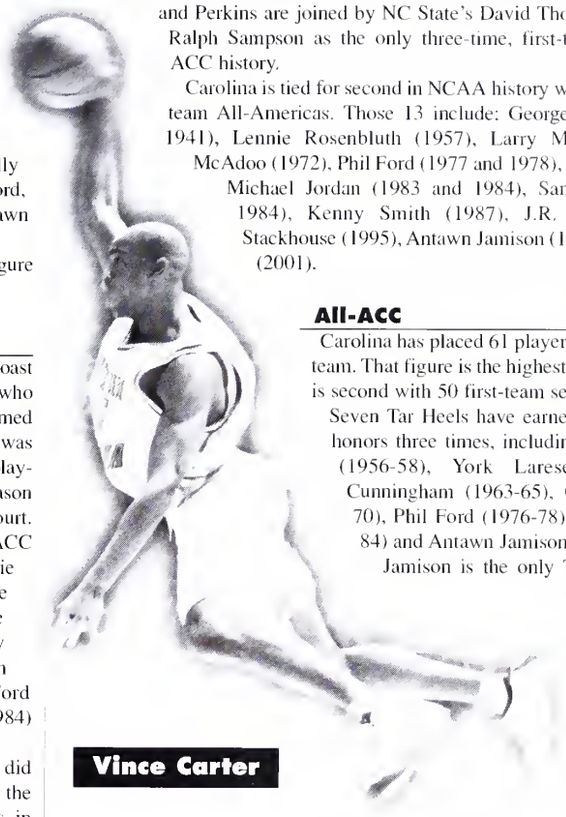
UNC has won 74 ACC Tournament games, more than any other school in the league. Not only has UNC won a record 15 titles, the Tar Heels have played in the championship game 27 times in 49 years.

All-Americas

Forty-three Tar Heels have earned All-America honors, including 31 players who have earned first-team All-America honors. Carolina's first All-America was Cartwright Carmichael, who was named in 1923 and 1924. The most recent selection was Joseph Forte, who earned consensus first-team accolades in 2001.

Phil Ford (1976-78), Mike O'Koren (1978-80) and Sam Perkins (1982-84) earned first-team All-America honors on three occasions. Ford, O'Koren and Perkins are joined by NC State's David Thompson and Virginia's Ralph Sampson as the only three-time, first-team All-Americas in ACC history.

Carolina is tied for second in NCAA history with 13 consensus first-team All-Americas. Those 13 include: George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1968), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1977 and 1978), James Worthy (1982), Michael Jordan (1983 and 1984), Sam Perkins (1983 and 1984), Kenny Smith (1987), J.R. Reid (1988), Jerry Stackhouse (1995), Antawn Jamison (1998) and Joseph Forte (2001).



Vince Carter

All-ACC

Carolina has placed 61 players on the All-ACC first team. That figure is the highest in ACC history. Duke is second with 50 first-team selections.

Seven Tar Heels have earned first-team All-ACC honors three times, including Lennie Rosenbluth (1956-58), York Larese (1959-61), Billy Cunningham (1963-65), Charles Scott (1968-70), Phil Ford (1976-78), Sam Perkins (1982-84) and Antawn Jamison (1996-98).

Jamison is the only Tar Heel, and one of only five ACC players, to be named to the first team as a freshman. The others are Skip Wise (Clemson, 1975), Kenny Anderson (Georgia Tech, 1990), Joe Smith (Maryland, 1994) and Stephon Marbury (Georgia Tech, 1996).

Last season was the first year in which UNC did not have a first- or second-team selection since 1990.

All-Stars

Four former Tar Heels who are active NBA players have played in the NBA All-Star Game, including Vince Carter (2000 and 2001 All-Star Games), Michael Jordan (13 times), Jerry Stackhouse (2000 and 2001) and Rasheed Wallace (2000 and 2001).

They are among 12 former Carolina players who went on to play in the NBA All-Star Game. Jordan leads with 13 appearances. James Worthy (seven), Walter Davis (six), Bob McAdoo (five), Brad Daugherty (five), Billy Cunningham (four), Bobby Jones (four), Charles Scott (three) and Lee Shaffer (one) also played in the NBA's showcase game.

Alma Mater

"Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices" is the oldest song of the University. It is based on the song "Amici" and was adapted in 1897. The chorus, "I'm a Tar Heel Bred," was added in the 1930s.

"Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises, Shouting 'NCU."
(chorus)
Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine
Carolina, Priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.
(refrain)
For I'm a Tar Heel born, I'm a Tar Heel bred
And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead.

So it's – Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina!
Rah! Rah!"

Attendance

Even though the Tar Heels posted an 8-20 record last year, Carolina again finished third in the nation in average attendance with better than 17,000 fans per game. That figure was No. 1 in the ACC and third nationally behind Kentucky and Syracuse.

In the 17 seasons the Tar Heels have played at the Smith Center, 4,390,576 fans have come through the turnstiles. That is an average of 20,140 fans at the 218 UNC home games.

Baseline Seats

Two years ago the Rams Club spent $200,000 to make room for 400 student admissions to a standing-room only section along the baseline in sections 116, 117 and 118. Those sections are at the end of the court at which the Tar Heels shoot in the second half. The first six rows of the retractable seats in those sections push back and a five-tiered riser is installed each game. The new section increased the building's overall capacity to 21,750 for basketball.

Bynum Gymnasium

The first gymnasium in which Carolina played intercollegiate basketball was Bynum Gym, located near what is now Peabody Hall. UNC played in Bynum from 1911 to 1924. The gym was named after William P. Bynum Jr., a former UNC student who died of typhoid after his sophomore year. His grandfather, state Supreme Court justice William P. Bynum of Charlotte, had donated $25,000 for construction of the facility. An interesting feature of the gym was the second floor running track that hung over the playing surface.

Bynum Hall now houses several University offices.

Carlyle Cup

Carlyle & Company, the Greenboro-based jeweler, sponsors a 20-sport competition between UNC and Duke with the winner receiving the Carlyle Cup. Carolina won the 2001-02 Carlyle Cup, beating the Blue Devils, 31-17.

Points are awarded in "winner take all" fashion based on which school wins more head-to-head meetings in a particular sport (or has a higher ACC/NCAA finish, if they don't compete head-to-head in that sport); if all head-to-head meetings are split, each school gets one-half of the designated point total.

Big Game James

Long before James Worthy teamed with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Magic Johnson to win three NBA championships, he was the Most Outstanding Player of the 1982 NCAA Final Four. Everyone remembers Michael Jordan's game-winning shot, but Worthy scored 28 points in the title game win over Georgetown. Worthy was the Helms Foundation's National Player of the Year in 1982.

Worthy was nicknamed "Big Game" James for his ability to play his best basketball in the most important games, especially in the NBA Playoffs. He had 36 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists in Game 7 of the 1988 NBA Finals and was named Finals MVP.

The Gastonia, N.C., native was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and has been a Hall of Fame finalist the past two seasons.

Blind Bomber

George Glamack, an All-America in 1940 and 1941, was nicknamed the Blind Bomber because of his poor eyesight and remarkably accurate hook shot. Glamack actually shot the ball based on the painted lines on the floor. He scored 45 points against Clemson in 1941, still the fourth-highest total in Carolina history.

Bloomington, Ind.

Broadcasters

Carolina's men's basketball players deal with the media so often, it's no wonder they become comfortable in front of the camera and on the airwaves. Brad Daugherty, Kenny Smith, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Walter Davis, Mike O'Koren, Bones McKinney and Billy Cunningham are among the Tar Heels who followed long professional basketball careers with broadcasting stints.

Daugherty has established himself as one of the top college analysts for ESPN and will add NBA games this year. Smith was one of Fox Sports' national college analysts last year and is co-host of a wildly popular NBA show on Turner Sports. Worthy was color analyst alongside Dick Enberg for CBS when the Tar Heels won the 2000 NCAA South Regional.

Carmichael Auditorium

The Tar Heels posted a 169-20 record in Carmichael Auditorium, one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. UNC played its first game in Carmichael against William and Mary on December 4, 1965, and its last game there on January 4, 1986, versus NC State.

The arena was named after William D. Carmichael Jr., Carolina's comptroller and vice-president of the UNC system. When first built, it held 8,800 individual chairback seats. Today, it has a seating capcity of 10,000 and is home to UNC's volleyball, women's basketball, wrestling and gymnastics programs.

Carolina Blue

Subject of much debate, the officially licensed color that is known as Carolina Blue is PMS 278. Sometimes referred to as Columbia Blue or sky blue, there is no doubt that the light blue hue is one of the most popular and instantly recognized colors in all of sports.

Carolina-Duke Rivalry

Voted the best college basketball rivalry in the 20th century by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, the Tar Heels lead the series, 122-90. The teams have combined for seven national championships, 28 of the 49 ACC Tournament titles, 28 Final Fours and 154 NCAA Tournament victories. Carolina-Duke games hold the top two and three of the top five rated college basketball telecasts in ESPN2 history.

At least one of the two schools has been ranked in the Associated Press national poll in each of the last 113 meetings. The last time Carolina and Duke met when neither team was ranked by the Associated Press was on Feb. 27, 1960.

Case Award

Carolina players have won the ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player Award, once known as the Everett Case Award, an unprecedented 16 times. UNC's MVPs include: Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957, Larry Miller in 1967 and 1968, Charles Scott in 1969, Lee Dedmon in 1971, Robert McAdoo in 1972, Phil Ford in 1975, John Kuester in 1977, Dudley Bradley in 1979, Sam Perkins in 1981, James Worthy in 1982, J.R. Reid in 1989, Rick Fox in 1991, Jerry Stackhouse in 1994, Shammond Williams in 1997 and Antawn Jamison in 1998. Dedmon shared the award with South Carolina's John Roche.

Carolina's Ford, Perkins and Stackhouse and Duke's Jason Williams are the only freshmen in league history to win MVP honors. Miller and NC State's Tommy Burleson are the only players to earn the award in consecutive seasons.

Chapel Hill

Sports Illustrated named Chapel Hill America's finest college town, saying it is "the purest example we could find of a college town defined by a university – and a good university."

Coach of the Year

Matt Doherty was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year in 2000-01 after leading the Tar Heels to a 26-7 record and a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

Doherty is the first Carolina coach to win the AP's National Coach of the Year award. However, each of UNC's last four coaches have won national coaching honors while directing the Tar Heels. Frank McGuire won in 1957, Dean Smith won in 1977, 1979, 1982 and 1993, and Bill Guthridge was a recipient in 1998. McGuire, Smith and Guthridge also earned ACC Coach of the Year honors. Smith was the recipient a record eight times.

Matt Doherty

The East Meadow, N.Y., native is only the second former Tar Heel to be the head coach at the University of North Carolina. Doherty is in his third year as UNC's head coach. He also was head coach at Notre Dame in 1999-2000 and was an assistant at Davidson (three years) and Kansas (seven years).

When Carolina went 13-3 in the league in 2000-01, he became the only coach in ACC history to win the regular-season championship in his first year.

Doherty and Bobby Cremins are also the only men in league history to play for and coach the No. 1 ranked team in the nation.

The Donald

No, not Trump, Williams. As in Donald Williams, the smooth-shooting, soft-spoken three-point artist who shot the Tar Heels to the 1993 NCAA championship. The Garner, N.C., native scored 25 points against Kansas in the national semifinal and another 25 against Michigan in the championship game and was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player.

Williams hit 10 of 14 from three-point range in the Final Four, the best three-point accuracy in Final Four history.

Double-Doubles

Billy Cunningham holds the Carolina record for double-doubles with 60 career and 22 in a single-season (22 out of 24 games in 1963-64).

Antawn Jamison finished his brilliant career with double-doubles in each of his last six games, a span that included the ACC Tournament championship game win vs. Duke and all five games in the 1998 NCAA Tournament.

George Lynch had double-doubles in the last four wins in the 1993 NCAA Tournament. He had 23 points and 10 rebounds against Arkansas in the Sweet 16, 21 and 14 vs. Cincinnati in the Final 8, 14 and 10 against Kansas in the Final 4 and 12 and 10 vs. Michigan in the national championship game.

Jawad Williams is the only current Tar Heel to record a double-double.

Draft Day

Carolina has had 85 players selected in the NBA Draft, including 31 players taken in the first round. The Tar Heels have 12 players drafted in the first round in the last 14 years. Brendan Haywood and Joseph Forte were selected in the first round in 2000-01. That was the seventh time UNC had two different players selected in the first round in the same year.

James Worthy and Brad Daugherty are the only Tar Heels selected No. 1 in the overall draft. Worthy was selected in 1982 by the Lakers; Daugherty was taken No. 1 by Cleveland in 1986.

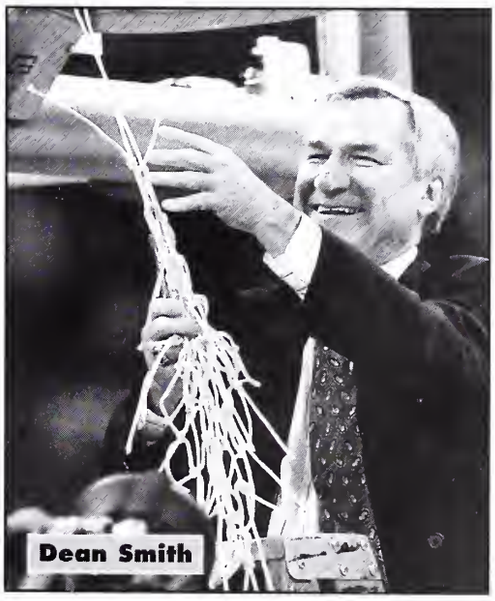
Michael Jordan was the third player selected in the 1984 Draft behind Hakeem Olajuwon (Houston) and Sam Bowie (Portland).

Woody Durham

Since 1971, Woody Durham has been the Voice of the Tar Heels, handling play-by-play radio duties for Carolina basketball and football. Durham has been named the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times. In 2002 at the ACC Tournament he received the Skeeter Francis Award for Distinguished Service by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association.

The 1963 UNC graduate grew up in Albemarle, N.C. His son, Wes, is the play-by-play voice of Georgia Tech football and basketball.

Durham is partnered with Mick Mixon, who is in his 14th year with the Tar Heel Sports Network. Mixon was named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999.



Dean Smith

1,800 Wins

Carolina has won 1,789 basketball games, the second-most in NCAA history. The Tar Heels need to win 11 games to join Kentucky (1,817) as the only programs in the country with 1,800 wins.

Early Entries

When Joseph Forte entered the NBA Draft after his sophomore season, he became the 10th Tar Heel to leave school early for the NBA. Robert McAdoo was the first to turn pro after his junior year in 1972. He was the second player selected in the draft and was an NBA Most Valuable Player with the Buffalo Braves.

The others include juniors James Worthy, Michael Jordan, J.R. Reid, Jeff McInnis, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison and sophomores Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace.

Elite Eight

Carolina has advanced to the NCAA regional final on 20 occasions. The Tar Heels are 15-5 in those games, advancing to the Final Four a record 15 times. Carolina has won each of its last six games in the Elite Eight, advancing to the Final Four in 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The last time UNC made it to the brink of the Final Four but lost was in 1988.

Only one other school (Kentucky, 29) has advanced to the Final 8 more often than Carolina.

Field Goal Percentage

Carolina's unselfish play and willingness to get the best shot possible is exemplified by the fact that the Tar Heels have led the ACC in individual field goal percentage 15 times, more than any other school in the league (Duke is second with 13). In fact, Carolina players have five of the 10 best career field goal percentages in ACC history.

Brendan Haywood holds the ACC career record at 63.7 percent. Rasheed Wallace (2nd), Brad Daugherty (4th), Bobby Jones (8th) and J.R. Reid (10th) are also among the top 10. Ten of the 25 all-time best field goal shooters in ACC history are Tar Heels.

Carolina has led the ACC in team field goal percentage 24 times (in 49 years) and led the nation in 1966, 1972, 1973 and 1998.

The last two NBA players to score 50 points in consecutive games are former Tar Heels Michael Jordan and Antawn Jamison. Jordan did it in 1986-87 and Jamison accomplished the feat in 2000-01.

Final Four

Carolina has played in 15 Final Fours, tying UCLA for the most ever (one of the Bruins' appearances has been vacated). The Tar Heels have played in the Final Four in 1946, 1957, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The Tar Heels won the NCAA title in 1957, 1982 and 1993.

Rusty Clark (1967-69), Bill Bunting (1967-69) and Ed Cota (1997-98, 2000) are the only Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours. Carolina holds the NCAA record for most players who have played in a Final Four with 121. UNC has played in the Final Four in 10 different cities and in seven different decades.

First Game Starters

Last year, forward Jawad Williams started against Hampton in the season opener. He was the 17th Tar Heel to start in his first game as a freshman since first-year players became eligible to play in 1972-73.

Other UNC players to start their first game as freshmen include Phil Ford, Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Brendan Haywood, Jason Capel, Kris Lang, Joseph Forte and Adam Boone.

500 ACC Wins

The Tar Heels are just three wins shy of 500 regular-season ACC victories. Carolina's 497 wins are 58 more than second-place Duke's total of 439 wins.

No other ACC school has more than 347 ACC wins.

Phil Ford

Arguably the greatest point guard in college basketball history, the Rocky Mount, N.C., native is Carolina's all-time leading scorer with 2,290 points.

Ford perfected the Four Corners, was MVP of the ACC Tournament as a freshman in leading UNC past David Thompson and NC State, and won the Wooden Award as the National Player of the Year in 1978. Ford was an NBA Rookie of the Year and was an assistant coach with the Tar Heels for 12 years. Ford led the USA to the gold medal in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, dishing out 12 assists in the gold medal game.

Ford is currently a Vice President in the Rams Club, the non-profit foundation that raises scholarship funding for UNC's student-athletes.

Four Corners

One of the most famous and feared offensive sets in college basketball history was the Four Corners, a system Dean Smith first used in 1965-66 with Larry Miller and Bob Lewis handling the ball and later perfected by point guard Phil Ford. Smith was not the first coach to spread the floor, but his unique signature to the offense was to put the team's best ballhandler in the middle of the floor with four teammates around him in the corners of the court.

Franklin Street

The most famous street in Chapel Hill, one of the great college towns in America, is Franklin Street. Known for its restaurants, shops and nightlife, Franklin Street borders the northern edge of the UNC campus.

Freshmen

Jawad Williams averaged 9.8 points and 4.2 rebounds last year and was named to the All-ACC Freshmen Team. Williams is the seventh Tar Heel freshmen to be named to the team since its inception in 1992-93. Williams joins Jerry Stackhouse, Rasheed Wallace, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Kris Lang and Joseph Forte as All-ACC Freshman selections.

Five Carolina players have been named ACC Rookie of the Year, including Sam Perkins (1981), Michael Jordan (1982), J.R. Reid (1987), Cota (1997) and Forte (2000).

UNC is the only school to have three different freshmen win ACC Tournament MVP honors. Phil Ford (1975), Perkins and Stackhouse accomplished the feat. Duke's Jason Williams is the only other freshmen to win that award.

Bill Guthridge

The Parsons, Kan., native was the consensus National Coach of the Year and ACC Coach of the Year in 1998 when he led the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, an ACC championship and Final Four appearance.

Guthridge spent 30 years as an assistant to Dean Smith and was UNC's head coach from 1998-2000. In those three years, UNC went 80-28 and played in the 1998 and 2000 Final Fours. He joined Fred Taylor of Ohio State as the only men to coach in Final Fours in two of his first three seasons as a head coach.

Guthridge set NCAA records for wins as a first year (34) and second year coach (58) and tied the NCAA record for wins after three years (80).

Hall of Fame

Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Larry Brown was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., on September 27, 2002. Brown is the sixth Tar Heel to be inducted, joining coaches Ben Carnevale, Frank McGuire and Dean Smith and players Billy Cunningham and Bob McAdoo.

James Worthy and Bobby Jones have been finalists on the ballot in each of the past two seasons.

Honored Jerseys

Rising high above the Smith Center floor are the names and uniform numbers of 40 Tar Heel players who performed with great distinction. Seven of the jersey numbers are retired and 33 of them are honored and may be worn by future Tar Heels. A player qualifies to have his number honored if he meets any of the following criteria: ACC Player of the Year; selected by the coaches as MVP of a NCAA championship team; member of a gold medal Olympic team; or a first- or second-team All-America selection.

Retired Jerseys

Seven Tar Heels have had their jerseys retired by the University, including Jack Cobb (no number), Lennie Rosenbluth (#10), Phil Ford (#12), George Glamack (#20), Michael Jordan (#23), Antawn Jamison (#33) and James Worthy (#52).

Today, a player must be the consensus National Player of the Year to have his jersey retired. That is policy established by the University's Athletics Council.

Michael Jordan

ESPN's SportsCentury named him the Greatest Athlete of the 20th Century. NCAA champion, two-time Olympic gold medalist, six-time NBA Finals MVP, five-time NBA Most Valuable Player, 10-time NBA scoring champion and first-team All-NBA selection and six-time NBA champion.

He hit the game-winning shot in the 1982 NCAA championship game against Georgetown, was the consensus National Player of the Year in 1984 and averaged 17.7 points and 5.0 rebounds per game as a Tar Heel (he played before the shot clock and with the three-point shot in just one of his three collegiate seasons).

Jordan led the ACC in scoring as a junior and averaged 20.0 points a game as a sophomore.

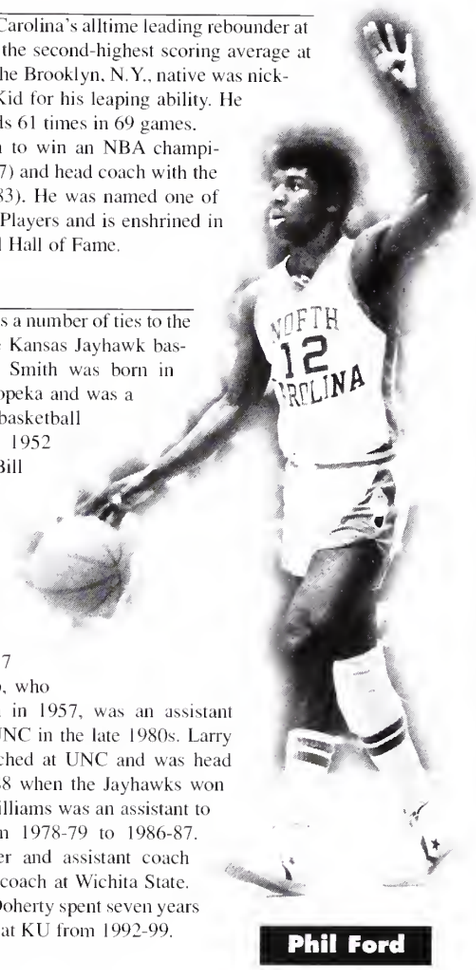
Kangaroo Kid

Billy Cunningham is Carolina's alltime leading rebounder at 15.4 per game and has the second-highest scoring average at 24.8 points per game. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native was nicknamed The Kangaroo Kid for his leaping ability. He had 10 or more rebounds 61 times in 69 games.

Cunningham went on to win an NBA championship as a player (1967) and head coach with the Philadelphia 76ers (1983). He was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and is enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Kansas

Carolina basketball has a number of ties to the state of Kansas and the Kansas Jayhawk basketball program. Dean Smith was born in Emporia, grew up in Topeka and was a member of the KU basketball team that won the 1952 NCAA championship. Bill Guthridge is a native of Parsons and played basketball and coached at Kansas State. Carolina beat Kansas, led by Wilt Chamberlain, in triple overtime to win the 1957 NCAA title. Dick Harp, who coached that KU team in 1957, was an assistant coach under Smith at UNC in the late 1980s. Larry Brown played and coached at UNC and was head coach at Kansas in 1988 when the Jayhawks won the NCAA title. Roy Williams was an assistant to Smith at Carolina from 1978-79 to 1986-87. Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Eddie Fogler was head coach at Wichita State. UNC head coach Matt Doherty spent seven years as assistant to Williams at KU from 1992-99.



Phil Ford

Tommy Kearns

Earned national notoriety when at just under six feet tall he jumped center against Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain to tip off the 1957 national championship game. Kearns was a second-team All-America guard that year, leading UNC to a 32-0 record. In 2000, he played a high school basketball coach in the movie "Finding Forrester."

L&M Boys

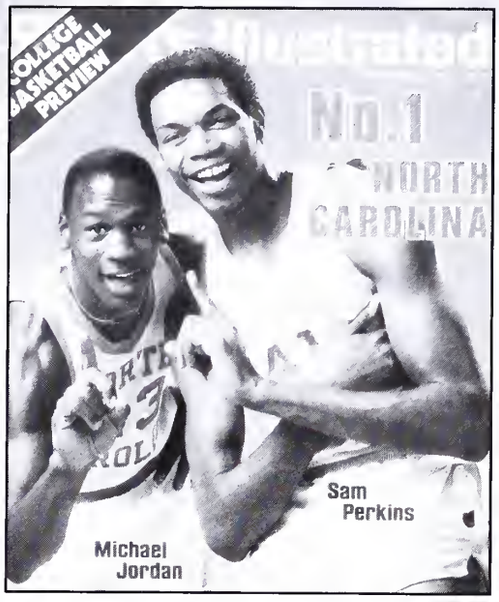
In the mid-1960s, Bob Lewis and Larry Miller provided the spark that established Dean Smith as one of the game's great coaches and Carolina basketball as one of the sport's top programs. Lewis averaged 27.4 points as a junior in 1966 and 22.1 in his career. The Washington, D.C., native holds UNC's single-game record with 49 points.

According to Smith, Miller was the first player that signed with Carolina who was recruited heavily by Vic Bubas at Duke. Miller went on to win ACC Player of the Year honors in 1967 and 1968. Lewis and Miller were dubbed the L&M Boys and featured in a Sports Illustrated story by Frank Deford.

Frank McGuire

Led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 season and national championship in 1956-57, one of the defining moments in establishing ACC Basketball as the best basketball conference in America. McGuire became the UNC head coach in 1952-53 and posted a nine-year record of 164-58. He began the pipeline of New York City talent, bringing to Chapel Hill players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham (the five starters in 1957), York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham.

McGuire left UNC for the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers after the 1960-61 season. Three years earlier, however, he hired Dean Smith as an assistant coach. McGuire later won an ACC title at South Carolina in 1971.



National Players of the Year

Nine different Tar Heels have won National Player of the Year honors, including consensus winners Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998). Other winners are Jack Cobb (1926), George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), James Worthy (1982), Kenny Smith (1987) and Jerry Stackhouse (1995). Jordan, named by eight organizations as a junior, also was The Sporting News' pick as a sophomore in 1983.

Associated Press (since 1961) – Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)
Wooden Award (since 1977) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

NABC (since 1975) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

Mitch Kupchak is General Manager of the Lakers and Donnie Walsh is president of the Indiana Pacers.

NBA Champions

Rick Fox earned his third NBA championship ring in as many years with the Los Angeles Lakers. Fox is one of 12 former Tar Heels who have gone on to win NBA rings as players. Those 12 players have accounted for 27 championship rings. The rest of the ACC has a combined 14 players winning 23 rings.

NBA 50

In the late 1990s, the NBA selected its All-time 50 Greatest Players. Former Tar Heels Billy Cunningham, Michael Jordan and James Worthy were named to the team. Carolina, Houston and LSU were the only schools to have three players on the team.

NCAA Tournament

Carolina is second in NCAA history with 35 appearances, 116 games played and 81 wins in the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels established an alltime record with 27 consecutive trips to the Tournament from 1975-2001. UNC has the fifth-best win percentage (.698) in Tournament history.

No. 1

Carolina has been ranked No. 1 in the nation in the Associated Press poll in 15 different seasons since the A.P. began its rankings in 1948-49. Those seasons include 1957, 1958, 1959, 1978, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1993, 1994, 1995, 1998 and 2001.

The Tar Heels have been No. 1 on 84 occasions. Carolina is second alltime in weeks ranked No. 1 in the country behind UCLA (128).

Matt Doherty (two weeks) is the fourth different Carolina head coach to have his team ranked No. 1 in the nation. Frank McGuire had teams ranked No. 1 for 11 weeks, Dean Smith had teams ranked No. 1 60 times and Bill Guthridge led the Tar Heels to the No. 1 ranking for eight weeks.

Doherty spent 29 weeks as a Tar Heel player ranked No. 1 in the nation. Carolina was 52-5 with Doherty in the lineup as the No. 1 team in the country, winning the NCAA title in 1982 and finishing No. 1 in the final poll in 1982 and 1984.

Carolina has been ranked in the Top 10 505 times. That is the second-highest figure in NCAA basketball history. Carolina has appeared in the AP poll 649 times, more than any other school in history. Duke is second in ACC history with 489 rankings.

No. 1 vs. No. 2

Carolina has played in six games involving the top two ranked teams in the country by the Associated Press poll and the Tar Heels are 6-0 in those games (4-0 as No. 1 and 2-0 as No. 2).

A list of those games follows:
March 23, 1957 – No. 1 UNC 54, No. 2 Kansas 53
Dec. 26, 1981 – No. 1 UNC 82, No. 2 Kentucky 69
Jan. 9, 1982 – No. 1 UNC 65, No. 2 Virginia 60
Feb. 4, 1986 – No. 1 UNC 78, No. 2 Ga. Tech 77
Feb. 3, 1994 – No. 2 UNC 89, No. 1 Duke 78
Feb. 5, 1998 – No. 2 UNC 97, No. 1 Duke 73

Olympics

Twelve (12) former Tar Heels have represented their country in the Olympic Games. Michael Jordan won gold medals in 1984 and 1992. Larry Brown (1964), Charles Scott (1968), Walter Davis (1976), Phil Ford (1976), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Tom LaGarde (1976) and Vince Carter (2000) have also won gold medals. Bobby Jones won silver in the highly controversial 1972 Games and J.R. Reid took home a bronze in 1988. Al Wood was a member of the 1980 U.S. Team which did not compete in Moscow and Henrik Rodl played for Germany in 2000.

Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge coached the U.S. to gold in Montreal in 1976 and Brown assisted the U.S. Team in 2000.

One

Sophomore guard Melvin Scott is the only player in Carolina basketball history who has worn the uniform number 1. Two players – Eric Montross and Brendan Haywood wore '00.' Freshman guard Raymond Felton will become the first to ever suit up wearing number '2.'

The most commonly worn number in Carolina basketball history is '20,' which has been worn by 21 different Tar Heels, although none since Steve Bucknall.

He became the last player to wear it when the University decided to retire George Glamack's number. Glamack was the National Player of the Year in 1940 and 1941.

Patterson Medal

The Patterson Medal is the most prestigious athletic award granted at UNC. It is presented annually to the top senior student-athlete, based primarily on athletic accomplishment, although sportsmanship and leadership are also considered.

Twenty-six different men's basketball players have won the award, including: Monk McDonald (1924), Jack Cobb (1926), Henry Satterfield (1929), Virgil Weathers (1934), Andy Bershak (1938), Paul Severin (1941), Bobby Gersten (1942), Jim Jordan (1946), Albert Long Jr. (1955), Jerry Vayda (1956), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1968), Bill Bunting 1969), Charles Scott (1970), Dennis Wuycik (1972), George Karl (1973), Charles Waddell (1975), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Walter Davis (1977), Phil Ford (1978), Al Wood (1980), Brad Daugherty (1986), Kenny Smith (1987), Jeff Lebo (1989), Antawn Jamison (1998) and Brendan Haywood (2001).

Player of the Week

Antawn Jamison was named ACC Player of the Week a record 12 times. Wake Forest's Tim Duncan is second with 11.Jamison won the award seven times in 1997-98, four times in 1996-97 and once in 1995-96. No other player even won the award more than five times in a year since the league began selections in 1969-70. Georgia Tech's Travis Best (1993-94) and Duke's Elton Brand (1998-99) won five times in a year.

Wake Forest's Tim Duncan (11), NC State's David Thompson (9), Wake Forest's Randolph Childress (7), Best (7) and Maryland's Juan Dixon (7) round out the top five career recipients.

Rameses

Carolina's mascot, a ram, is named Rameses. The Tar Heels have a ram for a mascot because in 1922 the best football player, Jack Merritt, was nicknamed "The Battering Ram." Vic Huggins, the head cheerleader in 1924, came up with the nickname, which was adopted for all of UNC's varsity teams. The Tar Heels were also known as the White Phantoms, a nickname they went by until the late 1940s.

Rams Club

The Educational Foundation, also known as the Rams Club, is a non-profit foundation whose members provide the scholarship funding for Carolina's varsity student-athletes to the tune of nearly $7 million per year. John Montgomery is in his second full year as president of the Rams Club.

The Rams Club also raises money for various capital projects in athletics and for other University interests. The staff may be reached at (919) 945-2000.

Rookies

Five former Tar Heels have won NBA Rookie of the Year honors. The most recent was Vince Carter in 1999. Other winners are Bob McAdoo (1973), Walter Davis (1978), Phil Ford (1979) and Michael Jordan (1985). Charles Scott was the ABA Rookie of the Year in 1971.

Lennie Rosenbluth

Only three players in ACC history have been named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season – Antawn Jamison, Duke's Christian Laettner and Lennie Rosenbluth.

Rosenbluth averaged a school-record 28.0 points in 1957 when he led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 record and the NCAA championship. Rosenbluth's #10 is retired and he is one of the ACC's Top 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

Sears Cup

Carolina finished fourth in the nation in the 2001-02 Division I Sears Cup standings. The Tar Heels scored 1065.5 points. Stanford won the Sears Cup for the eighth consecutive year with 1499 points. UNC is the only school other than Stanford to win the Division I title since the award was created in 1993-94. Carolina finished first in the award's inaugural season.

Points are awarded by virtue of a school's NCAA postseason finish in up to 10 men's and 10 women's sports (based upon the number of teams in each championship format).

Carolina's fourth-place finish marked the seventh time in nine years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. It was also the eighth time in nine years UNC was the highest-finishing school in the ACC.

Season Tickets

There is no public sale of season tickets at Carolina. All season tickets are purchased by members of the Rams Club and by UNC employees. The only way to secure season basketball tickets right now is to endow either a half scholarship ($75,000 over 7 years) or a full scholarship ($150,000 over 8 years). Location is assigned by points, which are obtained by donations, not pledges. They can be passed down one generation.

Original donors to the Smith Center campaign gave a one-time capital gift, and have to stay at one of our annual giving levels to keep the rights to the seats. These seats can be passed down in perpetuity.

Charles Scott

The first African-American scholarship basketball player at UNC was New York's Charles Scott, who came to Chapel Hill after prepping at the Laurinburg Institute. 'Great Scott' earned first-team All-America honors and was Co-ACC Athlete of the Year in 1970, led UNC to Final Fours in 1968 and 1969, won an Olympic gold medal in 1968 and an NBA title with the Boston Celtics in 1976. He is one of the ACC's 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

In 1969, Scott scored 40 points, including 29 in the second half, to beat Duke in thr ACC championship game. He then sent the Tar Heels to the Final Four with a buzzer-beating jumper to edge Davidson, 87-85.

On February 24, 1979, Carolina held the ball for most of the first half and trailed Duke, 7-0, at the half. The Blue Devils went on to win, 47-40. One week later in the ACC Tournament championship game, Mike O'Koren and Dudley Bradley combined for 34 points as the Tar Heels beat Duke, 71-63.

In 1966, Duke led UNC, 7-5, at the half and beat the Tar Heels, 21-20, in the ACC semifinals.

The Shot I

Walter Davis hit a 28-foot bank shot as time expired to send the UNC-Duke game into overtime on March 2, 1974. The Tar Heels went on to a 96-92 victory. The game is one of the most famous in college basketball history because Carolina trailed, 86-78, with 17 seconds to play.

The Shot II

Michael Jordan's 17-footer from the wing with 15 seconds to play gave Carolina 63-62 win over Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA championship game. Jimmy Black assisted on the game-winner.

Famous Shots

Keep an eye on TarHeelBlue.com later this year as UNC fans will be asked to vote for their alltime favorite shot. Here are some of the top candidates:

Pete Brennan's jumper with three seconds left to send the national semifinals vs. Michigan State into a third overtime, March 22, 1957;

Charles Scott's 20-footer with three seconds remaining to beat Davidson and send UNC to the 1968 Final Four;

Sports Illustrated

Michael Jordan has been on the cover of Sports Illustrated 51 times (as of Sept. 25, 2002), more than any other athlete in history. Muhammad Ali is second with 38 appearances.

Jordan and Dean Smith both were named Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year; Jordan was named in 1991 and Smith in 1997. They are the only ACC basketball players or coaches to win the award.

Dean Smith

The winningest coach in NCAA history (879), two-time NCAA champion (1982 and 1993), 11 Final Fours, 13 ACC Tournament championships, 20 ACC Tournament finals, 17 regular-season ACC titles, 27 NCAA Tournament appearances, an NIT championship, head coach of the 1976 Olympic gold medalists, Naismith Basketball Hall of Famer, 24 Top 10 rankings, eight-time ACC Coach of the Year and 30 20-win seasons.

Smith was named Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year (1997) and was an Arthur Ashe Award for Courage recipient. In 2000, ESPN named Smith one of the seven greatest coaches of alltime. He was joined on that remarkable list by Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden.

Smith Center

The Dean E. Smith Student Activities Center opened on January 18, 1986. No. 1 ranked Carolina beat No. 3 Duke, 95-92. Center Warren Martin scored the first UNC basket in the Smith Center. Carolina is 182-36 all-time in the Smith Center.

After several upgrades and improvements, the Smith Center's capacity is now 21,750, making it the largest arena in the ACC and one of the largest in the nation.

Superdome

The Tar Heels have won three NCAA Tournament championships, including two in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. In 1982, Carolina beat Houston and Georgetown to win the title; 11 years later, UNC knocked out Kansas and Michigan for the championship.

Two years ago in Matt Doherty's first year as head coach, Carolina beat Princeton in the first round of the Tournament, but lost to Penn State in round two in the Superdome.

TV

Carolina, a fixture on national television, was featured in the first television game involving ACC teams (Jan. 8, 1955 vs. Wake Forest), the first game on C.D. Chesley's ACC Network (Dec.7, 1957 vs. Clemson) and the first basketball game broadcast live across the state of North Carolina (March 15, 1957 vs. Canisius in the NCAA East Region semifinals).

The 1956-57 team posted a perfect 32-0 record and won the NCAA championship. The Tar Heels had to survive several close games along the way to the title, including an unprecedented pair of triple overtime thrillers in the Final Four.

UNC won nine of its 32 games by five points or less and had four games go into overtime. Pete Brennan saved the day in the national semifinals against Michigan State as he hit a jumper with three seconds to tie the game and extend it into a third overtime. National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth scord 20 points in the championship game and Joe Quigg hit a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the third overtime to give Carolina a 54-53 win over Kansas.

Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 national title game against the Jayhawks as the second-best college basketball game ever played.

The 1957 Tar Heels are one of only 12 unbeaten teams in NCAA history. That Carolina team and the 1976 Indiana team share the NCAA record for most wins in a season without a loss with 32.

Three Straight

Carolina won the regular-season championship and ACC Tournament championship for three consecutive seasons from 1967-69. This was in the era when only the ACC Tournament champion was eligible to compete in the NCAA Tournament.

UNC is still the only school that has won three consecutive outright regular-season championships and ACC Tournament titles.

1,000 Assists

Ed Cota is one of only three players in NCAA history to have at least 1,000 career assists. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native is the only player in NCAA history to have at least 1,000 assists, 1,000 points and 500 rebounds. Cota handed out 1,030 assists. He also scored 1,261 points and had 517 rebounds. He is one of only three Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours (1997, 1998 and 2000).

1,000 Points

North Carolina has more 1,000-point career scorers than any other school in the country. The Tar Heels have had 53 players reach 1,000 points. That figure is one more than Louisville and two more than Duke. Kentucky is fourth with 49 and Kansas is fifth with 45.

Twenty-two (22) of the 53 have scored at least 1,500 points and five – Phil Ford (2,290), Sam Perkins (2,145), Lennie Rosenbluth (2,045), Al Wood (2,015) and Charles Scott (2,007) – netted at least 2,000 points.

The most recent players to reach 1,000 points were Jason Capel (1,447) and Kris Lang (1,392).

Rasheed Wallace

Tin Can

From 1924-1937 Carolina played its home games in the Indoor Athletic Center, on ground that is now home to Fetzer Gymnasium. Students nicknamed the metal structure the Tin Can. It was the home of the Tar Heels until Woollen Gym was built in 1938.

Top Three

Carolina finished in first, second or third place in the ACC regular-season standings 37 consecutive years from 1964-65 to 2000-01. That is an unequaled run of consistency. Overall, the Tar Heels have finished in the top three in the league 44 times in 49 seasons.

Former head coach Dean Smith prefers to mention how many times the Tar Heels finished in first or second place in the league standings – 23 times in first place and 13 in second place. No other school in the ACC has more than 15 first place finishes and more than 23 top two placements.

Triple Doubles

There have only been 18 'Triple-Doubles' in ACC history and the two most recent ones were by Tar Heels in a span of two weeks.

In fact, Brendan Haywood and Jason Capel became the first two players in UNC history to register 'Triple-Doubles.' Haywood had 18 points, 14 rebounds and 10 blocked shots against Miami (Fla.) on December 4, 2000. Capel had 16 points, 11 boards and 10 assists on December 17, 2000, against Buffalo.

No Carolina opponent has ever recorded a triple-double.

Not only the most recognizable basketball number in the world, but also an outstanding restaurant owned by Michael Jordan on Franklin Street. 23 is also the home of Matt Doherty Live!, the coach's weekly radio show. Host Woody Durham and Doherty do the show in front of a live audience most Thursdays during the basketball season from 7-8 p.m.

20 Wins

Carolina won at least 20 games for an NCAA record 31 consecutive seasons from 1970-71 to 2000-01. In that time, the Tar Heels won at least 25 games 21 times and at least 30 games three times.

Uniforms

Carolina basketball uniforms are among the most recognizable in the sports world. World-renowned designer and Carolina alumnus Alexander Julian re-designed the uniforms prior to the start of the 1991-92 season. Mr. Julian added the argyle pattern down the sides of the jersey and shorts, emboldened the trim and upgraded the fabric among other changes.

In 1999-2000, the words 'North Carolina' on the front of the jersey were replaced by the interlocking NC logo. A year later, 'North Carolina' went back on the jersey.

Victories

Carolina is second alltime in wins with 1,789. Kentucky is first with 1,817 and Kansas is third with 1,771. No other schools have won 1,700 or more games.

The Tar Heels are first in ACC regular-season wins (497), first in ACC Tournament wins (74) and second in NCAA Tournament wins (81).

Woollen Gymnasium

Carolina played its home games from 1938-1965 in Woollen Gym, which is located adjacent to Carmichael Auditorium, the building that replaced it as UNC's basketball home. Woollen was named after Charles T. Woollen, the University's business manager who pushed for its construction. Total cost of the building was $646,000, none of which came from state funds.

Woollen is still in use today and is home to some of the best and most intense pickup basketball games on any college campus.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA STATEMENT ON GAMBLING

The mission of the Department of Athletics is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop. In keeping with the Department's mission and the University's commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the Department of Athletics strongly condemns the influence of gambling on intercollegiate athletics.

Student gambling is a significant issue on college campuses. Student-athlete involvement in gambling has produced many tragic situations, both for student-athletes and the universities they represent. Student-athletes often compete in contests that generate interest from those involved in gambling and, possibly, organized crime. If given the opportunity, those interests will not hesitate to exploit the position student-athletes hold on college campuses. As such, the University of North Carolina is firmly opposed to all forms of gambling and bribery related to intercollegiate athletics.

To fulfill its educational obligation, the Athletic Department provides a gambling education program to all its student-athletes and departmental staff members. This statement and the educational program are reflections of the Department's commitment to keeping intercollegiate athletics free from the influences of gambling and its related activities.

The Athletic Department requires its staff members and student-athletes to adhere to NCAA, state and federal laws regarding gambling. In the interest of fair competition and the growth and development of student-athletes, the Department strongly urges its friends and supporters to refrain from gambling/betting on contests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

Previewing the 2002-03 Tar Heels

The University of North Carolina finds itself on unfamiliar ground this year as it looks to bounce back from an 8-20 record a year ago that left the Tar Heels out of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 28 years.

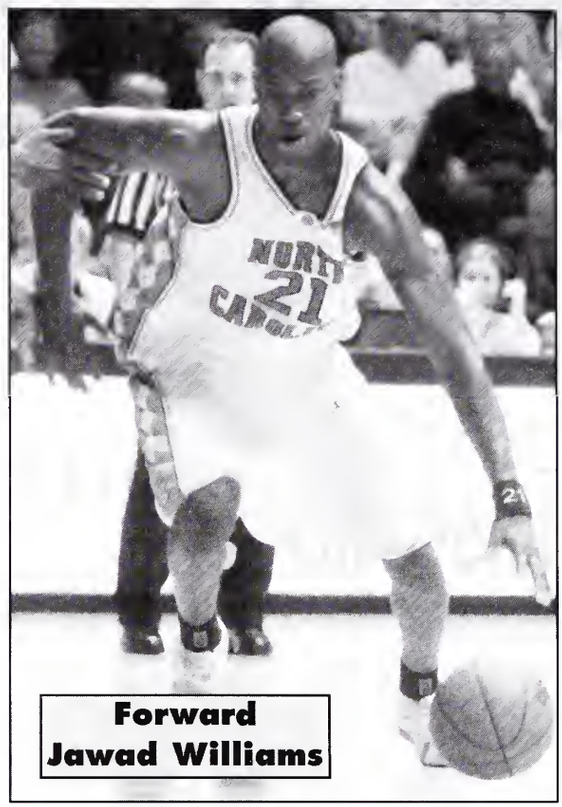
However, the challenge to return to the postseason won't be an easy one to accomplish, considering the 2002-03 Tar Heels will field one of the youngest and most inexperienced teams in school history while facing another difficult schedule.

Head coach Matt Doherty has just two seniors (who have less than 20 combined career starts between them) three sophomores and six freshmen.

It is the first time since Carolina began Atlantic Coast Conference play 50 years ago that just two juniors and seniors are on the preseason roster. The previous low was four in 1990-91, but three of those four were senior starters. In fact, over the last 50 years, Carolina has averaged nearly eight juniors and seniors per season.

Doherty, 34-27 in his first two seasons at Carolina, will lead a team that must replace three starters and two other prominent reserves from a year ago who combined to score 65 percent of the team's points, grab 59 percent of the rebounds and hand out 60 percent of the assists.

"Our players and coaches are excited about the season and the challenges that are ahead of us," says Doherty. "Last year was rough for our team and our fans, who really stuck with us, but our players have great attitudes, are committed to getting better every day and are excited about the future of Carolina Basketball."

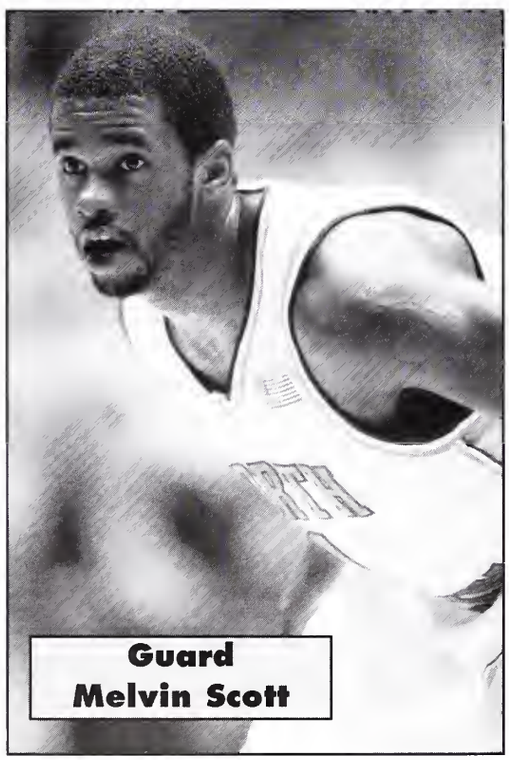


Forward Jawad Williams

Jawad Williams, a 6-8½ sophomore forward from Cleveland, Ohio, is the leading returning scorer and rebounder. Williams averaged 9.8 points and 4.2 boards per game last year. Williams scored in double figures 14 times as a freshman with a season-high of 21 against Maryland and 20 against North Carolina A&T. He shot 51.5 percent from the floor, the highest percentage among the seven UNC players with at least 100 field goal attempts.

"Jawad really matured as a player last year," says Doherty. "He developed into a great defender and had a better understanding of our offense. That continued in the offseason. He has been impressive shooting the ball in our drills, is committed to playing great on the defensive end of the floor and enjoys instructing the freshmen. He's shown exceptional leadership skills."

Melvin Scott, a 6-1½ sophomore guard from Baltimore, Md., started at point guard several times early in the season and 11 times at the two-guard slot at the end of the year. He averaged 6.2 points and nearly two assists per game. He scored a season-high 17 points on two occasions and was in double figures seven times. Scott had five assists against Indiana and at Maryland.



Guard Melvin Scott

Scott shot 28 of 80 from three-point range (.350), and connected on three or more three-point field goals in five different contests.

"Melvin was put in a bad position early," says Doherty. "He hadn't played much point guard in high school, but we needed him there and he started the ACC season playing the point. That experience will really help his ballhandling this year. He gives us a great deal of versatility with his ability to play both guard positions. Melvin can really shoot the basketball. This year, I want him to focus on getting comfortable and hitting shots."

Will Johnson, a 6-8 forward from Hickory, N.C., is one of the two returning seniors on the team. A walk-on, he is a recipient of the prestigious Morehead Scholarship, one of the top academic and service grants awarded at the University of North Carolina.

Johnson averaged 3.9 points and 2.5 rebounds per game as a junior. He started at forward in 15 of Carolina's 28 games and scored in double figures twice. He had a career-high 14 points against the College of Charleston and 11 against Binghamton. Johnson converted 42.9 percent from three-point range last year, making 18 of 42 from behind the stripe.

"Will is such a smart and tenacious player," says Doherty. "He's always been a smart offensive rebounder, and he has worked hard to get stronger so he can be more effective when he gets the ball inside. He's also a good outside shooter."

The other senior is 6-0½ point guard Jonathan Holmes. The Bloomington, Ind., native saw action in 14 contests a year ago. He was four for seven from three-point range and had 10 assists against six turnovers. He scored six points against Duke in the Smith Center. He did not have a start last year, but made one at Georgia Tech as a freshman.

"Jonathan can really handle the ball and has a lot of court savvy," says Doherty. "We need Will and Jonathan to provide great senior leadership, probably as much as ever before because we are such a young team."

Sophomore Jackie Manuel also saw extensive playing time a year ago. The 6-5 swing man from West Palm Beach, Fla., played at small forward and shooting guard and was in the starting lineup on 16 occasions, including 11 of the first 12 games. He injured his ankle and missed a couple of games in January and was unable to practice at full-speed the rest of the season.

"This is the youngest team in Carolina history and we play a very difficult schedule. Our strengths will be speed and athleticism, and hopefully that will result in transition baskets and pressure defense."

Manuel averaged 5.5 points and 3.5 rebounds and had 55 assists in 26 games. He scored a season-high 16 points on five of seven shooting from the floor against Clemson in Chapel Hill. Manuel also had 11 points in Charlotte against 15th-ranked Saint Joseph's. He struggled shooting the ball early in the season, which affected his confidence. However, he has worked very hard in the offseason to develop more consistency from the floor.

"Jackie may be the best athlete on the team," says Doherty. "He missed some shots early last year and that shook his confidence. However, Jackie understood shot selection better as the year went on and became more comfortable on the court. He really has improved his strength and his overall athleticism in the offseason. He has gained 10 pounds. That will give him a lot of confidence. I think you will see a much more relaxed player.

"Last year's experience obviously will help Jackie, Jawad and Melvin this year. Their leadership will be crucial this year. They can share their experiences with the freshmen."

Doherty welcomes six freshmen – point guard Raymond Felton, swing men Rashad McCants and David Noel and frontcourt players Damion Grant, Sean May and Byron Sanders.

Felton led Latta High School to the South Carolina 1-A state championship last year and was named the Naismith Prep National Player of the Year. Felton also was a consensus high school All-America.

"Raymond is a great talent, but there is going to be an adjustment period," says Doherty. "People have talked about him so much, they are going to expect him to never miss a shot, to never turn the ball over, to steal the ball from his man every time and win every game – and that's not going to happen. I hope people give him a chance to grow and develop, and if they do, I think Raymond will have a great career here. Remember – Raymond is not surrounded by experienced players. Other freshmen point guards who have played a lot at Carolina have had experienced players around them."

Grant is a 6-11 center from Portland, Jamaica. He played last year at Brewster Academy in New Hampshire, but that was just his second full year of organized basketball.

"Damion has great size and an enthusiasm to learn and get better," says Doherty. "He has not played a lot of basketball, so the transition to major college basketball is going to take a while. But we are excited about his commitment to improve in all aspects of his game. I hope he can give us some minutes up front, play big on the glass and on the defensive end of the court."

May, a 6-8 native of Bloomington, Ind., broke Holmes' county high school county scoring record and is a multi-dimensional post player. May was a McDonald's and Parade All-America and was named Mr. Basketball in Indiana.

"Sean will be an exciting player to watch develop because he is big enough to bang inside and has nice ball skills and shooting touch," says Doherty. "The scary thing is that as a freshman who has not played a college basketball game, Sean is still our most experienced post player. That is asking a lot of a freshman. I think he is up to the challenge, however."

McCants, a native of Asheville, played the last two seasons at New Hampton Prep in New Hampshire. The 6-4 wing man has explosive ball skills and leaping ability. He was the Gatorade Player of the Year in New Hampshire and was a Parade and McDonald's All-America.

"McCants is a guy who is capable of scoring, is a strong presence and very tough-minded," says Doherty. "If he works hard, he has a chance to have a good career here."

Noel, a 6-6 swing man, played at Southern Durham High School where he was a two-sport standout. Noel is walking on to the UNC basketball team after considering scholarship offers from a number of schools to play football and basketball.

"Obviously David is a physically gifted athlete," says Doherty. "He has good size and strength and had his heart set on playing for the Tar Heels. We will look for him to give us added athleticism and toughness on the perimeter."

Sanders is a 6-9, 225-pound forward from Gulfport, Miss. He was the Gatorade Player of the Year in Mississippi and led Harrison Central High School to the finals of the high school state championships.

"Byron is eager to learn and improve his game," says Doherty. "He knows he has to work hard to get stronger in order to play with the physical frontcourt players we compete against. I think people will enjoy watching him play and improve."

Doherty is obviously aware of the expectations placed on the newcomers.

"The freshmen had great high school careers, but we need to see that on the court. There have been great high school players who didn't have great college careers and guys like Hubert Davis, who were not highly recruited but had great collegiate careers. You don't know what you have until games start.

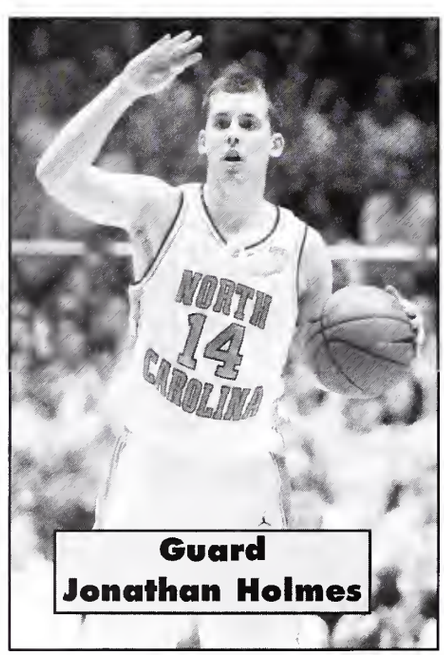
"I am concerned about our size and how young we are," adds Doherty. "This is the youngest team in Carolina history and we play a very difficult schedule. Our strengths will be speed and athleticism, and hopefully that will result in transition baskets and pressure defense. I'd like to play pressure defense. But can we do it with this young group, can we do it for 40 minutes without wearing out? Those are the things we need to find out.

"In an ideal world you would like to let freshmen learn from juniors and seniors and they wouldn't have to take on such a prominent role. But with this group, I'm going to have to play them. If you are a Carolina fan, you have to give them a chance to make mistakes. They will be a fun group to coach.

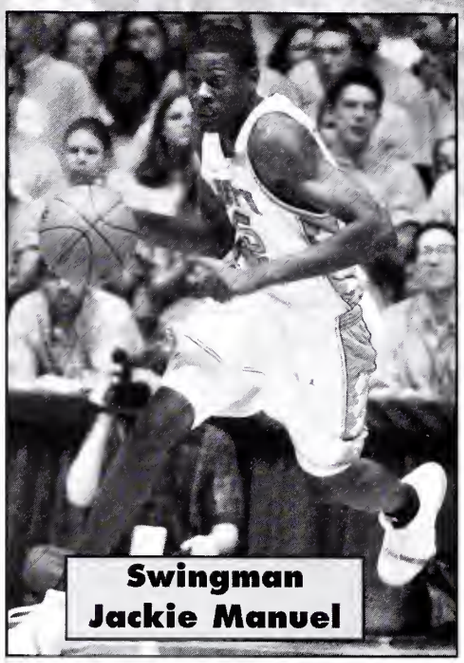
"Last year, the freshmen were put in tough positions early and that shook their confidence at times when they didn't find success. They settled in toward the end of the season.

"I expect the freshmen to listen, learn from the upperclassmen, work hard and when they step on the court, play with great confidence and energy and play beyond their years. They need to not be afraid; they need to attack and play the game. I have to let them play and let them make mistakes."

The Tar Heels play at least 13 games against teams that played in the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament a year ago. Those teams include Illinois (#4 seed), Kentucky (#4 seed), Miami (#5 seed), Davidson (#13 seed), Connecticut (#2 seed), Maryland (#1 seed, NCAA champions), NC State (#7 seed), Wake Forest (#7 seed) and Duke (#1 seed). Carolina could also play additional games against NCAA Tournament qualifiers should it advance in the Preseason NIT and could play St. John's in the Holiday Festival.



Guard Jonathan Holmes



Swingman Jackie Manuel

"Our schedule is so tough at the start," says Doherty. "But we want to go against the best; that's Carolina Basketball. We have to be prepared. If we have a setback, we have to maintain the players' confidence. Let's be concerned about getting better each day. These early games will be great tests for us. Experience is such a key thing."

UNC will play in the inaugural games in two new on-campus arenas. On November 24, the Tar Heels open the Constant Convocation Center in Norfolk, Va., against Old Dominion University. On January 4, Carolina plays Miami in the first game at the Convocation Center in Coral Gables, Fla.

"We are a national draw and people want to sell out those games," says Doherty. "It's a great credit to Carolina Basketball that over the years the program has been asked to be the first opponent in a number of different arenas."

TAR HEEL TIDBITS

✓ Carolina must replace three starters, 65 percent of its scoring, 59 percent of its rebounds and 60 percent of its assists from last season.

✓ The 2002-03 Tar Heels are the first UNC team that has included just two upperclassmen.

✓ Over the last 50 years, Carolina has averaged nearly eight juniors and seniors per season.

✓ The Tar Heels will play at least 13 games against 2002 NCAA Tournament participants.

Carolina Basketball is nationally known for its prominence both on the playing court and academically. Not only is the University proud of achievements such as 15 Final Fours and being the winningest program in Atlantic Coast Conference history, it is also proud of the academic record of its men's basketball players.

Over the past 40 years, a staggering percentage of men's basketball student-athletes and managers have earned their undergraduate degrees from the University of North Carolina. Many have gone on to postgraduate degrees and professional careers such as law and medicine.

Over a nine-year stretch from 1993-2002, nearly 80 percent of the Tar Heels have earned degrees. That is the highest percentage in the ACC.

Carolina's Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes is a major component in the lives of a Tar Heel.

In December 1999, Jerry Stackhouse and Antawn Jamison received their degrees at Commencement exercises in the Smith Center. Stackhouse had entered the NBA draft after his sophomore year in 1995 and Jamison declared for the NBA after his junior season in 1998.

Vince Carter made national headlines after attending Graduation the same morning he was preparing to play the Philadelphia 76ers in Game 7 of the 2001 NBA Eastern Conference finals.

"Dream big dreams. Dream the kind of dreams Vince Carter is dreaming today," UNC Board of Governors Chairman Benjamin S. Ruffin said.

"The best part about it was actually walking into the stadium (for graduation)," said Carter. "It was awesome, a wonderful feeling. It was a breath of fresh air just to be able to put a cap and gown on and walk out there and accomplish something like that. A lot of people might not think it's important, might not care if the get their degree. It doesn't work that way in my family; it doesn't work that way in my mind."

"That was one of the main reasons I went to Carolina. A lot of the other programs were telling me how I could be this and that, but Carolina always talked about getting an education first."
– Antawn Jamison

Carolina Basketball's graduation rate over the last nine years is nearly 80 percent – the highest figure in the ACC.

The Academic Support Program assists student-athletes in successfully reaching their academic goals. The program supports students in the process of exploring their interests and abilities and in developing a broad academic experience.

"My life has had some thrilling moments, but this ranks right up there with all of them. It was easy and fun to go back into the classroom, be a student and do what I needed to do. I told my mom [when I left UNC] that I wanted to get my degree for myself. I worked hard to get it, and I know that she's proud of that."
– Vince Carter

Men's basketball players receive unparalleled individual instruction from counselors and tutors. UNC is unique in that every tutor who works with the men's basketball program is a professional educator — no undergraduate tutors — and each works with a specific academic program. English professors work with the student-athletes in English subjects, math professors help with math, etc.

Computers are available for basketball players to use in the players' lounge, adjacent to the locker room in the Smith Center. The computers are equipped with laser printers complete with a variety of software packages, including word processing, spreadsheets, CD-ROM reference materials, internet access and e-mail.

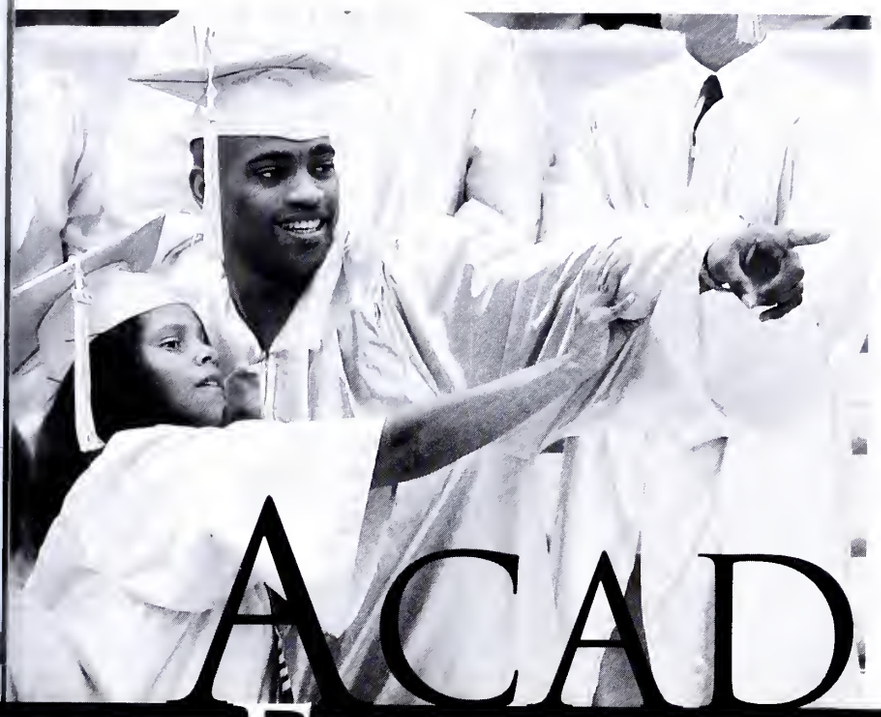
Carolina's academic support staff, led by Robert Mercer and Burgess McSwain, works with the current student-athletes as well as with those players who may go on to NBA careers before receiving their degree.

"As a kid, I always dreamed about playing in the NBA," says Jamison, who was one of three players in the NBA to average 24 points and eight rebounds per game last year (Shaquille O'Neal and Chris Webber were the other two.) "But I never realized how special graduating from college would be. It's more important than anything I've accomplished in my life.

"That was one of the main reasons I went to Carolina," says Jamison. "A lot of the other programs were telling me how I could be this and that, but Carolina always talked about getting an education first. I know how important it is to Coach Smith that the players get their degrees. In some ways, it's a show of respect for Coach and the Carolina family to go ahead and work and get your degree."

"Graduating means more to me than anything in basketball," said Stackhouse. "We've played basketball all of our lives. This is something special because I used my mind instead of my body."

Carter, Jamison and Stackhouse are by no means the only former Tar Heels to get their college degrees. But each of them have led their respective NBA teams in scoring, are considered among the finest players in the world and have demonstrated the value of a Carolina education. They are shining stars both on and off the court and they have made UNC very proud of them.



"Vince Carter donned some Carolina blue yesterday for the last time. His smile could have lit up the world. He was attending his college graduation and I could only think of one thing. This is great. Kids are watching."

– Dan Patrick, ESPN

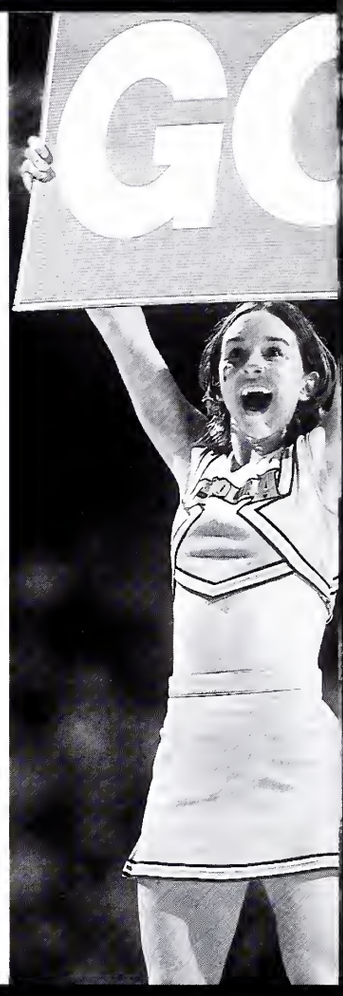
In a survey of Division I coaches published during the 2000-01 season, The Sporting News ranked the Dean E. Smith Center as the No. 1 Game Venue in all of college basketball. The Sporting News wrote that "packing more than 21,000 people who bleed Tar Heel Blue into the Smith Center is a sure thing for creating that warm glow that college sports fans flock to in the dead of winter."



The Smith Center's new seating plan ▶ gives Carolina students more seats around the lower bowl of the arena and puts 400 students on five risers directly behind one basket. The effect is a loud, raucous Carolina home crowd.

Smith Center Weight Room

The Carolina Basketball weight room is a 1,000-square foot facility residing on the ground floor of the 21,750-seat Dean E. Smith Center, adjacent to the Tar Heel locker room and practice gym. The space was originally used as a media room but was converted and expanded to a strength and conditioning facility as part of the renovation to modernize Smith Center facilities, completed in 2001.

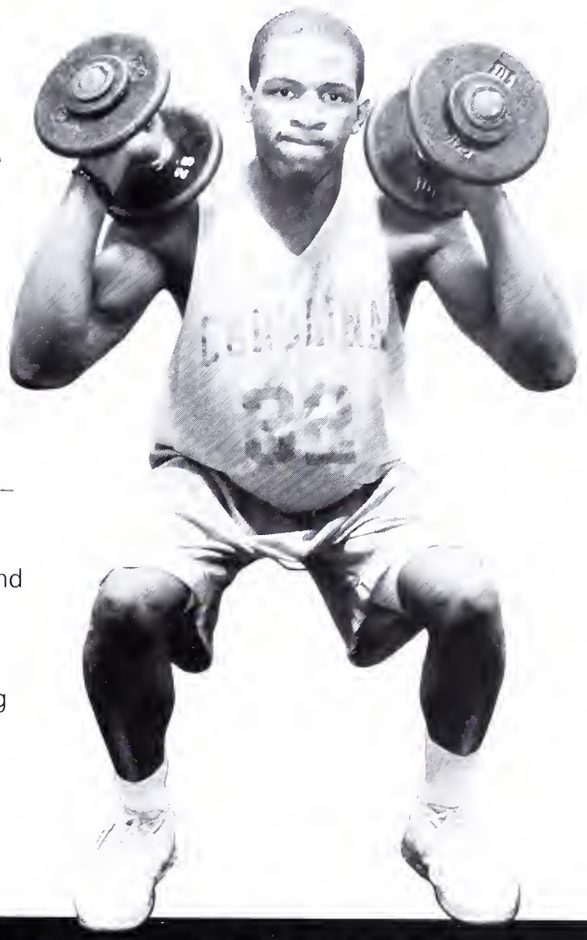
Used exclusively by the UNC men's basketball team, the weight room is designed and equipped to allow the Tar Heels to train effectively and efficiently in team and individual settings.

The mission of Tar Heel Basketball strength and conditioning program is to enhance components of the athleticism of its players. Individual workout programs are designed and supervised by Thomas McKinney, a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist. The training philosophy reinforces the goals of head coach Matt Doherty and his staff – challenging UNC's student-athletes to excel every day in the classroom and on the court.

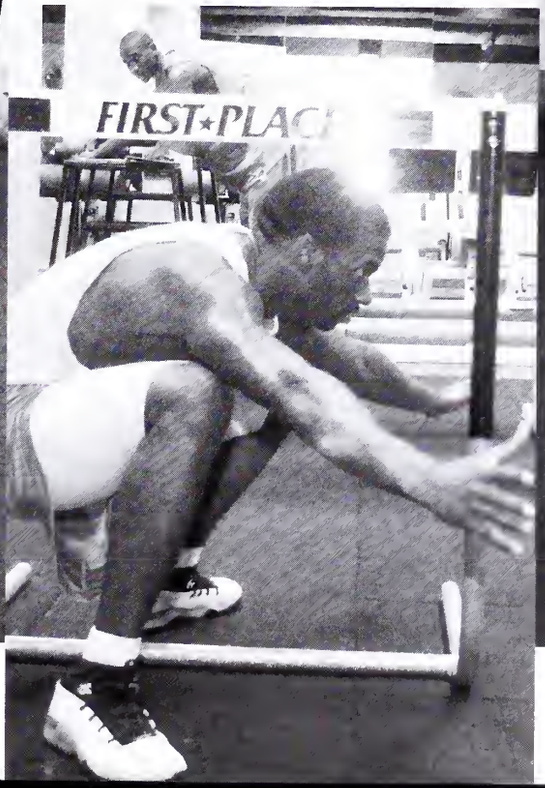
Through the use of movement drills, exercises inside weight room and the training of energy systems on the court, Carolina Basketball players develop their competitiveness, confidence, fundamentals and toughness.

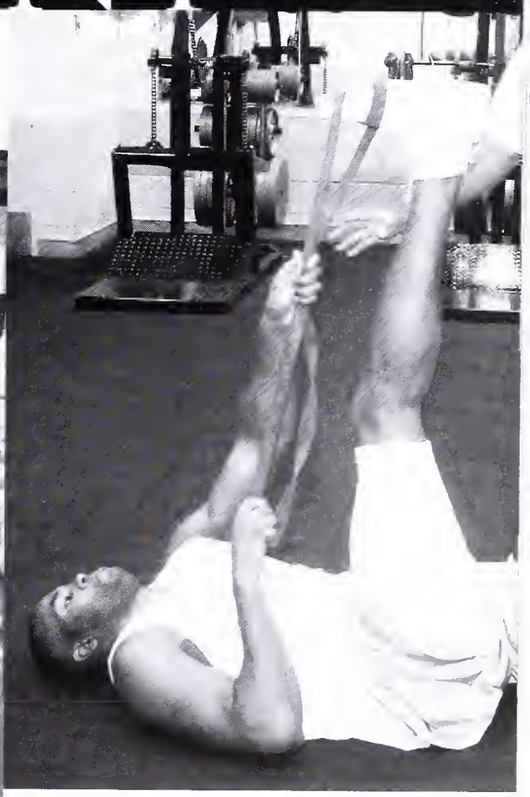
The weight room's training equipment parallels the Tar Heel Basketball philosophy, and exposes its student-athletes to the best training equipment. The room is designed to allow basketball players the ability to perform an unlimited variety of exercises and movements.

Former strength and conditioning coaches who built the foundation for Carolina's Strength and Conditioning Program include Harley Dartt (1988-1993) and Ben Cook (1993-2001).

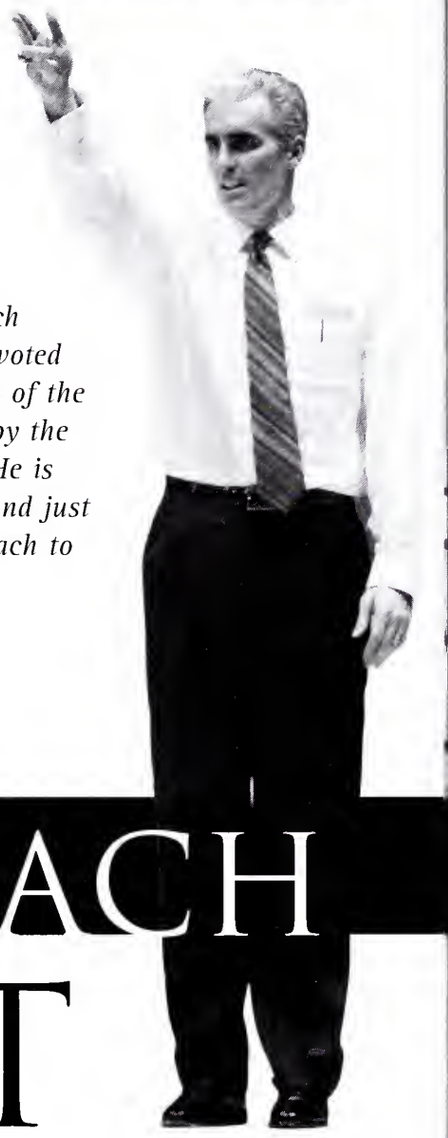


DEVELOPMENT





Carolina head Coach Matt Doherty was voted the National Coach of the Year for 2000-01 by the Associated Press. He is the first Tar Heel and just the second ACC coach to win the award.



Coach Matt Doherty

"If it wasn't for the University, I definitely wouldn't be in this situation that I am now, so I owe a lot to them. Every opportunity I get, I'm always checking my boys out."

"I think Matt Doherty is doing a tremendous job of having those guys play hard for him and keeping the tradition alive. I bleed Carolina Blue. I'm always watching those guys and I'm very proud."

– Antawn Jamison

Matt Doherty was named National Coach of the Year in 2000-01 by the Associated Press.

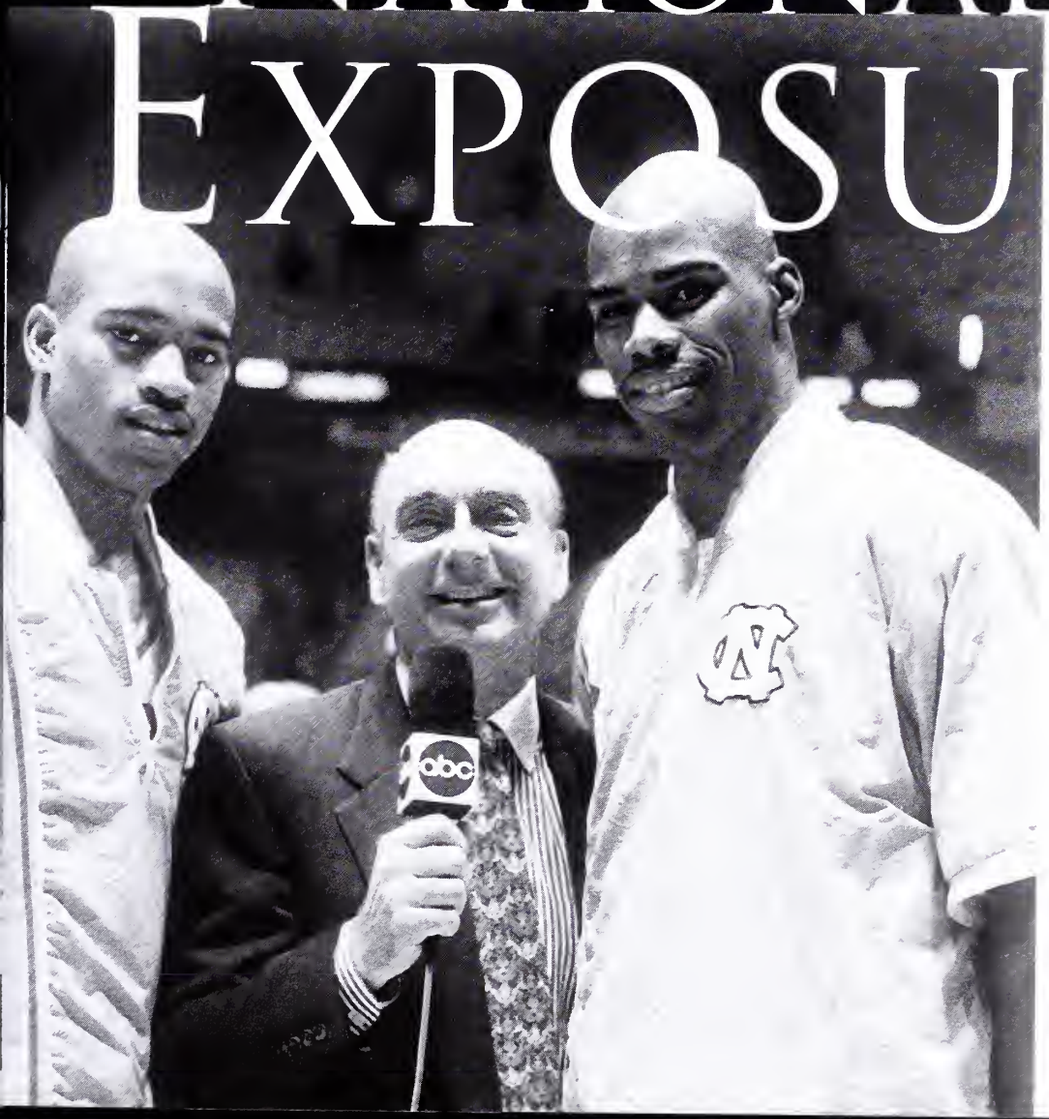
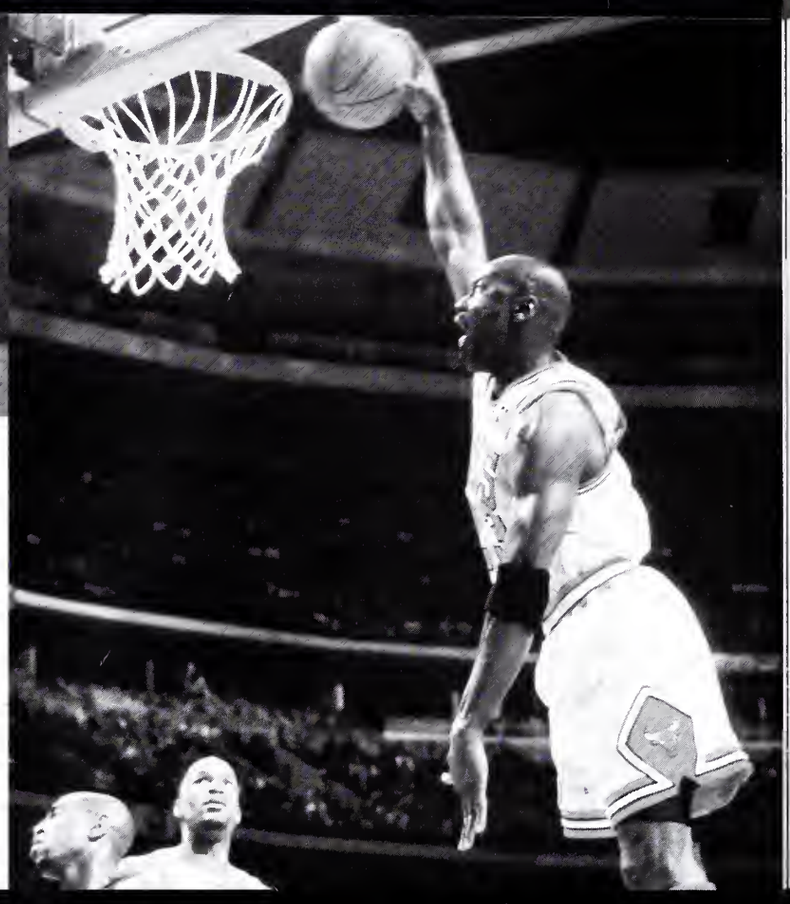
NATIONAL EXPOSURE



Carolina Basketball receives unprecedented coverage from local and national media.

Carolina claimed seven Atlantic Coast Conference team titles in 2001-02. The Tar Heels have won 225 team titles in ACC history, dating back to 1953-54. No other school in the ACC has won 200 titles and only three other schools have as many as 100 league crowns.

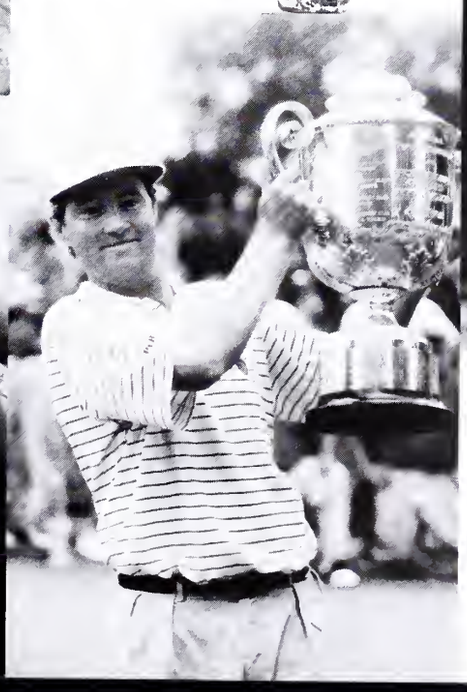


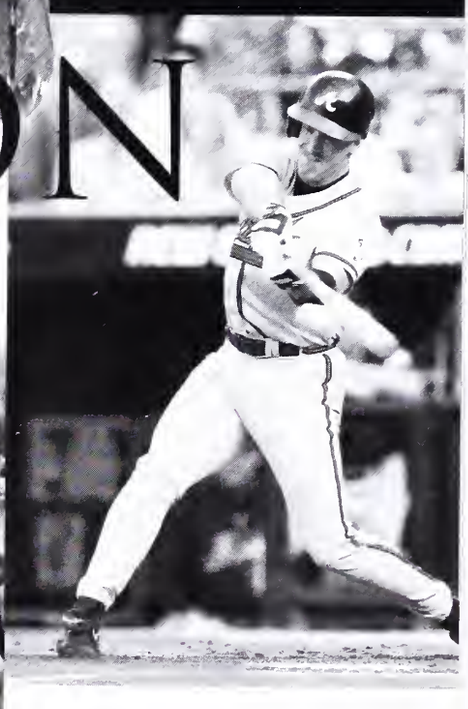
In October 2002, Sports Illustrated named Carolina the country's eighth-best "Sports College." UNC was the only ACC team ranked in the top 15.

Carolina and Maryland are the only two ACC programs with at least 100 men's championships. The Tar Heels have won 31 ACC men's titles in the last 11 years.

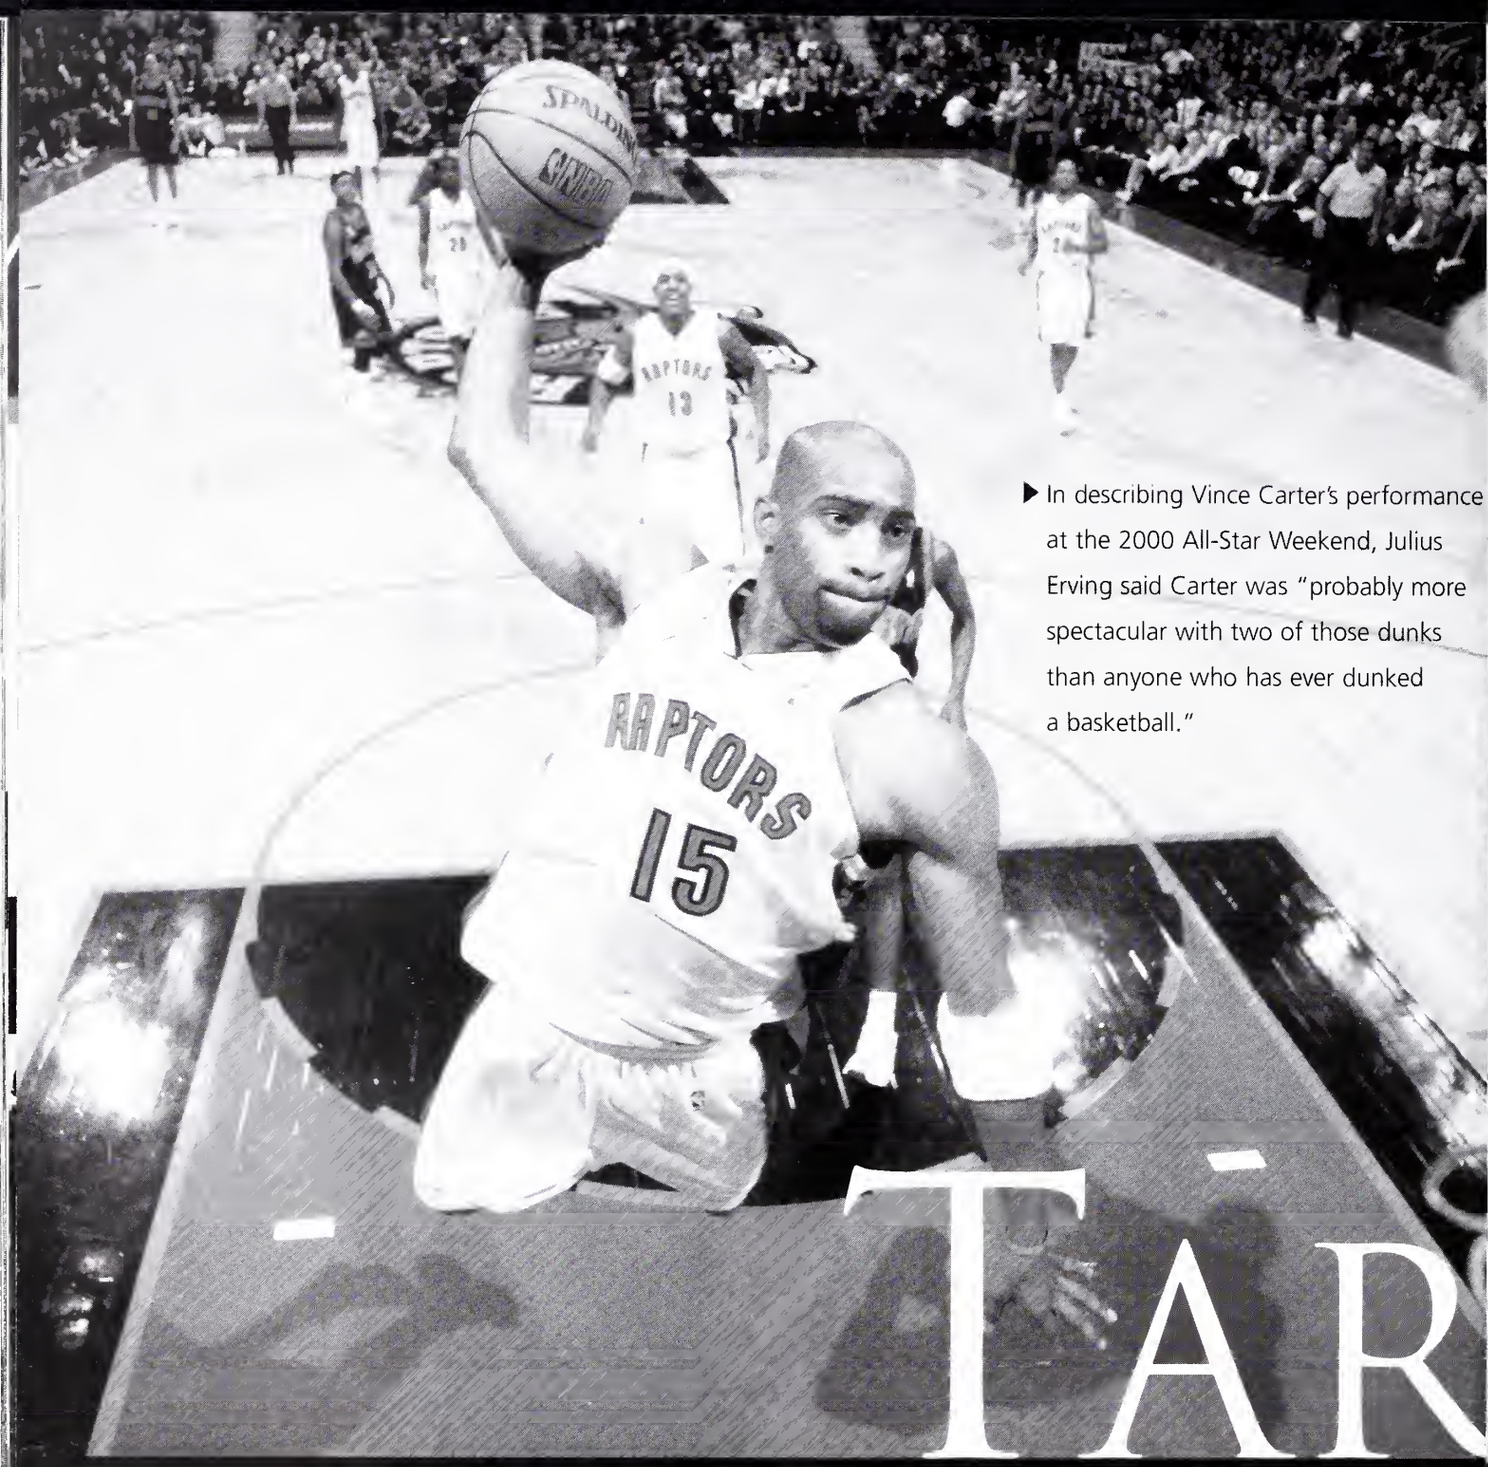
Carolina finished fourth in the Sears Cup all-sports competition in 2001-02. The fourth-place finish marks the seventh time in nine years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. This is also the eighth time in nine years UNC is the highest-finishing school in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Carolina's Athletic Tradition





Carolina has led or shared the lead in the ACC in team titles in each of the last 15 years.



▶ In describing Vince Carter's performance at the 2000 All-Star Weekend, Julius Erving said Carter was "probably more spectacular with two of those dunks than anyone who has ever dunked a basketball."

32 members of the last 27 NBA champions have been Carolina alumni.

"We always look for players from North Carolina. If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

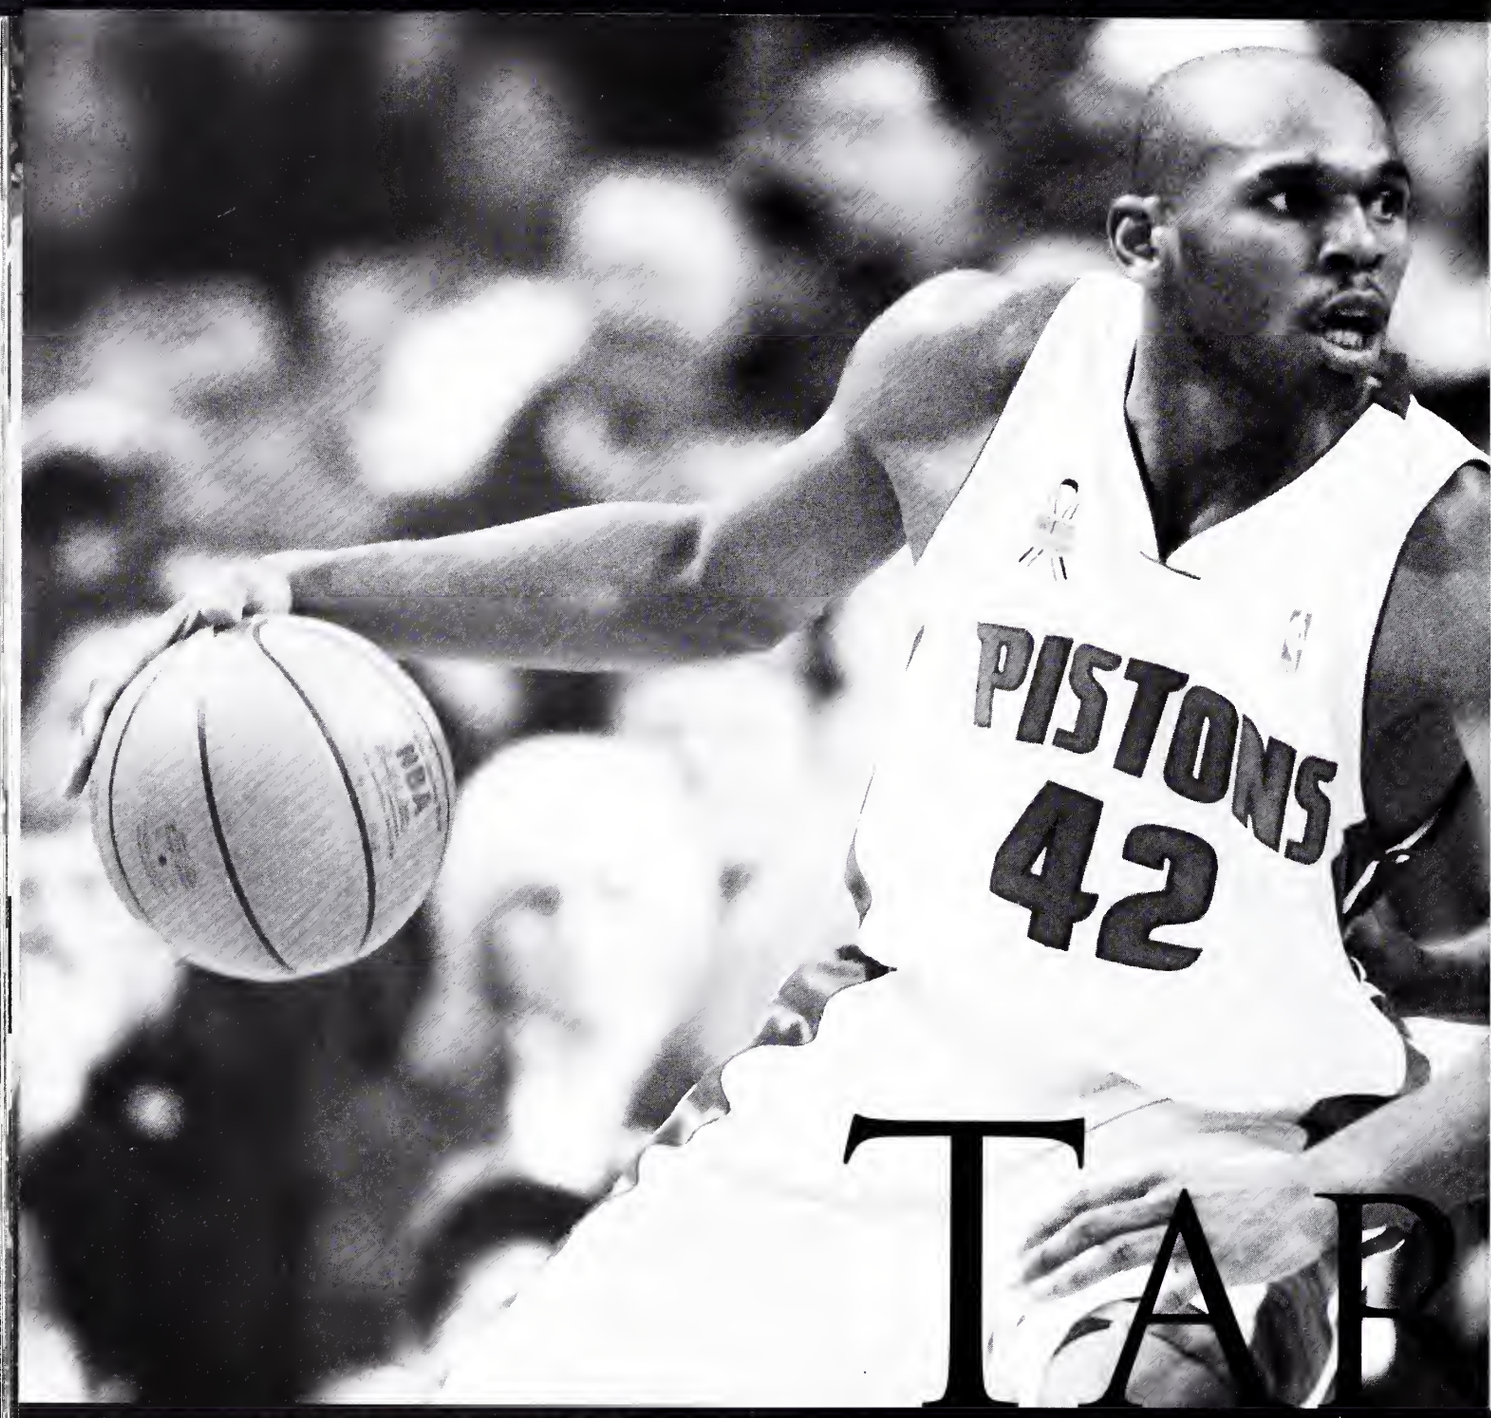
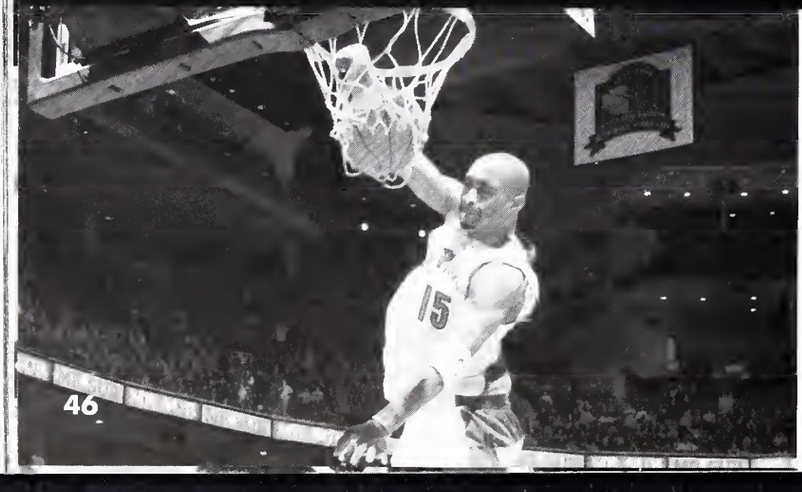
HEELS IN THE NBA

"Any time you put on the North Carolina jersey you are representing the history of Carolina basketball. For the rest of my life I will cherish the friendships I made here and the unity we had as a team. That's something that will never go away. Twenty years from now we will still be friends, still come back to Carolina."

– Antawn Jamison



Carolina's 14 NBA players earned a combined $47,309,689 during the 2002-03 season.



"You look at the NBA and you look at Carter an Jamison, Stackhouse and Wallace, what they a doing at the NBA level. It just blows you away, said Dick Vitale on the February 3, 2001 ESPN telecast of the UNC-Duke game. "Their number have gotten so much better because at Carolina they learned how to play the team concept, they learned how to be unselfish, they learned fundamentals and they transformed that into the NBA to where they are standouts."

Stackhouse a Leader In Charity Work

BY STEVE WYCHE
Washington Post, Sept. 26, 2002

"Though Stackhouse's main focus is on diabetes, he also has earned a reputation as one of the NBA's most active players in charity work. He has been recognized several times for his civic endeavors and hopes to carry on the tradition in Washington . . .

'I've been able to touch a lot of people on and off the court and I think I've made a difference in a few kids' lives,' Stackhouse said. 'I'm going to keep trying. If I reach two or three kids, then I'm doing what I'm supposed to do.

'What happens to a lot of these [athletes] is they try to put themselves in a different light than the people they're around or the people who watch them play,' Stackhouse said. 'I'm not like that. I know when I'm walking around some people might look at me funny or are apprehensive to walk up to me or past me. So I'll go up to them. It's no strain on me. Nine times out of 10 all they want to do is say hello. Then I'm on my way and they're on their way.'

TAR HEELS IN THE NBA

Sports Illustrated senior writer Alex Wolff penned a column on CNN/SI.com on February 8, 2001. The following are excerpts from that column:

"Check out the NBA scoring leaders, and among the top eight you'll find three erstwhile Heels: Jerry Stackhouse, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison.

I'm going to take the decidely old-school position that you can trace the success of all of these guys to some aspect of the Carolina way.

There aren't many others in the NBA as adept at knowing where and when to bring their physical gifts to bear.

Most of all, at Carolina all these guys learned the habit of winning. They developed the mental conditioning to face, and usually subdue, a succession of opponents determined to make their own season by taking out the princelings of the Piedmont. Imposing your will, night after night, is one of the most gueling demands the NBA makes on its players."

HARDWORKING DEDICATION

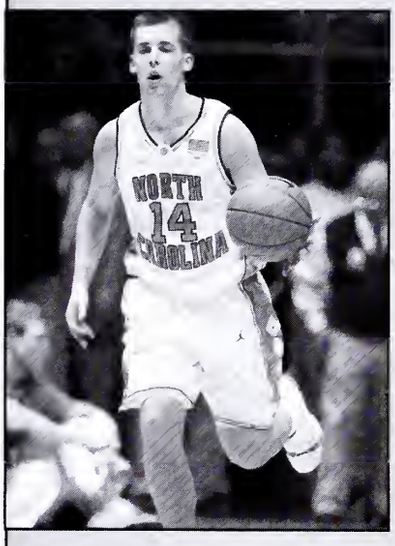
Guard Jonathan Holmes eager for senior season.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com

Jonathan Holmes didn't have to come to the University of North Carolina to get his first pair of Air Jordan sneakers.

Although the Tar Heels sport an apparel deal with the ex-Carolina legend's Nike imprint, Holmes got his first pair of the highly-prized shoes in an unconventional manner: he read books for them.

As a seventh-grader, the son of Bloomington South basketball coach J.R. Holmes had his eyes set on the latest pair of Jordan sneakers. His mother, Martha, told him he could have them—for a price.



In exchange for the shoes, he had to finish reading five books. These weren't just kids' books, either. They were legitimate literary works such as A Tale of Two Cities and David Copperfield that were quite a bit heftier than the sports section from the local newspaper.

"Those old-school Jordans were about $140," Holmes said. "I didn't have a job, because all I did was play basketball. So she had me read all those books, and it wasn't an overnight deal. It took me a while to do it. It ended up not being too bad, because I got the Jordans."

That story probably wouldn't surprise Holmes's Tar Heel teammates, who have grown accustomed to his hardworking dedication. An errant elbow in practice cost him eight stitches in the chin last December, and last January before a home game against NC State, the squad was going through a "toughness drill," which focuses on boxing out. On this occasion, Holmes took an elbow in the throat from Melvin Scott.

He went to the sideline, got sick, and returned to the drill. Matt Doherty told him to go get some water. He declined, stepped back into line, and finished the drill. Then, and only then, did he get water.

"Not many guys will do that," Jawad Williams said. "Usually if you throw up, you're done for the day."

"Ever since I've played basketball that's the only way I knew how to play," Holmes said. "If nothing's broken there's no reason why you shouldn't come back and finish the drill ... It's not like I was paralyzed or anything like that."

Before arriving at Carolina, Holmes spent his entire basketball career as the star of the show. He was a two-time all-state selection in Indiana, and finished as the runner-up in balloting for Mr. Basketball. He saw action in 25 games as a Tar Heel freshman, when he backed up Ed Cota, but his participation dipped to just 14 games each of the next two seasons.

"I came out of high school thinking I was pretty good," Holmes said. "I was expecting to come in here and play a lot and eventually be the starter. I've had to readjust that thinking. It's required me to learn a lot about myself. I'm a different person than when I came here, and I wouldn't trade the experience for the world."

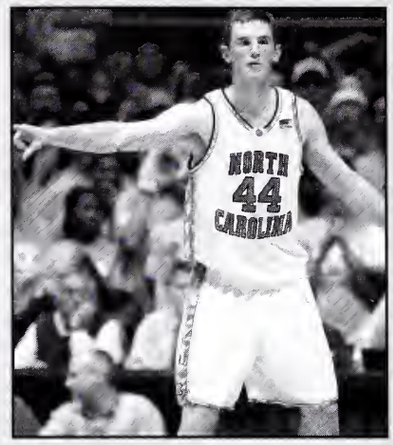
STAYING HOME TO LEAD

Will Johnson stayed at UNC last summer to hone his game.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com



As a Morehead Scholar, Will Johnson had the chance to travel almost anywhere in the world in the summer before his senior year at the University of North Carolina.

He chose Chapel Hill.

Recipients of the Morehead, the most prestigious academic award on the Carolina campus, participate in a bevy of summer enrichment programs designed to foster leadership and provide real-world life experience. The summer before a student's senior year is devoted to travel, with some encounters including trips to Iceland or South Africa.

Johnson, a senior from Hickory, decided his travel could wait. Instead, he chose to remain in Chapel Hill throughout the summer. By day, he worked at the various basketball camps that passed through the Smith Center and assisted in the athletics ticket office. By night, he was a one-man basketball league organizer, responsible for arranging the nightly pickup games between current Tar Heels, the incoming freshmen, and alums like Shammond Williams, Antawn Jamison, and Ed Cota who wanted to get some practice at their alma mater.

"I deferred [the travel program] because I wanted to be here and be with the team and have a chance to be in the gym," Johnson said. "I definitely think it was the right decision."

On most evenings, Johnson was the last one to leave the Smith Center. While other players were heading back to their cars, he always seemed to have a few more free throws to shoot or a few more jumpers to practice. Quietly, he has turned into one of the most consistent outside shooters on the team. In 2001-02, his 43 percent three-point shooting was tied for the best on the squad among players in the regular rotation.

"He does the little things that you appreciate as a coach," Matt Doherty said. "He's also a very good outside shooter. He's a solid team player, but he's also capable of scoring."

Johnson, an all-state soccer and basketball player in high school, has always had a way of surprising people. Two summers ago, he played in the well-respected Dyckman League in Harlem, which annually draws some of the top playground players in New York City in addition to several Division I competitors. He was also probably the only participant who spent his days interning at Morgan Stanley.

Whether in Harlem or Durham, Johnson knows that on a high-level basketball court, initial reactions to a red-headed kid from Hickory who looks more like a fraternity president than a basketball player are suspicious. Can he play? Is he any good? Why is he here? It's those questions that prompt him to spend those long nights at the Smith Center.

"It's kind of a necessary evil, because it keeps me going," he said. "It makes me angry, but I turn that anger into going down to the gym and working out. People have done that to me ever since I was in high school. I've got one more year to keep proving people wrong, and hopefully I can continue to do that."

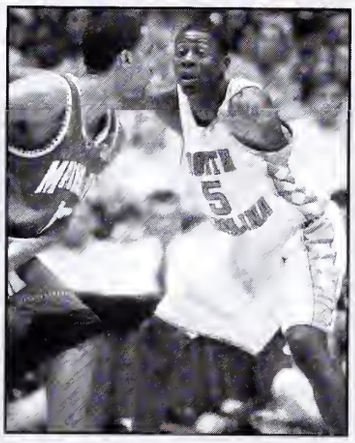
RENEWED CONFIDENCE

Sophomore Jackie Manuel trained hard in the offseason to be ready for 2003.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com



Jackie Manuel appeared in a high school production of "Tony and Tina's Wedding," but even that couldn't prepare him adequately for the grand stage that is Atlantic Coast Conference basketball.

"At times when I was on the floor last year, I was nervous," Manuel said. "I was amazed by the crowd and the atmosphere and I wasn't myself. Just being on the floor and playing in the ACC made me nervous. It was a new experience and I wasn't used to playing in front of thousands of people. This year, I've been through that and I want to come in with the confidence that I had back in high school so I can play my game."

Playing his game features a slashing, athletic style. Manuel's first step is quick enough to leave behind many defenders, even at the ACC level, but the competition at Cardinal Newman High in West Palm Beach, Florida didn't prepare him for the type of physical specimens he encountered during his freshman season for the Tar Heels.

After frequently dashing into the paint last year only to discover a physically stronger player between him and the hoop, Manuel knew he had to bulk up in order to compete at the highest level. Offseason weight work added about ten pounds to the 185 that he carried at the end of the 2001-02 season.

When he wasn't in the weight room, much of his summer work was devoted to improving the mechanics of his shot. His 32.9 percent mark from the field was the lowest on last year's squad, and he also struggled from the free throw line.

"I really worked hard on my shooting," Manuel said. "I want to be able to shoot off the dribble and be consistent with my shot."

On the other end of the court, the sophomore has the frame to be a defensive stopper. His long arms and lanky build make him a candidate to defend at several positions, and his increased bulk should help him avoid being outmuscled.

After a disappointing loss at Kentucky last year dropped the Tar Heels to 1-4, Manuel, who grew up watching Carolina overpower opponents on television, realized that offense wasn't the only way that he could contribute to the team.

"Maybe if I would've played better defense, that would've helped the team out," he said. "After that game, I told myself that I wasn't going to let that happen again. I like playing defense. I have that desire. Some people who don't like defense are not going to do it."

Renewed defensive commitment and improved offensive decision-making should make this year's edition of Jackie Manuel more closely resemble the high school player who was among Matt Doherty's first telephone calls on the night he accepted the Carolina head coaching job in July of 2000.

"Jackie was always a good player," fellow sophomore Jawad Williams said. "But there were times last year when he didn't look like he knew what he wanted to do. Now, he is more confident."

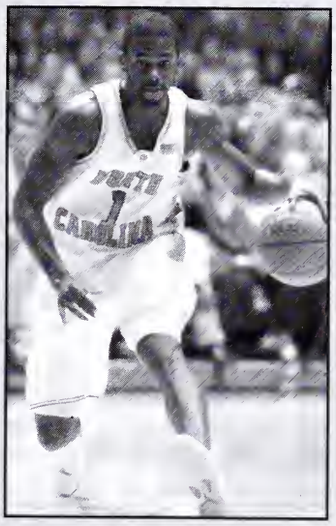
BACK HOME ON THE WING

Melvin Scott hopes time at the point will help him as a sophomore.

by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com



Do not make a mistake anywhere near the vicinity of Melvin Scott. Do not brick a three-point attempt. Do not wear an ugly shirt. Do not do anything that remotely might come back to haunt you.

The street-smart sophomore from Baltimore has the quickest lip on the team, and he doesn't limit his commentary to basketball. Last spring, players were going through offseason workouts in the Smith Center. Jackie Manuel had just finished an intense weightlifting session and was feeling a little queasy, so he sought refuge in the trainer's room.

In came Scott with a devilish smile. "Hey Jackie," he said. "How about a big ol' Big Mac with a large order of fries?"

The reason he can get away with the razor-sharp tongue is that he's equally hard on himself. As a high schooler, he used to rise at 5:30 in order to get to Southern Baltimore High early enough to work out with head basketball coach Meredith Smith.

But he still conserved enough energy to be all over the floor in afternoon practice. Southern had a drill that involved running the length of the court 10 times in one minute, with five sets of the drill spaced 45 seconds apart. Completing the running was never a problem for Scott. It was what he did during the break periods that was strange.

Other players grabbed their shorts or even lay down during their 45 seconds of rest. Melvin Scott jogged. And then, when players who had failed to complete the drill had to do it again, he ran with them too.

"He hates to lose," Smith said. "In pickup games he would take the worst players and expect to win. Sometimes just by his sheer force of will, he would win games he had no business winning. But when he would take those guys and lose, he might kick the basketball up in the air. I could beat him in table tennis, and we always had to play until I let him win."

Obviously, then, last year's 8-20 season didn't sit well with him. Beyond just the surprising record, he spent the season trying to learn the point guard position on the job after spending most of his high school career as a shooting guard. His assist-to-turnover ratio ended the season under 1:1, and his usually reliable outside stroke suffered under the weight of his other responsibilities.

This season, he will return to the more comfortable environs of the shooting guard position. As he looks toward his sophomore campaign, Scott describes a career arc that sounds reminiscent of one of his frequent summer pickup opponents, Shammond Williams.

"I'm a scorer," Scott said. "I can pass the ball, but I was on the wing for my whole high school career. I knew coming in here that I would have to play some point guard, but my natural position is the two-guard. At the next level, I know I'll have to play the point. I just want to do whatever the team needs me to do."

READY TO BREAK OUT

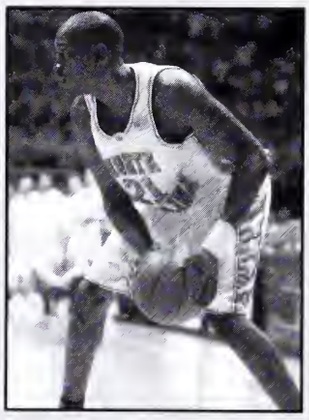
by Adam Lucas, TarHeelBlue.com



It's no surprise that Jawad Williams would choose a boxer as inspiration for the tattoo on his right shoulder. The sophomore's body ink includes the phrase, "Loved by few, hated by many," which he first saw worn by Mike Tyson.

Williams didn't pick the words because of any particular affinity for Tyson, but he did spend his childhood growing up around boxing. His father, Joe, was the 1982 Cleveland Golden Gloves champion, winning the light heavyweight division at the age of 32 despite fighting against much younger men.

The elder Williams managed a recreation center in Cleveland for 15 years. It was a part of town, located just a block from the Williams family home on East 143rd Street in east Cleveland, where trouble was easy to find. But trouble—in the form of gangs or drugs—never came looking for Jawad Williams, because his father made it plain to everyone that his son was on the straight and narrow.

"I don't know karate, but I do know ka-razy," Joe Williams would tell people when asked what might happen if anyone tempted Jawad.

Joe Williams coached the center's boxing team, and although Jawad's older brother, Tony, won a Golden Gloves novice division championship in 1983, the family quickly learned that Jawad had other interests.

"We couldn't get him to keep boxing," Joe Williams said. "He would be running around with his boxing gloves on bouncing the basketball."

With his family history, the move made sense. Jawad's mother, Gail, played college basketball at Cleveland State, and sister Nasheema Hilton played collegiately at Vanderbilt and professionally in the ABL. The brother and sister had some heated one-on-one games at the rec center, but even that couldn't prepare Williams for the Atlantic Coast Conference.

He lacked confidence early in the season, but then broke out with a series of hustle plays in a home game against Georgia Tech. After a scoreless first half and with the Tar Heels trailing, Williams back-tapped a missed free throw to create a basket, following that with a layup and a three-pointer. To cap the sequence, he forced a turnover and dunked at the other end.

For the rest of the season, he looked more like the versatile player who had been a McDonald's All-American in high school and less like a freshman. In late January, the coaching staff worked with Williams to add a pump fake to his offensive repertoire. Against Clemson just a few days later, it was already a part of his game, sending a defender flying with a head fake and gliding to the basket for a dunk.

The sophomore's goal is to do that consistently this season instead of sporadically.

"I had spurts where I asserted myself last year," Williams said. "Watching some games, I realized I could have done it in a lot of other games. A couple of games I had 20 points and I realized I could have done that every game … I have to work on asserting myself every game, rather than picking and choosing my moments."

When the University of North Carolina went looking for a head coach after Bill Guthridge retired, it wanted a man who had the basketball knowledge and savvy to compete at the highest level, the integrity to do so within the rules and the academic mission of the University, and an unlimited passion for Carolina Basketball. Director of Athletics Dick Baddour undoubtedly found his man when he reached out to former Tar Heel Matt Doherty.

Doherty had started for three-plus seasons at UNC under legendary coach Dean Smith, winning an NCAA championship in 1982 while playing alongside James Worthy and Michael Jordan. He was a senior starter on the 1984 team that went undefeated in ACC regular-season play and was No. 1 in the country.

After graduation, Doherty worked on Wall Street, was an assistant to Roy Williams at Kansas for seven successful seasons, recruiting some of the finest players in Jayhawk history, and was head coach at the University of Notre Dame. His Fighting Irish team won 22 games and reached the finals of the NIT.

Then Carolina came calling.

"The tradition that's been created from Frank McGuire to Coach Smith to Coach Guthridge is second to none," said Doherty. "This is the best job in all of basketball. I hope I can carry of the tradition, not only of winning but of excellence off the court."

Doherty enters his third season as head coach of the Tar Heels. Last year's team struggled to an 8-20 record, but the team battled to the end, nearly knocking off Duke in the ACC Tournament.

In 2000-01, Doherty led the Tar Heels to 26 wins, a No. 1 national ranking late in the regular season, a 13-3 league record and share of the ACC regular-season championship, a berth in the ACC Tournament finals and an NCAA Tournament berth.

Doherty Notes

- 2000-01 AP National Coach of the Year
- The first coach in history to win the regular-season ACC title in his first year in the conference
- Is the first UNC grad to coach at Carolina since 1924
- Has coached four first-round NBA Draft picks in three years as a head coach

Doherty became the first coach in ACC history to win the regular-season title in his first year in the conference. He also became first person in ACC history to play and coach for No. 1 ranked teams at the same school.

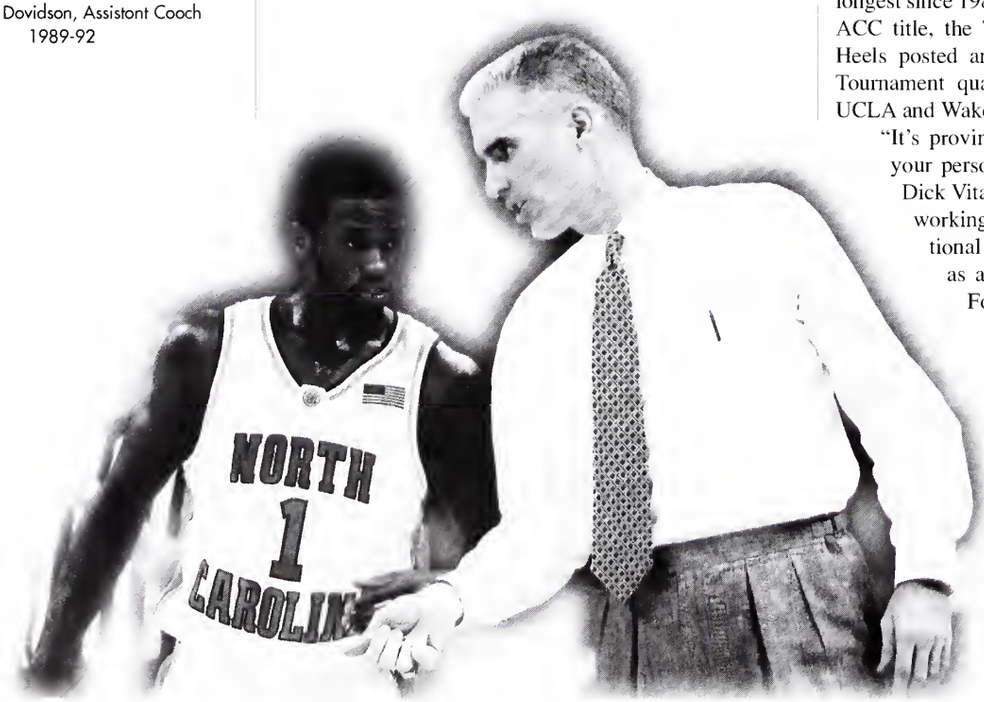
For his efforts, the 1984 UNC graduate was named the National Coach of the Year by The Associated Press and the district coach of the year by the United States Basketball Writers Association. For the second consecutive season, Doherty coached the conference's player of the year. Guard Joseph Forte was Co-ACC Player of the Year and a consensus first-team All-America. Notre Dame forward Troy Murphy earned Big East Player of the Year honors in 1999-2000 while playing for Doherty.

Forte and Murphy were both selected in the first round of the 2001 NBA draft. Two other players Doherty has coached, Carolina center Brendan Haywood and Kansas center Eric Chenowith, also were selected in the first and second rounds, respectively.

"Coach Doherty's really got so many things he wants to do, but he's going to accomplish all of his goals," Murphy told the (Raleigh) News & Observer just before the 2001 Draft. "That's the kind of person he is. He's that good of a person. I loved playing for Coach Doherty. He got us fired up for everything we did, whether it was practice or games. It was a great year."

"Without a doubt he's proven he was the right coach," said Brendan Haywood. "He's brought a lot of fire and passion to this program."

Doherty's first UNC team won 11 straight games to open ACC play and 18 straight games overall. That was the sixth-longest win streak in Carolina history and the longest since 1985-86. Carolina tied for the regular-season ACC title, the Tar Heels' first since 1994-95. The Tar Heels posted an 8-3 road record with wins at NCAA Tournament qualifiers Duke, Maryland, Georgia Tech, UCLA and Wake Forest.



"It's proving that you must be yourself and utilize your personality as a strength," said ESPN/ABC's Dick Vitale. "And that's what Doherty has done by working up the crowd into a frenzy with his emotional style. I have never seen the Dean Dome as alive and rocking as it was versus Wake Forest. Sam Cassell once labeled the Carolina crowd as 'wine and cheese' bunch. Sorry, Sammy, but you haven't been to Chapel Hill recently."

Doherty was named the 17th head basketball coach in school history on July 11, 2000. Doherty played at Carolina from 1980-84 and was head coach at Notre Dame for one season.

"As a coach, Matt has the total package," says Dean Smith. "He can coach, he can teach the game to others, he represents the University the right way, is task-oriented, not time-oriented, and is obviously a much more thorough recruiter than I ever was. That's a real positive."

Doherty is the second former Tar Heel player to be named head coach of the Tar Heels. Monk McDonald, who played at UNC from 1921-24, led Carolina to a 20-5 record in 1925 in his only season as head coach.

"As a player, Matt was the consummate coach on the floor, always thinking one step ahead of the game," says former NBA All-Star and Carolina teammate Brad Daugherty. "I know in my case as a younger teammate of his, I would look to Matt for advice even more than Michael (Jordan) and Sam (Perkins) because he knew everyone's position on the floor. He always played hard and strategically. Matt brings a no-nonsense style of basketball to Carolina. The youth and enthusiasm he brings to the program are dynamite."

The 22 wins by the Irish in 1999-2000 were the most the program has enjoyed since posting a 21-9 mark in 1988-89. Notre Dame's 8-8 finish in BIG EAST Conference regular-season play marked the first season in the Irish's five-year membership in the league the team had not posted a losing record.

"Coach Doherty has brought a lot of emotion," Murphy said. "We go out there and no matter who we're playing, we believe we can win. That definitely comes from Coach Doherty. He's always behind us. He's the ultimate players' coach. He's our leader."

The Irish defeated five ranked teams and got off to a quick start with a 59-57 win at Ohio State in the first round of the Preseason NIT. The fourth-ranked Buckeyes played in the previous NCAA Final Four. The Irish also posted a pair of wins over defending national champion Connecticut and defeated nationally-ranked St. John's and Seton Hall. The 22 wins for Doherty also marked the most ever by a first-year head coach at Notre Dame.

"He took care of every single aspect of coaching," Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun told the Winston-Salem Journal. "I don't think what he did at Notre Dame was a miracle, but the feeling of playing Notre Dame was more difficult because of Matt Doherty sitting in that seat. He came into a tough basketball league and he wasn't intimidated at all."

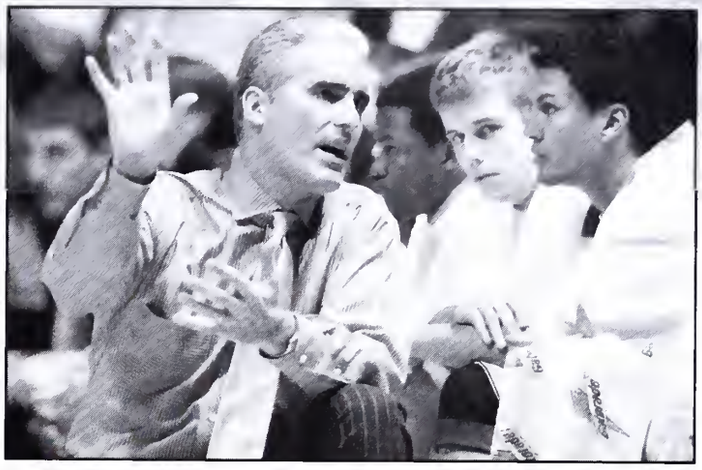
DOHERTY AS A PLAYER

Doherty played at Carolina under Dean Smith, the winningest coach in Division I history. The Tar Heels compiled a 117-21 record in Doherty's four seasons, a winning percentage of .848. He played in the 1981 NCAA championship game loss to Indiana, and started at small forward a year later as Carolina beat Georgetown to win the NCAA title. As a senior in 1984, Doherty tri-captained a team that swept through the ACC regular season with a 14-0 record and was ranked No. 1 in the country in the final polls. He started on two of Carolina's greatest teams ever — the 1982 squad that won the national title and featured James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan and Jimmy Black and the 1984 team that finished the season ranked No. 1 by the Associated Press and included Jordan, Perkins, Brad Daugherty and Kenny Smith.

"Matt played small forward, but today it would be called point forward because he was a great passer and unselfish player," says Coach Smith. "He was a very smart player and had great savvy. He was a tremendous passer and smart defender. He was a streaky shooter, but had some big games shooting the ball. He was always thinking pass first, especially playing with Perkins and our other post players, he knew to get the ball inside first. Matt knew the game and knew the only statistic that was important was how many games we won. He played hard and played starters minutes for four seasons."

He became just the second player in ACC history (North Carolina's Walter Davis was the first) to accumulate 1,000 points, 400 rebounds and 400 assists in a career. He averaged 9.0 points, 3.5 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game and finished his career with 1,165 points, 448 rebounds and 446 assists in 129 games played. He played in all 101 games over his last three seasons.

"Matt had an excellent playing career at Carolina," says Guthridge. "It was obvious during his playing days he could be a very good coach if he chose that profession. He was a smart player, had a great feel for the game and knew how it should be played. He was a competitive, hard-nosed team player."



"Matt brings a no-nonsense style of basketball to Carolina. The youth and enthusiasm he brings to the program are dynamite."
Brad Daugherty, ESPN

Freshman Season (1980-81) — The Tar Heels finished 29-8, won the ACC Tournament, finished ranked sixth nationally (both polls) and advanced to the NCAA title game against Indiana. Doherty averaged 6.0 points, 3.0 rebounds and had 67 assists in 28 games as a reserve forward. He missed nine games at midseason due to a fractured left thumb, the only games he would miss in his collegiate career.

Sophomore Season (1981-82) — The Tar Heels were 32-2, won the ACC Tournament and regular-season titles, finished ranked first in both polls and won the NCAA championship by defeating Georgetown (he had four points, three rebounds, one assist in that game). Doherty averaged 9.3 points, 3.0 rebounds, had 105 assists and led the team in free-throw percentage with a .772 mark (71 of 92). That team began the season ranked number one in the polls and Doherty appeared (along with Coach Smith, Perkins, Worthy and Black) on the cover of the Sports Illustrated preseason college basketball issue. He hit three free throws in the final 28 seconds of North Carolina's 47-45 triumph over Virginia in the ACC Tournament title game. He shared UNC scoring honors with 16 points in the NCAA regional semifinal win over Alabama.

Junior Season (1982-83) — The Tar Heels finished 28-8, won the ACC regular-season title, finished ranked eighth in both polls and advanced to the NCAA East Regional final. Doherty averaged 10.5 points and 3.8 rebounds, led the team in assists with 150 and was named the team's most outstanding defensive player. He scored a career-high 28 points in the 1983 ACC Tournament quarterfinal versus Clemson.

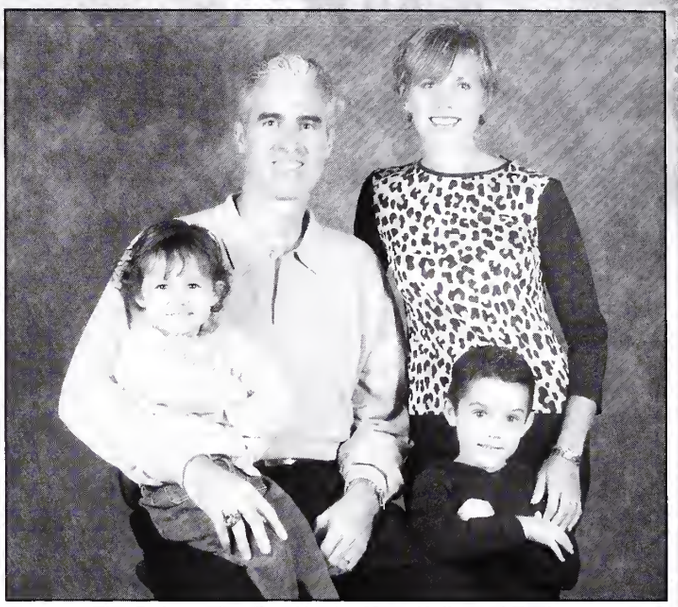
Senior Season (1983-84) — The Tar Heels finished 28-3, won the ACC regular-season title, finished ranked first in both polls and advanced to the NCAA East Regional semifinals. Doherty averaged 9.8 points and 4.0 rebounds and again led the team in assists with 124. He was a first-team selection on the All-ACC Tournament team (after earning second-team honors each of the two previous seasons) after hitting 17 of 25 field goals. He tri-captained the team with Perkins and Cecil Exum and received the Jim Tatum Award which is given to the UNC student-athlete with the most outstanding achievement in his/her sport and constructive participation in the community.

Ron Green Jr. wrote in 1981 for the Chapel Hill Newspaper: "Doherty is a vital element in the Tar Heel chemistry. He knows how to get the ball to his teammates when they can use it and he knows what to do with it when they give it back. Call it savvy, call it court-sense. That's what Doherty has … What Doherty does to compensate for any quickness he might lack is outthink the opposition. He used to spend his summer days on playground courts, playing from sunup to sundown. It was there, as well as from his high school coach, that Doherty learned to play basketball.

"Rather than run up and down the court wondering about where his next jumper was coming from, Doherty studied the game. He watched the other players and he watched himself. A tidbit here, a tidbit there and Doherty was accumulating a storehouse of basketball sense."

He finished among the Tar Heel career leaders in scoring, free-throw percentage (.761 on 309 of 406) and assists (third with 446 when he graduated, behind only Phil Ford and Black, and still ranked ninth). The Tar Heels were 48-8 (.857) in ACC play.

He was a member of the ACC All-Academic team as a senior and played on the 1983 United States Select team that competed internationally. Doherty was a sixth-round pick by the Cleveland Cavaliers in the 1984 NBA draft as the 119th overall selection.



The Doherty family: Hattie, Matt, Kelly and Tucker

He graduated from UNC in 1984 with a degree in business administration and Dean's List honors. He worked in New York City for more than three years as a bond salesman for Kidder Peabody & Co., Inc., then spent a year as an executive search consultant with Sockwell and Anderson in Charlotte, N.C. He served two seasons as a basketball analyst in 1987-88 and 1988-89 as color commentator for the Davidson basketball radio network and also working games at North Carolina, St. Francis (N.Y.) College and Charlotte area high schools.

He began his coaching career with an AAU team in Charlotte with former Tar Heel three-sport standout Charles Waddell. The AAU team included future UNC point guard Jeff McInnis. Doherty then spent three seasons (1989-90 through 1991-92) as an assistant coach at Davidson under head coach Bob McKillop, who coached him as a player at Holy Trinity High School in Hicksville, N.Y.

The high school seniors he helped recruit in his final season at Davidson finished 25-5, ended up unbeaten in league play and participated in the NIT as college seniors in 1996.

At Kansas — After three seasons at Davidson, Doherty moved on to the University of Kansas, where he spent seven years as an assistant to Roy Williams. Williams was an assistant coach under Dean Smith when Doherty played in Chapel Hill.

The Jayhawks advanced to the NCAA tournament in each of his seven seasons in Lawrence. During those seven years, Kansas played in the 1993 Final Four, advanced to the Final Eight in '96, the Sweet 16 in '94, '95 and '97 — and to the second round each of his last two years.

"I'm so pleased Matt is the head basketball coach at North Carolina because I love that program so, so much and know it's in fantastic hands," says Williams. "Matt is one of the most organized, intense and competitive coaches I have ever known, and those qualities will help keep the North Carolina basketball program where it is and where it should be, and that's at the top of the basketball world. The greatest compliment I can give somebody is to say how much I love that basketball program, and along with that say I am so, so pleased that Matt Doherty is in charge. He is a Tar Heel and will continue that program at the high level of Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge."

Kansas won five Big Eight/Big 12 Conference titles during his stay and compiled an overall 202-42 (.828) record, including a 15-7 mark in NCAA tournament play.

Doherty coordinated recruiting and scouting at Kansas and assisted in all day-to-day operations of the Jayhawk program. During his tenure, he played a key role in signing nine McDonald's high school All-Americas, including Jacque Vaughn, Raef LaFrentz, Paul Pierce, Ryan Robertson, Lester Earl, Eric Chenowith, Kenny Gregory, Jeff Boschee and Nick Collison. Both Vaughn and LaFrentz (twice) earned Big Eight or Big 12 Conference player of the year honors; LaFrentz and Pierce earned consensus All-America honors in 1998 and Vaughn won first-team honors in 1997.

LaFrentz (Denver), Greg Ostertag (Utah), Pierce (Boston), Scot Pollard (Sacramento), Vaughn (Utah), Rex Walters (Miami) and Ryan Robertson (Sacramento) are among NBA players coached by Doherty.

Here's a year-by-year look at what the Jayhawks accomplished in each of Doherty's seven seasons on the staff:

✓ 1992-93 - Kansas finished 29-7, won the Preseason NIT, won its third straight Big Eight regular-season title, finished the season ranked ninth (AP) and fourth (USA Today) and advanced to the Final Four.

✓ 1993-94 - Kansas finished 27-8, finished ranked 13th (AP) and 12th (USA Today) and advanced to the NCAA Final 16.

✓ 1994-95 - Kansas finished 25-6, won the Big Eight Conference regular-season title, finished ranked fifth (AP) and 10th (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA Midwest semifinals.

✓ 1995-96 - Kansas finished 29-5, won the Big Eight Conference regular-season title, finished ranked fourth (AP) and fifth (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA West final.

✓ 1996-97 - Kansas finished 34-2, won its first 22 games, won the Big 12 Tournament and regular-season titles, finished ranked first (AP) and fifth (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA Final 16.

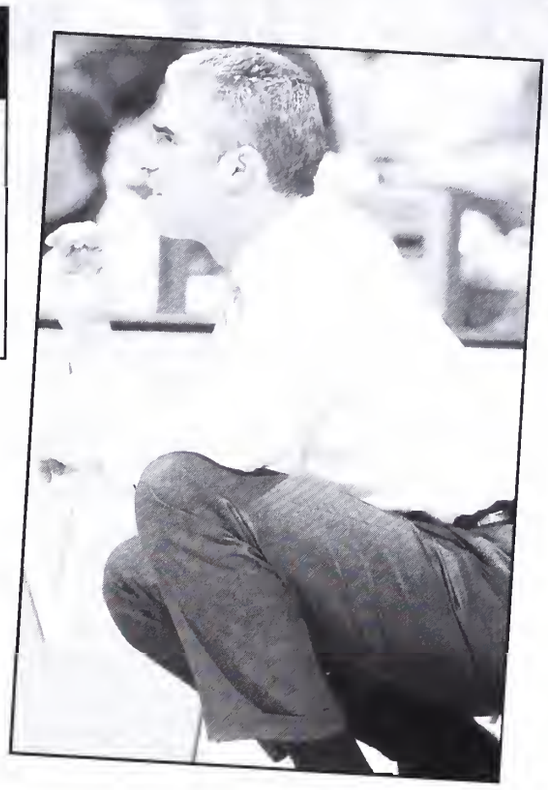
Personal — Born Matthew Francis Doherty on Feb. 25, 1962, in East Meadow, N.Y., he and his wife, the former Kelly Propst of Concord, N.C., are parents of a son, Tucker, born June 17, 1997, and a daughter, Hattie Fitzgerald, born Sept. 13, 1999.

DOHERTY NAMED 2000-01 NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR

Matt Doherty was named the 2001 National Coach of the Year by the Associated Press, becoming the first Tar Heel coach to win the award. The only other ACC coach to win the award, which was first presented in 1967, was Norm Sloan of NC State in 1974.



WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT MATT DOHERTY

"Matt Doherty is proving that you must be yourself and utilize your personality as a strength. And that's what Doherty has done by working up the crowd into a frenzy with his emotional style. I have never seen the Smith Center as alive and rocking ... After one year of rejuvenating the Notre Dame campus in South Bend, Ind., he has moved to his alma mater, where he has the Tar Heels on a big-time roll."

— Dick Vitale

"I think Matt Doherty is doing a tremendous job of having those guys play hard for him and keeping the tradition alive."

— Former Tar Heel Antawn Jamison

"Without a doubt he's proven he was the right coach. He's brought a lot of fire and passion to this program and you are seeing the results."

— Former Tar Heel Brendan Haywood

"As a player, Matt was the consummate coach on the floor, always thinking one step ahead of the game. I know in my case as a younger teammate of his, I would look to Matt for advice even more than Michael (Jordan) and Sam (Perkins) because he knew everyone's position on the floor. He always played hard and strategically. Matt brings a no-nonsense style of basketball to Carolina. The youth and enthusiasm he brings to the program are dynamite."

— Brad Daugherty

Doug Wojcik is in his third year as an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina. In his first year, the Tar Heels won 26 games, earned a No. 1 national ranking late in the regular season, posted a 13-3 league record and won a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

Wojcik is also the head coach of Carolina's junior varsity program. In 2001, he was named a "head-coach-in-waiting" by Athlon Sports.

The Wheeling, W.Va., native was an assistant coach under Matt Doherty at Notre Dame in 1999-2000 and joined the UNC staff on July 11, 2000. Notre Dame went 22-15 and earned a berth in the NIT championship game. Prior to joining Doherty at Notre Dame, Wojcik (pronounced WO-jick) had been an assistant for nine years at the United States Naval Academy.

At Navy, Wojcik coordinated recruiting and worked with the Midshipmen post players. He coached Hassan Booker, a two-time all-conference selection, and recipient of the Basketball Hall of Fame's Chip Hilton Award, given to the player nationally who demonstrates personal character and leadership on and off the court.

In 1997, Navy became the fourth school in NCAA history to improve its conference record in five consecutive seasons. Navy was in the top 10 in the country in rebounding margin from 1995-97, and led the nation in that category in 1995. Navy also won three Patriot League titles and competed in the NCAA Tournament in 1994, 1997 and 1998.

The Midshipmen played No. 1 ranked UNC in the first round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament in Hartford, Conn.

A 1987 graduate of the Naval Academy, Wojcik captained the Middies as a senior. He led Navy to the NCAA Tournament in three straight seasons, including a 1986 East Regional Final appearance against eventual national runnerup Duke. Wojcik still holds Navy records for most assists in a game (14), season (251) and career (714), setting the single-season mark as a junior. He started every game at point guard for three seasons, helping Navy to a 26-6 record as a sophomore followed by marks of 30-5 and 26-6 his final two seasons. Overall, Navy was 82-17 in his three years as a starter.

Teammate David Robinson turned over his 1986 Colonial Athletic Association MVP award to Wojcik, citing his unselfish play and leadership qualities. Wojcik has been a part either as a player or coach in every conference title won by Navy and in six of the school's 11 NCAA bids.

After graduation, he was commissioned as a Naval officer and attended Surface Warfare Officer School in Newport, R.I. He was assigned to the USS W.S. Sims out of Mayport, Fla. where he served as First Lieutenant and Engineering Officer for two years prior to beginning his coaching career.

The Wojcik family: Doug, Lael, Paxson and Denham

Born April 12, 1964, Wojcik is married to the former Lael House, a 1990 Naval Academy graduate who earned letters in basketball and track. The couple has two sons, Paxson Walter (born on August 8, 2000) and Denham Miner (born on May 15, 2002).

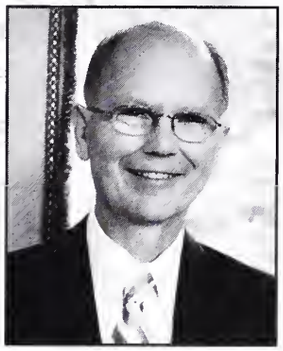
CHANCELLOR JAMES MOESER



As its ninth chancellor, Dr. James Moeser leads the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's efforts to set the standard for excellence among America's major public research universities.

"Carolina has the potential to enter a new defining moment – of being not only America's first public university, but being first among public universities in our nation," Moeser says. "When people around the world list the great American universities, we want to make certain Carolina is on the short list. We have set our sights that high. This is a great vision for Carolina, and it is an attainable ambition."

For Moeser, who started in August 2000, making new history at Carolina began with efforts to help secure North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000.

The referendum is helping fuel an unprecedented physical transformation of one of America's most beautiful campuses. The bonds are bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings so that 21st century students can learn in a 21st century environment. Also guided by a visionary master plan for future growth, the university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources for other buildings essential to continued excellence. The university is also beginning to plan for a possible mixed-use development called Carolina North on the Horace Williams tract north of the main campus.

Among Moeser's key duties is to lead private fund-raising efforts. In October 2002 he will publicly announce the goal for and progress in the Carolina First Campaign, a multi-year effort to position Carolina as the nation's leading public university. The campaign, the largest in the university's history, has among its goals the creation of 200 new endowed professorships and 1,000 new scholarships and fellowships. The campaign is already strengthening Carolina's competitive position among America's greatest research universities, both public and private.

"Two years ago, I pledged to the people of North Carolina to take the critical investment they made in Carolina's future through the bond referendum and at least triple it in private support to this university," Moeser says. "We shall make good on that pledge at a very minimum."

Planning strategically for UNC's long-term future has been the hallmark of Moeser's administration. Under his leadership, Carolina launched an initiative committing at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The public-private partnership positions Carolina to be a national leader in determining how the genomics revolution will change the ways in which doctors treat diseases, scientists design drugs and farmers grow crops. Carolina recently cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.

Such emphasis on science is balanced by an equal commitment to the arts and humanities. "The humanities and social sciences are our historical areas of strength," Moeser says. "We also have an obligation to provide our students and this region with the finest in the arts, and to preserve the incredible architectural archive of the historic campus. I subscribe to Thomas Jefferson's view that we teach with the built environments we create in buildings and landscapes."

Moeser moved quickly to fill key administrative posts. In 2001, he tapped Dr. Robert Shelton, a physicist who led research at the University of California Office of President, to become provost and executive vice chancellor and lead a campus wide effort to determine future academic priorities. Nancy Suttenfield, former vice president for finance and administration at Case Western Reserve University, joined as vice chancellor for finance and administration. Dr. Tony Waldrop, a Morehead Scholar and track star, returned to UNC as vice chancellor for research and graduate studies.

Other focal points of Moeser's first two years have included vigorously pursuing efforts to create a more global university, advocating for continued improvements in the quality of the freshman class, expanding growth in research funding and increasing emphasis on technology-transfer activities because of the direct impact faculty research has on the state's economy.

On campus, Moeser has supported efforts to enhance undergraduate education, advance the Carolina Computing Initiative and its laptop computer requirement for freshmen and review the student judiciary and Honor Court systems.

He has also championed the university's longtime commitment to diversity. Recent accolades include The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education's survey showing Carolina had the most tenured black faculty – 51 – among the nation's highly ranked universities. Carolina ranked 14th among the top 50 campuses for African-Americans as listed by Black Enterprise magazine. That ranking, the highest for a major public university, was based on a survey to determine which schools were good social and academic fits for black students.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of Governors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as an assistant professor and chairman of the department of organ. He became dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975. In 1984, he was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ, becoming the first academic dean at Kansas ever to hold an endowed chair. In 1986, Moeser joined The Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts Services. Six years later, he became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until becoming Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

In 2001, Moeser was named to the National Board for College Education, part of a national advisory committee guiding the College Board in introducing U.S. seventh-graders to the college admissions process and encouraging them to consider college.

As a member of the Board of Governors of the Josephson Institute of Ethics, Moeser helped UNC partner with the institute and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association to bring hundreds of youth coaches from around the state to an ethics seminar in spring 2001. The seminar was part of the institute's national campaign to implement the Arizona Sports Summit Accord, crafted in 1999 by nearly 50 influential leaders including Moeser.

The chancellor is a past member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and past chair of its technology transfer commission. He was on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities. In North Carolina, he is a trustee of the North Carolina Symphony Society Inc. and a member of the Greater Triangle Regional Council.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser received a bachelor's of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master's of music in musicology in 1964 from the University of Texas at Austin. The Graduate School at Texas honored Moeser in 2001 with its Outstanding Alumnus Award. Moeser, a Fulbright scholar, graduated with a doctorate in musical arts from the University of Michigan in 1967. A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser has chaired several national organ pedagogy conferences.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and lecturer in music and university organist at UNC. He has two children from a prior marriage: a son, Chris, a law student at the University of Arizona, and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, Wash.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of The University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his five years as director, the Tar Heels have undergone a number of changes, yet remain one of the premier athletic programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and across the nation. Baddour combines an easy-going, friendly and visionary style of management with a love and passion for the University he has served for more than 35 years.

Baddour sets a high standard of integrity for the program he leads. High graduation rates, NCAA compliance, sound fiscal management, competitive success and national respect are cornerstones of his blueprint for the department's mission to the University.

In 2001, he received a Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association. The awards program noted: "If this sounds like a full plate, remember that he gave the National Guard 31 years, and retired a colonel. He co-chaired the bond drive to build the Chapel Hill Public Library. He was vice president of the Parks and Recreation Commission; chair of the Orange County Heart Association; Cub Scout master and Little League coach. Dick was volunteer of the year in the public school system in 1996, and successfully managed a Chapel Hill mayoral campaign. He is a model of town and gown."

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is the largest in the ACC. Carolina won seven ACC championships last year, equalling the top figure in the league for the 15th consecutive year, and the Tar Heels finished fourth in the Sears Cup standings that measure a school's overall NCAA postseason success. A total of 20 sports competed in postseason play. The men's soccer team won the national championship, women's soccer was the national runnerup, women's lacrosse advanced to the national semifinals and the football team won the Peach Bowl. In addition, women's indoor and outdoor track and women's tennis posted Top 10 NCAA finishes.

During the past two years, Baddour hired a new men's basketball coach and football coach, was a member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet and NCAA Football Issues Committee, oversaw development of the indoor football and track facility and softball complex, and hired managing directors in the Educational Foundation and marketing office.

Baddour hired former UNC linebacker John Bunting to direct the football program in December 2000. Bunting starred at Carolina in the 1970s, had a lengthy professional career with the Philadelphia Eagles and was a highly respected and successful coach in the NFL. Bunting engineered the greatest turnaround in school history, winning eight of the last 10 games, including the Peach Bowl, after starting the season 0-3. He won more games (8) in his first season than any other first year coach in school history.

Baddour tabbed former Tar Heel Matt Doherty to replace Bill Guthridge in 2000. Baddour had hired Guthridge to follow the legendary Dean Smith after Smith stepped down just four months after Baddour became athletic director. Guthridge took two teams to the NCAA Final Four and was the winningest first-, second- and third-year coach in NCAA history. In his first season, Doherty led Carolina to 18 consecutive wins, a No. 1 national ranking and share of the ACC regular-season championship and was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

Baddour has hired new head coaches in six sports, including football, men's basketball, men's golf, women's tennis, baseball and men's lacrosse. Baddour hired Mike Fox, a former Tar Heel who played in the 1978 College World Series, as baseball coach; John Inman, 1984 NCAA men's golf champion and former PGA Tour golfer, as the men's golf coach; Jen Callen as the women's tennis coach; and John Haus to rebuild the men's lacrosse program. Haus won NCAA championships in 1981 and 1982 as a Tar Heel defensive star and twice coached Johns Hopkins University to the national semifinals.

In addition to the many personnel and facility changes that Baddour has managed, fiscal responsibility has been a key directive in his tenure as athletic director. He has instituted a number of measures designed to keep UNC among the nation's most competitive athletic programs, while at the same time ensuring a sound financial future.

Early in his tenure, Baddour established a number of task forces to examine specific functions within the department and guide those administrative units as they prepare for the 21st century. Baddour formed committees to examine recruiting, admissions and academic progress of student-athletes; finances; student-athlete development, communications and most recently, a long-term plan for Kenan Stadium.

As a result, Baddour reorganized the Athletic Department last year after overseeing functional changes in the following areas – marketing, communications, academic support, compliance, Educational Foundation, strength and conditioning and ticket operations.

Baddour continues to direct a vast facilities expansion project that stretches from Kenan Stadium to Finley Golf Course. The McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium (field hockey and lacrosse) were dedicated in 1998 and Finley Golf Course was totally re-designed to a spectacular championship-level in 1999.

Baddour, who has served on 12 ACC committees and is past chair of the ACC Athletic Directors, will serve as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television and has chaired the ACC Tennis Committee.

He is in his 36th year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years under John Swofford as the executive associate director of athletics.

After graduating from UNC, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to UNC in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state. In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment.

He became associate athletic director in 1986, was promoted to senior associate director in 1990 and to executive associate in 1995.

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour and his wife, Lynda, have two sons and a daughter. Allen graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and is an Assistant District Attorney in Chatham County. He and his wife, Holly, have two sons, Henry and Jack. David is a UNC graduate, a Certified Public Accountant, a recent UNC law school graduate and works with Womble-Carlyle in the Research Triangle Park. He and his wife, Carey, live in Carrboro and have a daughter, Lauren. Jennifer is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and earned her master's from the UNC School of Social Work. She is employed as a social worker in the Chapel Hill area. Lynda taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation?

The Educational Foundation, also known as the Rams Club, is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus. The Foundation was established in 1938 to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or the purchase of equipment.

The Educational Foundation has provided scholarships to more than 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 student-athletes will receive grant-in-aids this year at a cost of more than $7 million.

What are the different giving levels to the Rams Club?

Little Ram ($100) – Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $100 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which are subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football ticket exchanges; qualify for mini-season men's basketball ticket packages; purchase group travel packages; receive Tar Heel Monthly, a newspaper devoted the Carolina athletics, car window decals, and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) – In addition to the above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to receive a football and men's basketball media guide and participate in men's basketball ticket exchanges.

Rameses ($375) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($750) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the location of four football season tickets and receive an assigned parking space; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Super Ram ($1,500) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain up to eight football season tickets and receive an assigned parking space; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Coaches Circle ($5,000) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Coaches Circle donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to 12 football season tickets and receive two assigned parking spaces, invitations to exclusive functions throughout the year and autographed Carolina memorabilia.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program?

Sue Wolsh
V.P., Endowment

Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $75,000 half scholarships and $150,000 endowed scholarships that may be set up through various giving vehicles. A number of capital facility projects are in progress, as well, to which donors may contribute.

Does the Rams Club have chapters at the local level?

There are 45 local Rams Club chapters that meet at least once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an opportunity to hear about the team, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who is the director of the Rams Club?

John Montgomery is in his second full year as president. The staff's offices are located at the Europa Center located across from the Sheraton off of NC 15-501 in Chapel Hill. You may contact the Rams Club by calling (919) 945-2000, by email at ef@unc.edu or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill NC 27515. How Can As Little As $100 Pay Big Returns?

When It's Invested In Carolina Student-Athletes Through Donations To The Educational Foundation

When you make a contribution to The Educational Foundation, you are not only supporting world-class athletics, but you are also ensuring the future contributions of our student-athletes to society. The far-reaching benefits of your annual donation - even as little as $100 - are impossible to measure in tangible criteria, but you can rest assured every donation pays big returns.

Because UNC ranks nationally in graduating its student-athletes, who go on to pursue professions in a wide variety of fields, your donations are not just going toward the athletic contributions a student might make while at UNC. Rather, your donations enhance the overall academic achievements of many gifted students while they represent our university at the top level of intercollegiate athletic competition.

The Educational Foundation, founded over 60 years ago, now supports 400 student-athletes in 25 varsity sports at UNC. Today's scholarship costs total over $6 million annually, and The Foundation is the only source of funds for these scholarships. If it weren't for the generous support of donors such as you, many gifted student-athletes would not receive the opportunity to obtain a superb education at one of the nation's great academic institutions. Consider your donation a wise investment!

You Also Receive Dividends As A Donor. Yearly donations to The Educational Foundation assist not only the men and women who receive athletic scholarships, but also the donors and their families. The following dividends are available at the Little Ram ($100-$149) level of giving:

- An opportunity to purchase season football tickets in Kenan Stadium.
- An opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages.
- Access to the Ram's Room in Kenan Fieldhouse.
- Tickets to annual Super Saturday lunch featuring UNC's head basketball and football coaches.
- Invitations to other functions featuring Carolina coaches.
- Priority for tickets and group travel to away football games.
- Invitations to Foundation golf tournaments.
- Car decals, donor card, and the Tar Heel Monthly newspaper.

ANNUAL GIVING LEVELS:

Little Ram ($100-$149)

Ram ($150-$374)

Rameses ($375-$749)

Big Ram ($750-$1,499)

Super Ram ($1,500-$4,999)

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

HISTORY

• The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

• Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the university was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president.

• The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795. By March 1 of that year there were 41 students and two professors, and by 1860 only Yale University had a larger enrollment.

LOCATION

• The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks.

• The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That 1999 ranking, timed to the society's centennial, is among the latest affirmations of the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with UNC.

• A campus master plan approved in spring 2000 by UNC trustees represents a visionary look forward, offering a striking view of how the campus should exist in future decades to meet the needs of students, faculty, staff and the surrounding community. The plan captures the ambience of north campus in the Polk and McCorkle place quadrangles and aims to transform the southern region into an equally wonderful place in which to learn, teach, work and live. Among the plan's early projects are four new residence halls on south campus opening in fall 2002 and a planned arts common will create a new front door to the campus.

• The master plan guides a $1 billion-plus construction program made possible in part by North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of a $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000. The referendum is bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings. The university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources including private gifts for other buildings essential to continued excellence.

• Chapel Hill has been called "the perfect college town" by several publications including Sports Illustrated.

• UNC anchors one corner of the famed Research Triangle Park, which continues to play a vital role in nurturing the economic development of North Carolina.

RECENT RANKINGS

• In U.S. News and World Report magazine's September 2001 "America's Best Colleges" guidebook, UNC ranked fifth among the nation's top public universities and tied for 28th overall among both public and private campuses. Among undergraduate business programs, the Kenan-Flagler Business School tied for fifth nationwide.

• U.S. News also ranked 20 graduate degree programs and specialty areas at UNC among the top 25 nationwide in its graduate rankings issued in April 2002. The magazine rated programs in the schools of business, education, medicine and public health as well as doctoral programs in the College of Arts and Sciences. (Certain professional degree programs are ranked annually; other disciplines and specialties are ranked periodically.)

• The 2002 Fiske Guide to Colleges labeled UNC one of 21 public universities in the United States and Canada that were the "best college buys."

• Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine rated Carolina first among a list of the 100 best buys in U.S. public colleges and universities because of its combination of top-quality academics and low cost. Kiplinger's list, published in 2000, called UNC "a place where high achievers are in good company."

• Black Enterprise magazine ranked UNC 14th in its 2001 "Black Enterprise-DayStar Top 50 Colleges and Universities for African Americans" list, the highest ranking among major public universities. DayStar, a research firm, gathered the data for the list, which is based on responses to questions about which schools were both a good academic and social fit for African-American students.

• The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education concluded that UNC had the most tenured African-American faculty – 51 – among the nation's highest-ranked universities. The same 2002 survey also listed Carolina as one of only four highly ranked universities to have 100 or more African-American professors.

• Business Week magazine ranked the Kenan-Flagler Business School's executive education programs among the best in the world in 2001. Kenan-Flagler was fifth among executive MBA programs and 18th among executive education programs. "Grads praise the commitment and knowledge of faculty and staff," according to Business Week.

KEY STATISTICS

• Now in its third century, UNC belongs to the select group of 61 American and two Canadian campuses forming the Association of American Universities. UNC's academic offerings span more than 100 fields, including 84 bachelor's, 165 master's and 108 doctoral degrees as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law. Five health schools -- which, with UNC Hospitals, comprise one of the nation's most complete academic medical centers -- are integrated with liberal arts, basic sciences and high-tech academic programs.

• In fall 2001, Carolina enrolled 25,480 students from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and nearly 100 other countries. Eighty-one percent of Carolina's 15,844 undergraduates were from North Carolina. Sixty-four percent of Carolina's students were undergraduates, 29 percent graduates and another 9 percent were professional degree-seekers.

• Those students learn from a faculty that totaled about 2,600 full-time members in fall 2001. Many Carolina faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic groups.

Dan Sears

Dan Sears

• Prominent alumni include athletes Michael Jordan, Vince Carter, Mia Hamm, Marion Jones, Allen Johnson and Davis Love III; U.S. Senator John Edwards; former White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles; former White House Communications Director Don Baer; Bill Harrison, chairman and chief executive officer of JP Morgan Chase & Co.; and Scott Livengood, Krispy Kreme Doughnut chairman, president and chief executive officer. Others include John Crawford, designer of the Intel 386 and 486 chip; David Gardner, founder of The Motley Fool; actors Jack Palance, Andy Griffith, George Grizzard, Dan Cortese, Billy Crudup and Josh Tower; actresses Louise Fletcher, Sharon Lawrence and Tally Sessions; opera singer Vickie Livengood; and fashion designer Alexander Julian.

STUDENTS

• The entering freshman class of 2001 was the strongest in Carolina history, marking the third straight year of record-setting improvement in academic preparation and overall diversity.

• UNC students have a long tradition of outstanding achievement. Thirty-five have been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship since it was created in 1902, including the first U.S. black woman recipient. Twelve Chapel Hill students have won the Rhodes since 1980.

LEARNING

• The 2002 freshman class is the third wave of Carolina students required to own laptop computers as part of the Carolina Computing Initiative. In 2000, 3,400 Chapel Hill freshmen became the largest class in the United States ever required to own laptops during the first year of the requirement. Students can access a world of knowledge at their fingertips and communicate with faculty and peers with just a few keystrokes.

• Carolina is making it easier for students and others with laptops to connect to the Internet, e-mail and course materials – whether they are in classrooms, labs, libraries and nearby outdoor sites – thanks to wireless technology. Wireless access points have been installed at key campus locations, allowing students with adapter cards to connect to cyberspace without physically plugging into the campus network.

• This fall, Carolina becomes the only university in the state and one of just a handful nationwide offering a bachelor's degree in the cutting-edge, rapidly evolving field of information science.

• UNC's Kenan-Flagler Business School has joined four other top business schools in China, Brazil, Mexico and the Netherlands to design and deliver OneMBA, a premier global executive MBA program that is radically different from programs offered by other leading business schools.

RESEARCH

• Fiscal 2001 overall research funding at UNC topped the $438.7 million mark for contracts and grants awarded for research, teaching and public service -- an increase of 17 percent over the previous fiscal year.

• Much of the increase resulted from a 14 percent jump in National Institutes of Health funding. UNC faculty received $236.8 million in NIH funding -- up from $207 million in 2000 -- ranking 12th overall among private and public universities nationwide, and up from 13th last year.

• Carolina just cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding in fiscal 2000. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.

• Carolina has committed at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The campus wide initiative, which represents public and private investments, will allow Carolina to be a driving force in determining how the genomics revolution will change the way we treat human diseases, design drugs and grow crops.

EDUCATION AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

• UNC is building the new Sonja Haynes Stone Black Cultural Center building, funded by $9 million in private donations. It will house classrooms, seminar rooms, a gallery, dance studio and spaces for performances, lectures, meetings and offices. Construction is scheduled for completion by the end of 2003. Now based in the Frank Porter Graham Student Union, the center is among the nation's leading centers for research, teaching, learning and public service related to black history and culture.

• ibiblio, a collaboration between the university and the Center for the Public Domain, is known as the "the public's library and digital archive." It offers software archives, music archives, large text database projects and special exhibits. The site is dedicated to maintaining the open source philosophy in the development and management of its collections. Some of the most respected and most-used software archives reside on ibiblio, home to one of the largest "collections of collections" available on the Internet. ibiblio will observe its 10th anniversary in October 2002.

• From the Ackland Art Museum to the Morehead Planetarium to the North Carolina Botanical Garden, Carolina offers a vast array of educational and cultural opportunities. The Ackland exhibits from a permanent collection of more than 15,000 works of art, particularly rich in Old Master paintings and sculptures by artists including Degas, Rubens and Pisarro; Indian miniatures; Japanese paintings; and North Carolina folk art. Astronomy enthusiasts and schoolchildren from across North Carolina enjoy the Morehead Planetarium. Besides its displays of native and unusual plants and its nature trails, the Botanical Garden offers art exhibits, nature walks and courses on topics ranging from home gardening to botanical illustration.

• Professional theater also has a permanent place at Carolina through the PlayMakers Repertory Company, which performs in the Paul Green Theatre. The Carolina Union Performing Arts Series brings national and international dance, theatre and musical performances to campus.

PUBLIC SERVICE

• Carolina's public service activities reach every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect their public health, improve their schools and medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage and enrich their quality of life.

• Launched in 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service engages faculty, staff and students in public service activities that have a positive, long-term effect on the lives of many North Carolinians.

• One of Carolina's most visionary student outreach programs is a.p.p.l.e.s. (Assisting People to Plan Learning Experiences in Service), the nation's first student-run service-learning program. Participants volunteer in the community or perform internships in nonprofit or government agencies as part of course work, then write about or discuss their experiences with faculty.

• The School of Government includes the Institute of Government, the nation's largest and most diversified university-based government training and research organization, and a highly regarded master of public administration degree program that prepares graduate students for leadership positions in public service. The school provides state, community and local government leaders with a broad array of services related to the operation of North Carolina government.

TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's basketball and other teams has been a ram. Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant, 9-1 football record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

Dan Sears

Carolina basketball is competing in the Dean E. Smith Center for the 18th season. The Tar Heels have played 218 games in the Smith Center in front of a combined audience of more than 4 million fans. Carolina has a 182-36 record in the Smith Center, a dominant winning percentage of .835.

Last year, Carolina's average attendance was the third-best in the nation.

The Smith Center recently underwent an extensive facelift that improved the behind-the-scenes training areas. The UNC locker room and weight room were completely renovated. A new media center was built and the Bowles Room and Educational Foundation offices were retrofitted to include a practice gym.

Prior to moving into the Smith Center, Carolina played its home games at Carmichael Auditorium. The Tar Heels were 169-20 at Carmichael. UNC debuted there on Dec. 4, 1965, against William and Mary, and finished play on Jan. 4, 1986, in a win over NC State.

In May 1980, the Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission to raise millions of dollars from private donations to construct an arena. The real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles.

Six years and 2,362 donors later, the premiere basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot structure stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140-foot-high building.

The first game featured No. 1 Carolina defeating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, in a battle of unbeatens on Jan. 18, 1986. The first Tar Heel basket was scored by Carolina center Warren Martin off a pass from Kenny Smith. Since that first game, the Smith Center has been the site of many memorable moments in Tar Heel history.

• On Jan. 27, 1993, Carolina trailed Florida State by 21 points with 11:48 to play in the game, but rallied for an 82-77 win. George Lynch's steal and dunk gave Carolina the lead.

• On Feb. 3, 1994, No. 2 Carolina beat No. 1 Duke, 89-78, in the first-ever matchup between the great rivals in which the teams held the top two spots in the Associated Press poll.

• UNC and Duke repeated their No. 1 vs. No. 2 battle on Feb. 5, 1998, as the second-ranked Tar Heels routed the top-rated Blue Devils, 97-73. Antawn Jamison scored 35 points that evening, one of three occasions he netted at least 35 points in the Smith Center.

• On Feb. 8, 1992, UNC rallied from 22 points down to beat Wake Forest, the largest comeback in school history.

• On Jan. 31, 1996, the Tar Heels trailed Duke by 17 points in the first half, but won, 73-72, on a last-second tip-in by Dante Calabria.

One of the most prominent features in the Smith Center is the series of banners rewarding the accomplishments of Carolina players and teams, including NCAA championship banners for 1956-57, 1981-82 and 1992-93, respectively. Also hanging high above the playing floor are 40 replica jerseys honoring Carolina's greatest individual standouts. Seven of the jerseys are retired, including Jack Cobb, #10 Lennie Rosenbluth, #12 Phil Ford, #20 George Glamack, #23 Michael Jordan, #33 Antawn Jamison and #52 James Worthy.

The Smith Center's four video screens provide replays, stats and information, previews of upcoming games and highlights of past games.

In 2000-01, a special standing-room-only section reserved for students opened on the baseline closest to the Carolina bench. The Educational Foundation funded a $150,000 renovation that allowed approximately 400 students to move courtside.

As a multi-purpose facility, the Smith Center has played host to a wide range of athletic events and concerts. In 1987, U.S. Olympic Festival basketball attracted a Smith Center record crowd of 23,713 for the gold medal game. In 1988, the venue served as the site of the first and second rounds of the NCAA East Regional. In 1994, the Smith Center hosted the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships, attracting a three-day total of over 60,000 fans.

In 1999, the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium served as the basketball and aquatic venues for the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games.

Kenny Rogers staged the first concert in the arena on April 12, 1986. Other entertainers to perform here included the Grateful Dead, Garth Brooks and James Taylor.

Adjacent to the Smith Center is the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. The natatorium features an eight-lane, 50-meter pool.

The Smith Center and Koury Natatorium also host such community activities as the Chapel Hill High School Commencement, American Cancer Society Swim-for-Life, the Kenan-Flagler Business School Dedication, University Blood Drive, University Career Fairs, December and May Commencement Exercises. Thousands of school children visit the Smith Center annually.

2001-02 SEASON REVIEW

• Carolina finished the 2001-02 season with an 8-20 overall record and a 4-12 ACC mark. UNC tied with Clemson and Florida State for seventh place in the conference but earned the No. 7 seed in the ACC Tournament by virtue of its 3-1 record against the Tigers and Seminoles during the regular season. Carolina swept Clemson and split a pair of games against Florida State.

• After appearing in an NCAA-record 27 consecutive NCAA Tournaments prior to the season, the 2001-02 Tar Heel team was not in the NCAA field for the first time since 1974.

TAR HEEL TIDBITS

• Senior Jason Capel and his older brother Jeff (Duke, 1994-97) were one of eight brother combinations in ACC history to score more than 1,000 points between them. The Capel brothers (3,048 points) rank third on the ACC's career brother list. Clemson's Mahaffey quartet of Donnie, Randy, Richie and Tom totaled 3,555 points. Maryland's Jay and Tom McMillen scored 3,017 points.

• Capel and Kris Lang became the eighth and ninth four-year starters at Carolina since freshmen became eligible in 1972-73. The others are Phil Ford (1975-78), Mike O'Koren (1976-80), Sam Perkins (1981-84), Brad Daugherty (1983-86), Kenny Smith (1984-87), Jeff Lebo (1986-89) and Ademola Okulaja (1996-99).

• Carolina (8-20 overall in 2001-02) set a school record for most losses in a season. UNC lost 15 games in both 1950-51 and 1951-52.

• Carolina (4-12 in the ACC) set a school record for ACC losses in a season in 2001-02. UNC went 6-8 in ACC play in 1963-64, Dean Smith's third year as Carolina head coach.

• Prior to the 2001-02 campaign, UNC had never been six games under .500 at any point. Carolina ended the 2002 season 12 games under .500 at 8-20.

• Carolina did not place a player on the All-ACC first or second team for the first time since 1990. Senior forward Jason Capel did repeat as a third-team selection. Jawad Williams was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team.

SEASON REVIEW

The Tar Heels set a number of marks this year, including losing a school-record:

• 20 games (previous record was 15 in 1950-51 and 1951-52).

• 12 ACC games (previous record was eight in 1963-64).

• nine home games (previous record was five in 1929-30, 1943-44 and 1999-2000).

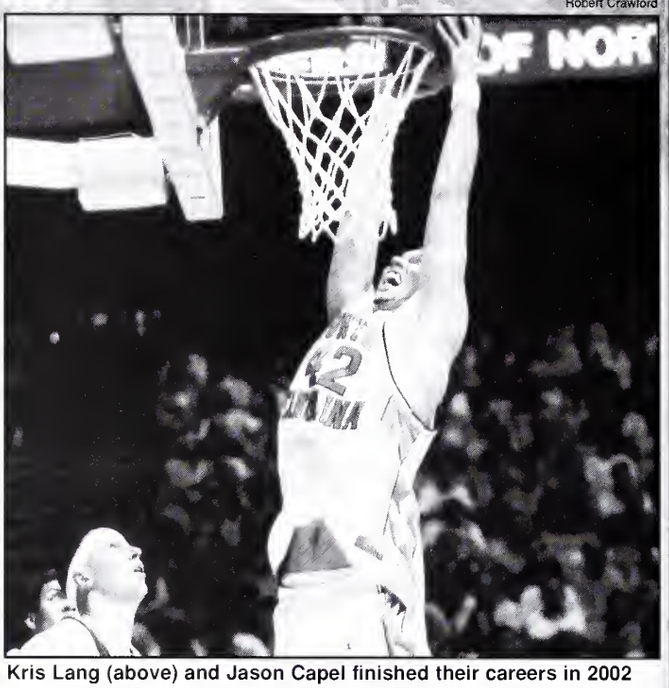
• five consecutive home games (previous record was four in 1929-30 and 1943-44).

• five consecutive ACC losses (twice) (previous record was four on five occasions).

• three straight home games to open the season

Carolina's seventh-place finish in the ACC standings was its lowest ever. UNC's previous lowest finish was fifth place in 1953-54 and 1963-64. The Tar Heels had not finished out of the top three in the previous 37 years.

Robert Crawford



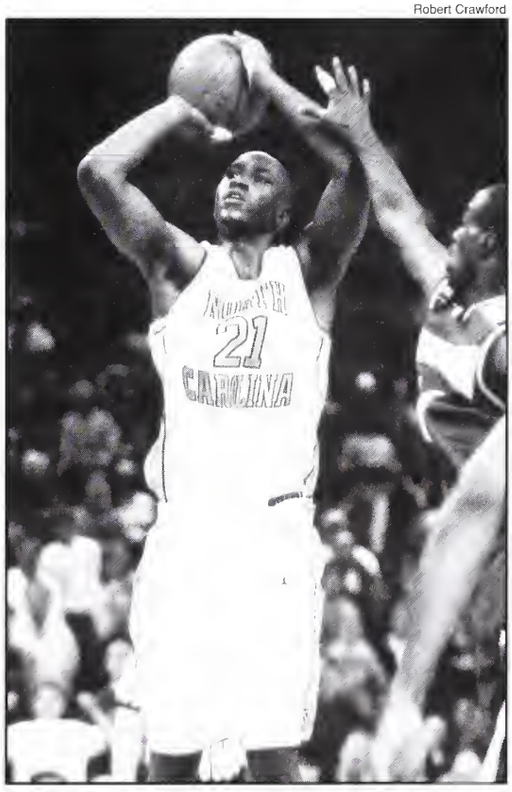
Kris Lang (above) and Jason Capel finished their careers in 2002 as two of only nine four-year starters in Tar Heel annals.

CAPEL, WILLIAMS EARN ALL-ACC HONORS

Senior Jason Capel earned third-team All-ACC honors for the second year in a row. Capel received 39 points in the voting and was the fifth-highest vote-getter on the third team. Kris Lang received 18 points and was an honorable mention selection. It was the first time since 1990 that no Tar Heel had made first or second team All-ACC.

Freshman Jawad Williams was named to the All-Freshman team. Williams tied for the third-most votes among the league's freshmen. Williams was the seventh Carolina rookie to make the All-Freshman team since 1993. Williams joins Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Rasheed Wallace (1994), Antawn Jamison (1996, Ed Cota (1997), Kris Lang (1999) and Joseph Forte (2000).

Robert Crawford



Jawad Williams was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team after the season.

Carolina Basketball

A HISTORY OF TAR HEEL BASKETBALL

The University of North Carolina is one of college basketball's all-time greatest programs. With four national championships, almost 1,800 wins, NCAA records for consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and 20-win seasons, the winningest coach in Division I history, and legendary players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter, the Tar Heels are one of the most recognizable teams in the world.

Carolina's 92 seasons in the intercollegiate ranks have produced an overall record of 1,789 victories and 650 losses, making the Tar Heel program the second-winningest in NCAA history in total victories and winning percentage. Only Kentucky, North Carolina, Kansas and UNLV have played at least 40 years and won more than 70 percent of their games.

The Tar Heels have won half or more of their games in 82 of the 92 seasons and no Carolina coach has ever left the position with a losing record. Carolina has had only four head coaches in the last 50 years – Frank McGuire for nine years, Dean Smith from 1961-62 to 1996-97, Bill Guthridge from October 1997-98 to 1999-2000 and Matt Doherty beginning in 2000-2001.

THE ROOTS OF A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

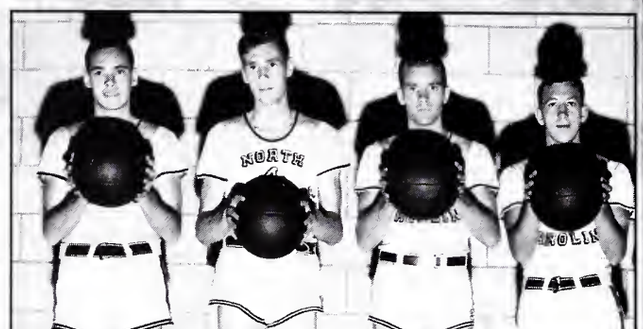
The first varsity team played at North Carolina during the 1910-11 season. Basketball clubs had originally been a part of physical education classes at the University, but student Marvin Ritch led the drive with school officials to start an organized varsity team. Nat Cartmell, UNC's track and field coach, who was internationally known in his own right as a sprinter, coached that first team in 1911.

By the time the team was organized, Carolina did not schedule its first game until January 27, 1911, when it defeated Virginia Christian, 42-21, in Chapel Hill. The team played its games in Bynum Gymnasium, now the site of the University Cashier's office. Carolina went 7-4 that first season, playing the likes of Tennessee, Virginia, Wake Forest, Davidson, the YMCA teams from Durham and Charlotte and the Woodberry Forest School of Virginia. At the time, a crowd of 50 spectators for a game was considered enormous.

Cartmell ended up coaching the Tar Heels for four seasons. His 1912 squad finished only 4-5, but several thousand fans came to see the Tar Heels play Virginia Tech at the Raleigh Auditorium, a sign that interest in and fan support of the game was growing quickly in the Carolinas.

Charles Doak became the program's head coach in 1915. His 1916 team recorded a 12-6 ledger, the best record for any team during the first decade of the sport on campus. Doak had served as the Tar Heels' baseball coach before being assigned to coach the basketball team as well.

In 1917, Carolina recorded its first victory over then arch-rival Virginia after eight previous losses. That Tar Heel team was led by George Tennent, who captained both the 1917 and 1918 teams. Luther Hodges, who later served as governor of North Carolina from 1957-61 and was the Secretary of Commerce under President John Kennedy, was a substitute player on the 1917 team. Beginning with that 1917 season, Howell Peacock coached the team for three years, compiling a 23-14 mark.



The 1946 Tar Heels, led by starters John Dillon, Bob Paxton, Jim White and Jim Hayworth, made the first Final Four appearance in school history.

In 1920, Fred Boye took over as the head coach at Carolina, staying two years and compiling a 19-17 ledger. The 1922 squad played without an official head coach, but nevertheless compiled a 15-6 record. Carolina went to Atlanta that season and swept the first-ever Southern Conference Tournament championship, winning five games in five days. The Heels captured the title with a 40-26 win over Mercer in the finals. The Southern Conference had been founded the previous summer with an initial membership of 22 schools. The 1922 squad was led by Cartwright Carmichael, who was then a sophomore. He went on to become one of Carolina's all-time great players. He became UNC's first All-America in any sport in both 1923 and 1924 and he was an All-Southern Conference pick from 1922 through 1924.

CELEBRATING CAROLINA'S FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The five-year period beginning in 1922 was actually a glorious one for Carolina despite the fact that the Tar Heels played with no coach during the 1922 and 1923 seasons and with a different head coach in each of the following three years. But with incredibly talented players on hand, Carolina went 96-17 in that five-year span and won four of five Southern Conference championships as well as the national championship in 1924.

The 1923 team set the stage for that magnificent '24 squad by going 15-1, losing only a 34-32 thriller to Ole Miss in the Southern Conference tournament final.

The '24 team proved to be something very special indeed. Led by Jack Cobb, Carmichael and Bill Dodderer, it rolled to a 26-0 record and was named the national champion by the Helms Foundation. Carolina beat Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama to capture the Southern Conference championship.

Carolina's nine-man 1924 squad played for the first time in the Indoor Athletic Center, better known around campus as the Tin Can, a structure which existed until the late 1970s. It was razed to clear land for what is now the Robert Allison Fetzer Gymnasium on the UNC campus. Norman Shepard coached the Tar Heels in 1924 in what would be his only season as head coach. He left the following year to pursue business ventures abroad.

After being an All-Southern Conference selection in 1924, Monk McDonald took over as the team's head coach the following season. Led again by the magnificent Cobb, the Tar Heels finished 20-5 in 1925 and won another Southern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 36-28 in the finals. A year later, Carolina had yet another new head coach in Harlan Sanborn as the '26 team compiled a solid 20-5 mark. That team was led by Cobb, who was named the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation, and by Dodderer, who was named All-Southern Conference for the third year in a row.

Cobb, who averaged 15 points per game in 1926, a total practically unheard of in that day, was named an All-America for the third successive year. One of the highlights of the year was the crowd of thousands which gathered at Memorial Hall to hear a telegraphic play-by-play of the Southern Conference championship game from Atlanta as UNC downed Mississippi State, 38-23.

James Ashmore began an impressive five-year coaching stint with the Tar Heels in 1927. His teams were led by players like Billy Morris, Puny Harper, Bunn Hackney and Rufus Hackney. Ashmore's teams combined for an 80-37 mark during his tenure, but they never won the Southern Conference championship – in fact they never reached the finals.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE REALIGNS

Norman Shepard's brother, George "Bo" Shepard, took over as head coach in 1932. He quickly catapulted Carolina back into national prominence. The "Charlotte Connection" provided many of the best players for UNC at the time because of the strong high school and YMCA programs in that part of the state.

Guard Tom Alexander and forward Virgil Weathers, both All-Southern Conference choices, led the '32 team to a 16-5 mark as Carolina lost, 26-24, in the Southern Conference final to Georgia in Atlanta, the new site of the conference tournament. After the '32 season, the Southern Conference lost 13 schools which went on to form what is now the Southeastern Conference. That turn of events left 10 schools in the Southern Conference.

In 1933, Shepard needed a big man for rebounding purposes and to control the jump ball after each score. He found his man in Jack Glace, who hadn't even made his high school squad. The Heels went 12-5 that season and lost a double overtime thriller to South Carolina, 34-32, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament.

The 1934 Carolina team finished 18-4, being upset by Duke in the Southern Conference tournament after beating the Blue Devils twice in the regular season. Dave McCachren was the captain of that Carolina squad and was the first of four McCachren brothers to play at UNC from 1931-43. Each brother captained the Tar Heel team his senior year, and each was elected president of the UNC athletic association. After Dave, Jim, a three-time All-Southern Conference selection, captained the '36 team, Bill captained the '39 squad and George, better known as "Toad," captained the '43 unit.

The 1935 team won the conference championship and compiled a marvelous 23-2 mark in Shepard's last year as head coach. After that season, Shepard stepped down because of health reasons and Walter Skidmore became head coach. Skidmore continued the winning ways in Chapel Hill, leading the 1936 team to a 21-4 record and a Southern Conference title. That 1936 unit was led by Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, who was also a Carolina football All-America.

Carolina had successful years in 1937 and '38, but failed to win the Southern Conference title either time. However, in 1938, Carolina inaugurated a new home base for its basketball operations as the 5,000-seat Woollen Gymnasium opened, and Carolina left the Tin Can to be used for track meets and campus social functions. Then, in 1939, Carolina suffered its first losing campaign in 19 years, and Skidmore stepped down as coach. He was replaced for the 1940 season by Bill Lange, then an assistant football coach under Ray Wolf.

Bones McKinney and Carolina reached the 1946 NCAA title game, the first of an NCAA-record 15 Final Fours in UNC history.

CAROLINA EARNS ITS FIRST NCAA BID

The 1940 Carolina team proved to be an outstanding one. Led by George Glamack, nicknamed the "Blind Bomber," UNC went 23-3. The 6-6 junior from Johnstown, Pa., could barely see the basket because of impaired vision, but his foul line hook shot was lethal. Glamack became only the third player ever designated as the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation on two occasions, winning the honor in both 1940 and '41.

Other stars on the teams of the early 1940s were Paul Severin, who was also a two-time All-America in football, and Bob Rose, an All-Southern Conference player in both 1941 and '42. Glamack averaged 20.6 points per game for the Tar Heels, an amazing statistic given the fact that teams only scored in the 40s and 50s during that era.

As in other sports, the World War II years in college basketball were unsettled in nature. The Carolina team lost many players to service obligations during this time – in fact, only one letterman was available for the 1943 team. In 1944, the Tar Heels played 11 contests against service teams. Lange stepped down as coach after the 1944 season with an impressive five-year record of 85-41. Lange's 1941 team was also the first at UNC to make the NCAA Tournament field.

Ben Carnevale took over as head coach in 1945 and the Tar Heels motored to an outstanding 22-6 ledger and the Southern Conference championship. The star of that team was Jim Jordan, who was named a second-team All-America that season.

Frank McGuire led Carolina to the ACC's first NCAA basketball title and later hired Dean Smith as an assistant coach.

The 1956-57 Tar Heels, shown here celebrating the 1956 Dixie Classic championship, later won the '57 NCAA championship after triple-overtime victories over Michigan State and Kansas in the Final Four.

NEARLY ANOTHER NATIONAL TITLE

The 1946 team was a truly outstanding one. Led by first-team All-Americas Jordan and John "Hook" Dillon and 6-6 Horace "Bones" McKinney, Carolina made it all the way to the NCAA championship game before losing to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma (A&M) State team, 43-40, at Madison Square Garden. McKinney had attended N.C. State before going into the military in World War II, and he resumed his education at Chapel Hill, helping lead the Heels to their 30-5 mark in 1946. Carnevale left after the season was over to take the coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was replaced by Tom Scott.

At this time, basketball in the South was enjoying unprecedented popularity. N.C. State was becoming a formidable rival for the Tar Heels, and the Southern Conference Tournament was moved to Duke's Indoor Stadium so more fans could attend the postseason classic.

Scott's first team, in 1947, was led by Jim Hamilton and Bob Paxton. It posted a 19-8 record and lost in the conference finals to N.C. State, then coached by the legendary Everett Case. Unfortunately, that would be the second of 15 consecutive losses Carolina suffered at the hands of the Wolfpack over a six-year period.

Scott produced 20-win seasons in both 1948 and '49, but lost three contests to N.C. State in each of those campaigns, including heartbreakers in the league tournament.

TAR HEELS TURN TO McGUIRE

The next three seasons produced a trio of mediocre records, and Scott resigned after the 1952 season. He was replaced by Frank McGuire, a 38-year-old native of Greenwich Village in New York City. Formerly the coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., McGuire was successful at luring many outstanding New York basketball stars, the first of whom was Jerry Vayda, to Chapel Hill through his connections to the area.

McGuire's first team, in 1953, proved to be a scrappy unit. It didn't have great talent, but ended up 17-10 and beat N.C. State in Raleigh, breaking the six-year losing streak to the Pack. During the offseason, Carolina and seven other schools left the Southern Conference to join what has become America's finest intercollegiate athletic league, the Atlantic Coast Conference. The next two years produced average records – 11-10 in 1954 and 10-11 a year later – but McGuire was building a foundation for future greatness.

Lennie Rosenbluth, from New York City, debuted for the Tar Heels in 1955 as a sophomore and averaged 25.5 points per game. In 1956, a great new class joined holdovers Rosenbluth, Vayda, Tony Radovich and Bob Young. The new sophomore class included Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham and Roy Searcy. That '56 team went 18-5, setting the stage for what happened a year later.

UNC GOES TO OVERTIME FOR SECOND NATIONAL TITLE

In 1957, McGuire had a lineup that consisted of the 6-6 Brennan, 6-5 Rosenbluth and 6-9 Quigg on the front line with Cunningham and Kearns in the backcourt. En route to its 32-0 record, Carolina had to avoid a couple of close calls in the regular season – against Duke at home and a double overtime contest with Maryland in College Park. The closest call of all may have come in the ACC Tournament semifinals when the Heels edged Wake Forest, 61-59. Because only the ACC Tournament champion earned an NCAA bid in those days, had the Tar Heels lost to the Deacons, they would not even have been allowed to compete in the national tournament. Once in the NCAAs, however, Carolina swept past three opponents in the East Regional to set up a meeting with Michigan State in the semifinals.

It took three overtimes, but Carolina finally vanquished the Spartans, 74-70. This win set up a showdown with Dick Harp's Kansas Jayhawks, led by the great Wilt Chamberlain. At Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, UNC needed another three overtimes to subdue Kansas, 54-53, on Quigg's two free throws with six seconds to play in the third extra session. Thousands turned out at the Raleigh-Durham Airport the next day to welcome their conquering heroes home. Rosenbluth concluded his brilliant career by being named an All-America, first-team All-ACC for the third straight year and the Helms National Player of the Year.

In 1958, a Carolina team led by All-America and ACC Player of the Year Brennan finished 19-7. Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, soon to be Carolina stars in their own right, joined the squad as sophomores. With the exception of the 1957 national championship team, McGuire's 1959 squad may have been the best amongst the nine he coached during his time at UNC. Doug Moe, York Larese and Lou Brown joined the team and Carolina finished 20-5 and qualified for the school's fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

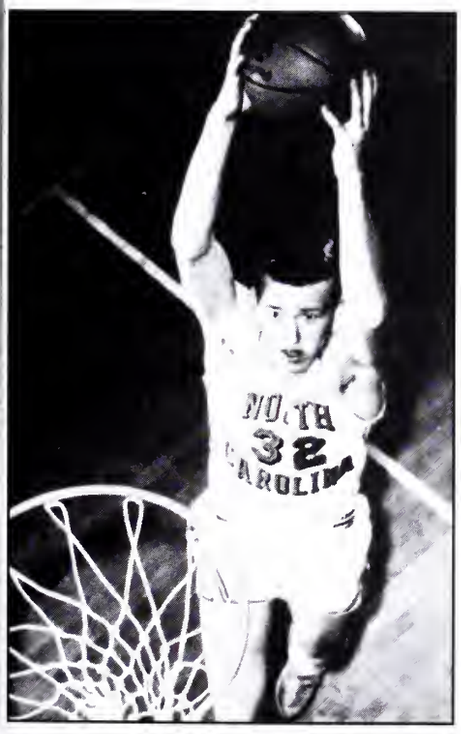
A year later, Carolina had another outstanding season under McGuire. The Heels finished 18-6 overall and Shaffer was named a first-team All-America.

The 1961 season yielded an outstanding team and a 19-4 record. It was the senior year for Moe, Larese and Kepley. Moe was an All-America that season and together with Larese, they were called the L&M twins. McGuire chose to accept a head coaching offer from the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association after the season concluded. His nine-season record at Carolina was a brilliant 164-58. Under McGuire, Carolina went to the NCAA Tournament twice, won five ACC regular-season titles, one ACC Tournament title and the national championship.

CHANCELLOR AYCOCK MAKES THE PERSONNEL DECISION OF A LIFETIME

The man who stepped into the coaching void was a native Kansan by the name of Dean Edwards Smith. He had been lured to Carolina in 1958 from the U.S. Air Force Academy to be McGuire's top assistant. Carolina Chancellor William Aycock was charged with the duty of finding the successor for the popular McGuire. He entrusted the post to the 30-year-old Smith, who built a program that still is a model for integrity and success in college athletics.



Affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid" for his leaping ability, Billy Cunningham holds the three highest single-season rebounding averages in Carolina history, including a record 16.1 per game as a sophomore in 1962-63.

Coach Smith's first team in 1962 compiled an 8-9 record, his only losing season as a head coach. But his players did give him a victory in his first coaching outing, 80-46 over Virginia on December 2, 1961. It would prove to be a harbinger of things to come. After that victory, Smith said, "I've never been as scared in my life."

Billy Cunningham, affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid," joined the varsity team and became an immediate star in 1962. Averaging 22.7 points and 16 rebounds a game, he helped lead the Tar Heels to a 15-6 record, which included road victories against both Kentucky and Notre Dame. A year later, Cunningham was still awesome, but the Tar Heels' record dipped to 12-12. Help for the future arrived, however, in the form of highly-touted freshman Bob Lewis.

Lewis moved up to the varsity team in 1965 and with the All-America Cunningham, the two combined for 46.4 points per game as Carolina went 15-9. Cunningham left Carolina as its all-time leader in rebounds and as one of the most prolific rebounders and scorers in conference history. A two-time All-America and three-time All-ACC selection, he went on to a great professional playing and coaching career, mainly with the Philadelphia 76ers.

For 1966, Cunningham was gone, but Lewis was now joined by soon-to-be superstar Larry Miller. The Tar Heels moved out of Woollen Gymnasium and into the 8,800-seat Carmichael Auditorium, which would evolve into one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. The '66 squad finished only 16-11, but it was obvious that greatness was just around the corner.

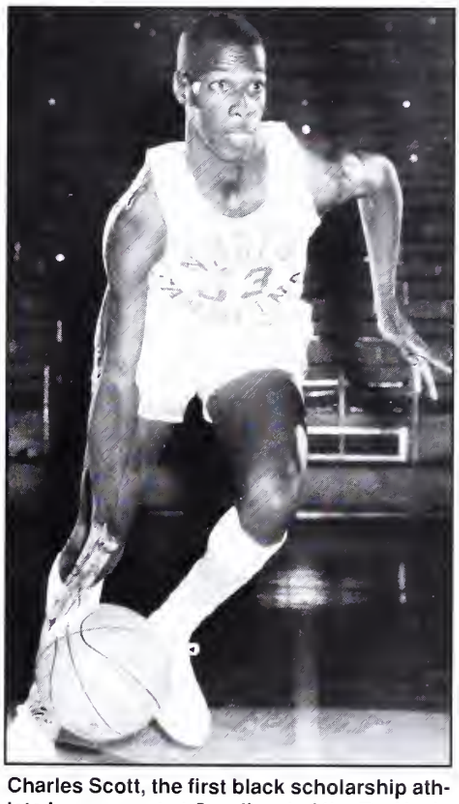
THREE STRAIGHT ACC TITLES, THREE STRAIGHT FINAL FOURS

The 1967 team proved to be Coach Smith's first truly great squad at Carolina. Lewis and Miller were joined on the varsity by sophomores Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, Dick Grubar and Joe Brown. The season resulted in a 26-6 ledger, and the Tar Heels finished third in the final United Press International poll and fourth in the Associated Press rankings. The '67 campaign marked the beginning of a string of three successive first-place finishes in the ACC regular-season standings, three straight ACC tournament titles and three consecutive NCAA East Regional championships for Smith and his troops. That's a feat unmatched in ACC history. The '67 squad was characterized by an enthusiastic, gambling defense that would become a trademark of Smith-coached teams.

Lewis graduated after the '67 season, but the great Charles Scott arrived to take his place in the Carolina lineup as the Heels prepared for the 1968 season. Scott was the first black player on the Carolina varsity, and he started from the beginning of his sophomore year. The '68 team was an outstanding one and made it all the way to the NCAA finals before losing to UCLA and Lew Alcindor. The Heels' final record that year was 28-4, the best yet under Smith's tutelage. Miller was both an All-America and the ACC Player of the Year for the second straight year.

Heading into 1969, Miller was gone but the remaining core of those great teams returned. Carolina went 27-5, won the ACC championship for the third straight year and was again in the Final Four, the school's fifth such visit since the NCAA Tournament began in 1939. Scott, Bunting, Clark and Grubar led that team as well as junior guard Eddie Fogler.

The 1970 squad entered that season decimated by graduation. The tremendous seniors of the previous year – Bunting, Clark and Grubar – had graduated. Carolina finished 18-9, buoyed by the addition of sophomores Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Steve Previs, all solid players. Scott was named All-ACC for the third successive year and was a first-team All-America for the second time. Carolina accepted the first of its four NIT bids in history and the 18-9 record was the last time Carolina failed to win 20 games in a season until 2001-02.



Charles Scott, the first black scholarship athlete in any sport at Carolina, led the Tar Heels to Final Fours in 1968 and '69.

The 1971 team was not expected to do much according to the pre-season ratings, but it rolled up a 26-6 record and won the ACC regular-season title and the National Invitation Tournament championship. Sophomore George Karl moved up to the varsity and formed a great backcourt with Previs. Wuycik was a first-team All-ACC choice and Chamberlain the Most Valuable Player of the NIT as Carolina downed Georgia Tech 84-66 in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

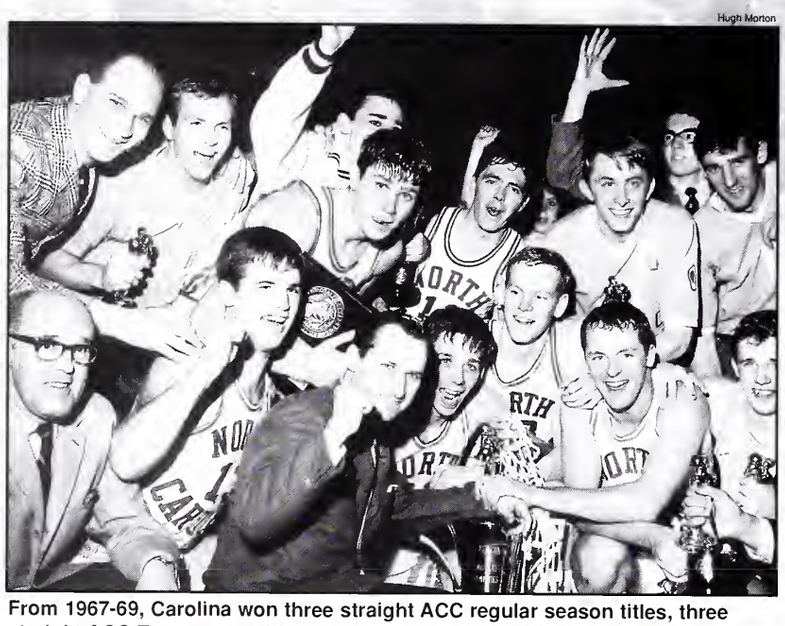
Carolina returned to the NCAA Final Four in 1972 with a 26-5 record. Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer from Vincennes University, was outstanding for the Heels along with returnees Wuycik, Chamberlain, Karl and Previs. Sixth man Bobby Jones, a 6-8 sophomore, showed great promise for the future. Carolina won five different tournament championships during the course of the season, including the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional championships. The Tar Heels were eliminated in the NCAA Final Four by Florida State in the semifinals, 79-75. After the season, McAdoo became the first player under Smith to declare himself eligible for the NBA draft prior to the completion of his eligibility. A year later, he was the NBA Rookie of the Year with the Buffalo Braves.

Hugh Morton



From 1967-69, Carolina won three straight ACC regular season titles, three straight ACC Tournament titles and three straight NCAA East Regional championships. No team has accomplished the feat since.

Carolina returned to the NIT in 1973 and reached the semifinals after losing in the first round of the ACC Tournament. The 25-8 squad was led by the play of Karl and, in the first year freshmen were again eligible to play under NCAA rules, Mitch Kupchak showed signs of greatness inside.

A REMARKABLE COMEBACK VERSUS DUKE

The 1974 team was led by All-America and All-ACC player Jones. It compiled a 22-6 record but was relegated to a return trip to the NIT even though it was ranked eighth in the final UPI poll. That team featured a freshman class of Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and John Kuester — a group which would lead Carolina back to the Final Four in 1977. The 1974 season will also be remembered for the astounding comeback the Tar Heels made against Duke at Carmichael Auditorium in the final game of the regular season. Trailing by eight points with 17 seconds to play, the Heels rallied to tie the contest on a 28-foot shot by Davis as time expired. UNC went on to win in overtime, 96-92. The 1974 season also marked the last time Carolina failed to make the NCAA Tournament field, a streak now numbering an NCAA record 22 years.

In 1975, the wonderous Phil Ford arrived on campus as a freshman and had an immediate impact on Carolina basketball fortunes. He became the first freshman under Smith to start the first game of his career, a feat later matched only by Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. As a frosh, Ford won the Everett Case Award as Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament as Carolina beat defending national champion N.C. State in the finals, 70-66, knocking the Wolfpack out the NCAA Tournament in the process. The Tar Heels had to survive overtime games with Wake Forest and Clemson in the first two rounds of the tournament just to get into the final game. Overall, that Carolina team finished 23-8 and was eliminated in the NCAA

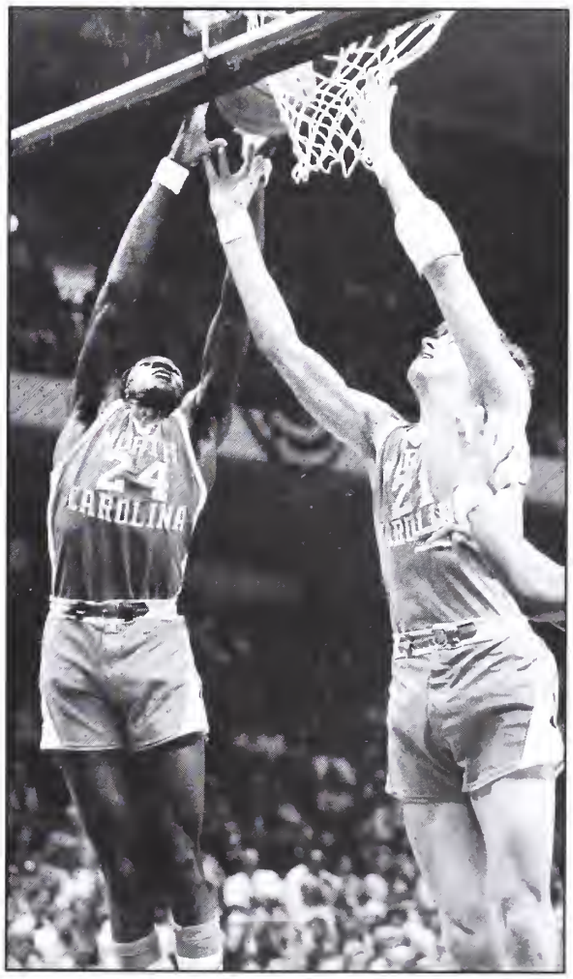
East Regional semifinals by Syracuse, which went on to the Final Four.

A year later, in Kupchak's senior season, the Tar Heels had one of their best teams ever under Smith, but it was undone by injuries and bad luck at season's end. First-team All-Americas Kupchak and Ford led the team to a 25-4 mark and a 13-1 ACC slate. But Carolina was upset in the ACC finals by Virginia, giving the Cavaliers their only ACC championship in history, and then UNC lost to Alabama in the first round of the NCAAs with Ford sidelined with a badly sprained ankle. Following the season, Carmichael Auditorium underwent a renovation which increased seating capacity from 8,800 to 10,000. Individual seats were torn out and bleacher seats installed throughout the facility.

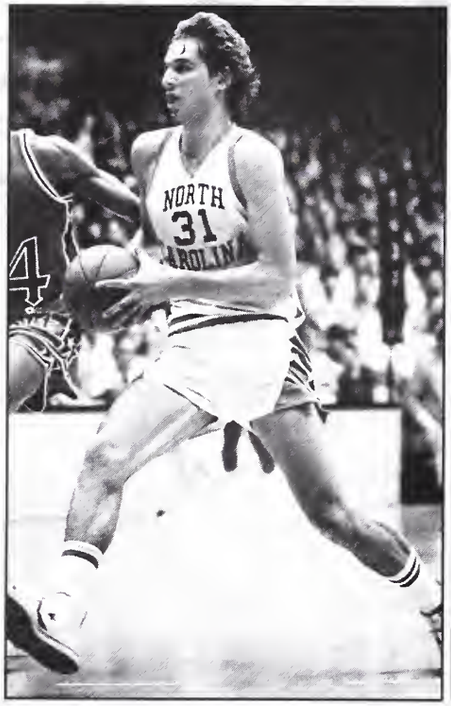
The 1977 campaign marked a return to the Final Four for the first time in five years as UNC posted a 28-5 mark. Mid-season knee surgery on LaGarde ended his college career prematurely and then Davis broke his thumb in the ACC Tournament semifinals against N.C. State. Led by Kuester, the Tar Heels persevered and beat Virginia in the tournament finals, 75-69. Carolina used its up-tempo style to perfection in conjunction with the famed four corners offense in scoring NCAA wins over Purdue, Notre Dame, Kentucky and UNLV. All were of the comeback variety save the win over the Wildcats. Ford suffered a hyperextended elbow in the waning moments of the Notre Dame game and played the remainder of the tourney at less than 100 percent. After freshman O'Koren helped the Heels into the finals with 31 points against Vegas, the Tar Heels fell to Marquette, 67-59, in the title game.

The 1978 team had to play minus LaGarde, Davis and Kuester, which was no easy task. It was Ford's senior year and the Rocky Mount, N.C., native was tapped for National Player of the Year honors by four organizations as UNC finished 23-8. In an emotional Carmichael Auditorium farewell, Ford scored a career-high 34 points as UNC beat Duke 87-83 in one of the most memorable games played in the building, clinching the ACC regular-season championship for the Heels in the process. Ford finished his career as a three-time first-team All-America and as Carolina's all-time leading scorer and assist man. He still holds the scoring record to this day with 2,290 points.

The 1979 squad was not ranked



Walter Davis (24) and Mitch Kupchak (21) excelled at Carolina in the mid-1970s and went on to NBA stardom. Kupchak is now the general manager of the L.A. Lakers.



Mike O'Koren was a three-time first-team All-America from 1977-80.

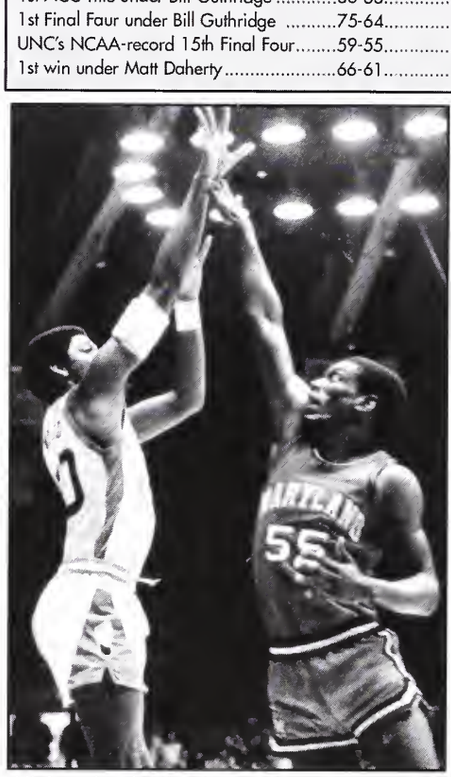
highly in the preseason, but won Smith ACC and National Coach of the Year honors after finishing 23-6. O'Koren, senior defensive wizard Dudley Bradley and sophomore sharpshooter Al Wood led that team. During the regular season, UNC upset eventual national champion Michigan State 70-69 at Carmichael and scored an infamous 70-69 win at N.C. State on Bradley's last-second steal and dunk. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship with Duke and then beat the Blue Devils 71-63 in the ACC Tournament finals as Bradley captured tournament MVP honors. Carolina was upset in the NCAA second round by Penn, which went on to play in the NCAA Final Four.

The 1980 squad was led by a senior class which featured O'Koren, a first-team All-America in 1979 and 1980. The Tar Heels finished 21-8. Other graduating seniors were guards Dave Colescott and John Virgil and centers Rich Yonakor and Jeff Wolf. One of the season's highlights was a 61-57 win at Indiana in the homecoming game for Colescott, a Marion, Ind., native and former Mr. Basketball in the Hoosier State.

The 1981 team would initiate a string of 13 straight Carolina squads which advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Led by Al Wood and sophomore power forward James Worthy, UNC finished 29-8 and won the ACC Tournament title with one-point wins over Wake Forest and Maryland in the semifinal and final, respectively. After winning the NCAA West Regional crown, UNC returned to the Final Four in Philadelphia where it avenged two regular-season losses to conference foe



All-America Al Wood scored an NCAA semifinal-record 39 points in the 1981 Final Four win over Virginia, propelling Carolina into the national championship game.

Virginia in the semifinals behind Wood's astounding 39-point performance, an NCAA Tournament semifinal game scoring record to this day. Two days later, on the day President Ronald Reagan survived an assassination attempt, UNC was beaten by Indiana in the national championship game.

WORTHY'S MVP PERFORMANCE KEYS CAROLINA'S THIRD NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1981 team proved to be only a prelude to the greatness of the 1982 squad which won the national championship. Preseason rated No. 1, the Tar Heels finished the regular season that way and went on to win the NCAA championship. The squad's 32-2 record equaled the school record for victories in a season as the Tar Heels swept through the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. There were many heroes on the '82 team. Worthy was named the co-National Player of the Year and he scored a career-high 28 points in UNC's pulsating 63-62 win over Georgetown in the championship game. Center Sam Perkins was a first-team All-America, and he was joined in the lineup by point guard Jimmy Black, small forward Matt Doherty and a freshman guard by the name of Michael Jordan. Jordan hit a 16-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left, providing the winning points in the title game, and Worthy sealed the victory with a steal of a Fred Brown pass with five seconds left.

Worthy opted to make himself available for the NBA draft after his junior year, and he was chosen as the first pick by the Los Angeles Lakers. Even without Worthy, the Tar Heels returned a strong cast in 1983 with a nucleus featuring Jordan and Perkins. Both players earned first-team All-America honors that year and Jordan was named National Player of the Year by The Sporting News. The Tar Heels finished 28-8 after starting 0-2, the worst-ever start for a Smith-coached team at Carolina. After splitting its first six games of the season, Carolina recovered from the slow start to be the nation's No. 1-ranked team for several weeks in January and February. After tying for the ACC regular-season championship, the Heels made it to the finals of the NCAA East Regional before being upset by Georgia. The highlight of the year was an improbable 64-63 victory over Virginia on February 10, 1983 as No. 1-ranked Carolina rallied from 16 points down with 8:43 to play to beat second-ranked Virginia at Carmichael Auditorium.

In 1984, Smith had one of his best teams ever before it fell victim to a late-season injury bug. At 28-3 overall, the Tar Heels became only the sixth team in ACC history to go through the conference regular-season round-robin undefeated at 14-0. Jordan was named the consensus National Player of the Year and Perkins was named both first-team All-ACC and first-team All-America for the third straight year. Starting point guard Kenny Smith suffered a broken wrist in the LSU game on January 29 and never fully recovered that season. Center Brad Daugherty also suffered a hand injury during the ACC Tournament that hampered his play the rest of the way. That Tar Heel team finished No. 1 nationally in both final polls.

The 1985 team was another of Smith's over-achieving teams. Ignored in the pre-season Top 20 polls for the first time in recent memory, UNC went 27-9 that year after losing Perkins and Jordan from the lineup. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship as Daugherty and Kenny Smith had superb years for the Tar Heels. Carolina was eliminated in the finals of the NCAA Southeast Regional by eventual national champion Villanova.

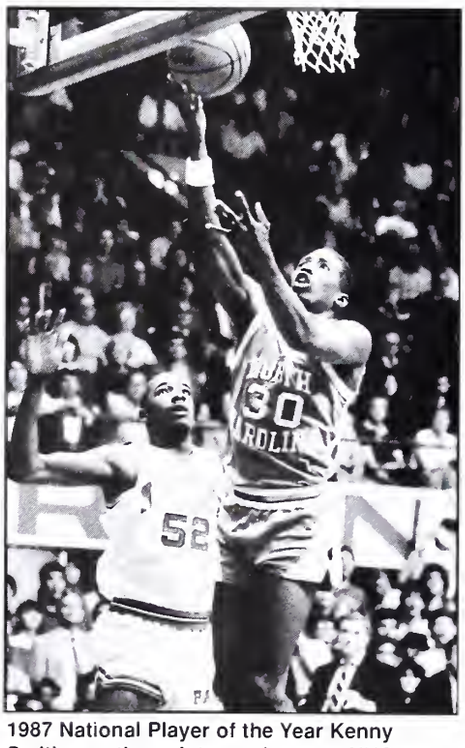
- Three Tar Heel freshmen – Phil Ford (1975), Sam Perkins (1981), and Jerry Stackhouse (1994) – were named ACC Tournament Most Valuable Players. Ford averaged 16.4 points, led the team with 161 assists and shot 51.6 percent from the floor as a freshman. Only one non-Tar Heel freshman has won ACC Tournament MVP honors.



1987 National Player of the Year Kenny Smith was the point guard on two UNC teams that went undefeated in ACC play — the 1984 and '87 squads.

THE OPENING OF THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

The 1986 unit, led by first-team All-America Daugherty, won its first 21 games en route to a 28-6 mark. The Tar Heels were devastated at season's end by injuries to starters Steve Hale and Joe Wolf and backup center Warren Martin. For the second straight year, UNC was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the eventual national champion, Louisville. The season was also highlighted by the opening of the Dean E. Smith Center on the Carolina campus on January 18, 1986. The No. 1-ranked Tar Heels celebrated the move into their new 21,572-seat arena by beating No. 3 Duke that day, 95-92.

The 1987 squad proved to be another of Coach Smith's best teams. Led by a strong senior nucleus which featured All-ACC players Kenny Smith and Wolf, UNC tied the school record for victories in a season with 32 while completing a 32-4 ledger and a No. 2 ranking in the final AP poll. For the second time in four years, UNC finished the ACC regular-season a perfect 14-0. UNC advanced to the NCAA East Regional finals before falling to eventual NCAA finalist Syracuse. Smith capped a brilliant Tar Heel career by surpassing Ford as the school's all-time assist leader and being named Basketball Times' National Player of the Year.

Going into the 1988 campaign, many experts viewed the Tar Heels as an inexperienced bunch that might struggle more than some of Carolina's previous great squads. Smith again confounded the experts as he took a team with only one senior and molded it into a 27-7 unit that won the ACC regular-season championship outright. The season was highlighted by the play of first-team All-America forward J.R. Reid. Among the 27 wins was a thrilling 96-93 overtime win over pre-season No. 1-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.

While the 1988 team was inexperienced, the 1989 team was a veteran unit, led by a tremendous starting backcourt of seniors Jeff Lebo and Steve Bucknall. Carolina won its first ACC Tournament championship in seven years as it beat arch-rival Duke 77-74 in the championship game at Atlanta. The Tar Heels went on to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament before losing to eventual NCAA champion Michigan. UNC's 29-8 record marked the ninth successive season in which Carolina had won as many as 27 games. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the final United Press International poll.

After the 1989 campaign, Reid opted to forgo his final year of eligibility to enter the NBA draft and was chosen as the fifth selection of the draft by the Charlotte Hornets. With Reid, Lebo and Bucknall gone, Smith's 1990 unit was his youngest in recent memory. In an "off" year by Carolina standards, UNC still finished a solid 21-13. The 13 losses were the most by a Carolina team since the 1952 squad finished 12-15. Despite the double-digit losses, Carolina tied for third in the ACC standings, won at least 20 games again and was invited to the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels made the most of their opportunity there. Carolina pulled off a stunning upset of top-ranked Oklahoma, 79-77, in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Austin, Texas. Carolina was seeded eighth in the region, while the Sooners were the entire tournament's top seed. Rick Fox hit an off-balance bank shot in the lane as time expired to provide Carolina with the winning points.

A 10TH FINAL FOUR FOR CAROLINA BASKETBALL

Carolina returned to the highest level again in 1991 as Smith led his team to its eighth NCAA Final Four during his tenure and the school's 10th trip overall. Carolina was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP and UPI polls as UNC finished 29-6. The Tar Heels won the 12th ACC Tournament championship in school history, a league record, by embarrassing arch-rival Duke 96-74 in the championship game at the Charlotte Coliseum. It was Smith's 11th tournament title in his 30th season at the helm of the Tar Heels.

A strong senior nucleus of All-ACC forward Rick Fox, center Pete Chilcutt and point guard King Rice led Carolina to its 21st straight 20-win season and its 17th successive bid to the NCAA Tournament. During the course of the season, UNC passed Kentucky as college basketball's all-time winningest team. In NCAA play, Carolina beat Northeastern, Villanova, Eastern Michigan and Temple to win the NCAA East Regional before being edged by Smith's alma mater, Kansas, coached by UNC alumnus Roy Williams, in the NCAA semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

In 1991-92, the Tar Heels, led by senior guard Hubert Davis, finished 23-10 overall and reached the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament

WILLIAMS' THREE-POINTERS HELP BRING HOME SMITH'S SECOND NCAA TITLE

The 1993 Tar Heels added yet another trophy to the mantle of one of the sport's greatest coaches when the squad captured Coach Smith's second NCAA title by defeating Michigan 77-71 in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. The team's 34-4 record broke the school record for victories in a season.

Picked by some sportswriters to finish third in the conference, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 mark that included a spectacular, come-from-behind victory over Florida State on January 27, 1993 in the Smith Center – a game in which UNC rallied from a 21-point second-half deficit. The Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the top seed in the East Regional, cruised to their 13th straight appearance in the Sweet 16 and survived frenetic battles against Arkansas and Cincinnati to earn Smith's ninth Final Four trip.

Battling Kansas in the NCAA semifinals for the second time in three years, Carolina advanced to the finals behind the outside shooting of sophomore guard Donald Williams. Other invaluable contributors to the NCAA title included the inside power of senior forward George Lynch and second-team All-America junior center Eric Montross and the quieter, yet equally important, contributions of point guard Derrick Phelps and small forward Brian Reese.

In the finals against Michigan, Williams once again provided the spark, pouring in 25 points and making five-of-seven three pointers for the second straight game. As Williams was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, the celebration erupted simultaneously on Bourbon Street and Franklin Street with Carolina fans relishing the pinnacle of college basketball success once again.

The 1993-94 Carolina squad battled incredible expectations throughout the season and finished the year atop the Associated Press poll with a 28-7 record. A team with an interesting mixture of experience and youth, Carolina won Coach Smith's 12th ACC Tournament title with a 73-66 victory over Virginia in the finals. Seniors Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Brian Reese and Kevin Salvadori provided the leadership, while highly-touted freshmen Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace showed glimpses of the future of Carolina basketball. The season ended with a disappointing loss to Boston College in the second round of the NCAA East Regional, but the early tournament exit could not overshadow the contributions of a senior class that won 114 games, two ACC Tournament titles, a national championship, and advanced to two Final Fours.

MORE FINAL FOURS AND A WIN TO REMEMBER

The 1994-95 campaign began as one of uncertainty and ended as a further testament to the genius of Coach Smith and the skill of his players. With the loss of four senior starters from the previous year, the 1994-95 Tar Heels were one of Smith's most inexperienced teams in recent years. Nonetheless, sophomores Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace stepped into their new starting roles beside senior guard Donald Williams and junior swingman Dante Calabria and led UNC to a 28-6 record, a tie for the ACC regular-season championship and the 12th NCAA Final Four in school history. Early in the season, Carolina became the first college basketball program in NCAA Division I history to amass 1,600 wins.

America, became the eighth Tar Heel to be named National Player of the Year when Sports Illustrated honored him as such. Wallace was a second-team All-America choice who finished the year as the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage (63.5 percent), while Williams completed his career as UNC's career leader in three-pointers made (221) and attempted (572).

The 1995-96 Tar Heels were as inexperienced a team as Coach Smith has placed on the court in his tenure. Stackhouse and Wallace both opted for the 1996 NBA Draft after their sophomore seasons and went as the third and fourth picks in the first round, respectively. Three freshmen – Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja – were among the top seven players on the team which finished 21-11 overall and third in the ACC with a 10-6 mark. Jamison became the first Tar Heel and just the fifth player in league history to be named first-team All-ACC as a freshman. The season was highlighted by an overtime win at Maryland, a 20-rebound performance at Virginia by Jamison and remarkable comeback victories at home over Wake Forest and Duke. Carolina also won at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium for the third consecutive year, behind 26 points by Shammond Williams and 25 by Jeff McInnis.

The 1996-97 season was uniquely special. Carolina opened ACC regular-season play with an unprecedented three straight losses, but regrouped to finish 11-5 in conference play and finish in a tie for second place with preseason favorite, Wake Forest. UNC won all eight of its games in February and earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament after winning the ACC Tournament title.

Jamison earned All-America and first-team All-ACC honors as he led the squad with 19.1 points and 9.4 rebounds per game. Freshman point guard Ed Cota was named the ACC's Rookie of the Year as he led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists with 6.9 per game.

The Tar Heels went into the ACC Tournament as the No. 3 seed, but knocked off Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim the school's 14th title. Shammond Williams averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists and was named the Tournament MVP. The Tar Heels swept through the NCAA East Regional, beating Louisville by 23 points in the regional final at Syracuse. Williams earned MVP honors after he scored a game-high 22 points against the Cardinals. He hit eight three-pointers in the two games in the Carrier Dome.

Smith became the winningest coach in Division I college basketball history with his 877th win. That came in the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, a 73-56 triumph over Colorado. It was fitting that Smith's final season would include a trip to the Final Four, the 11th of his career.

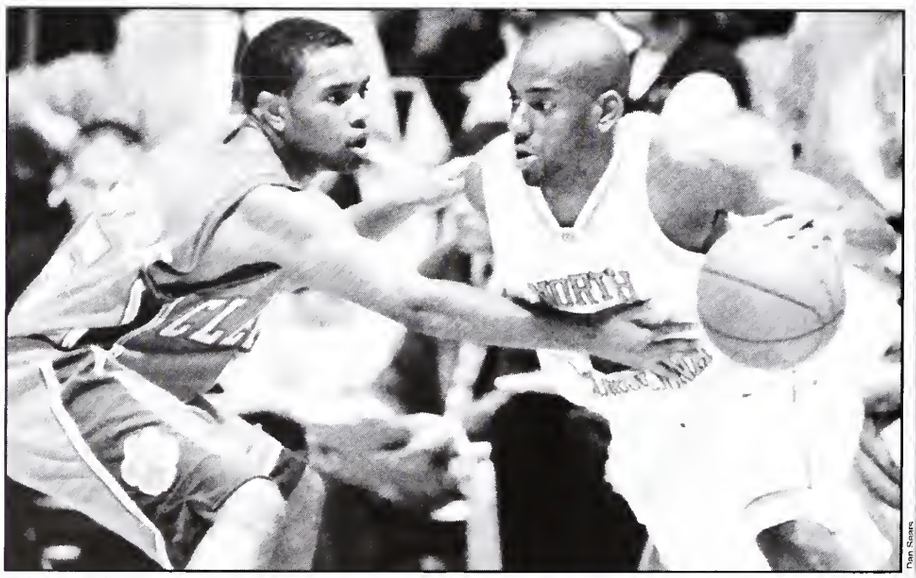
The trio of Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja, all freshmen in 1995-96, guided Carolina to ACC championships and Final Four berths in 1997 and 1998.

GUTHRIDGE STEPS UP

Just prior to the start of the 1997-98 season, Smith stunned the basketball world when he announced his resignation as head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith, who said at the press conference "I am the luckiest guy in the world - to be in Chapel Hill, to at the University of North Carolina with this faculty, this student body," turned the program over to longtime assistant Bill Guthridge.

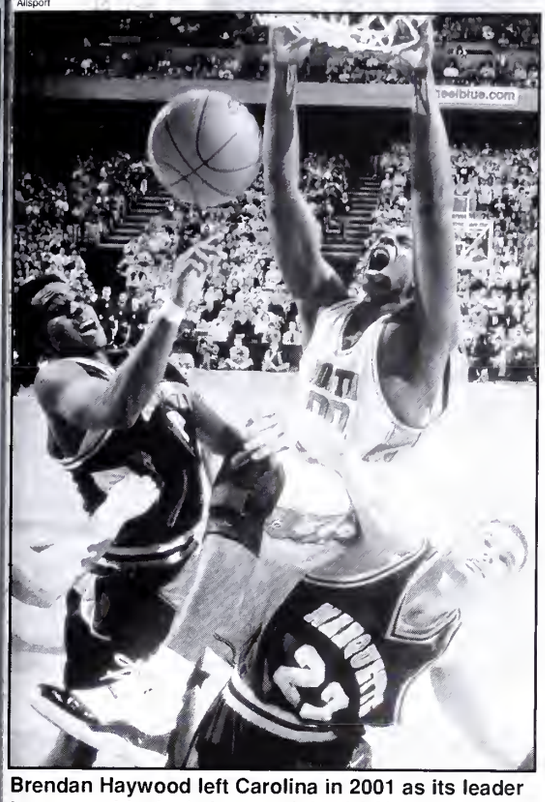
Guthridge picked up right where his mentor left off. The 60-year-old Kansas State alumnus became the winningest first-year head coach in NCAA history as he directed the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, ACC Tournament title, NCAA Regional crown, Final Four berth and No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. Guthridge was named the National Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, CBS, The Sporting News and the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award).

Carolina was led by consensus National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison, who led the ACC in scoring with 22.2 points per game and in rebounds with 10.5 per game. Jamison became the third player in ACC history – with

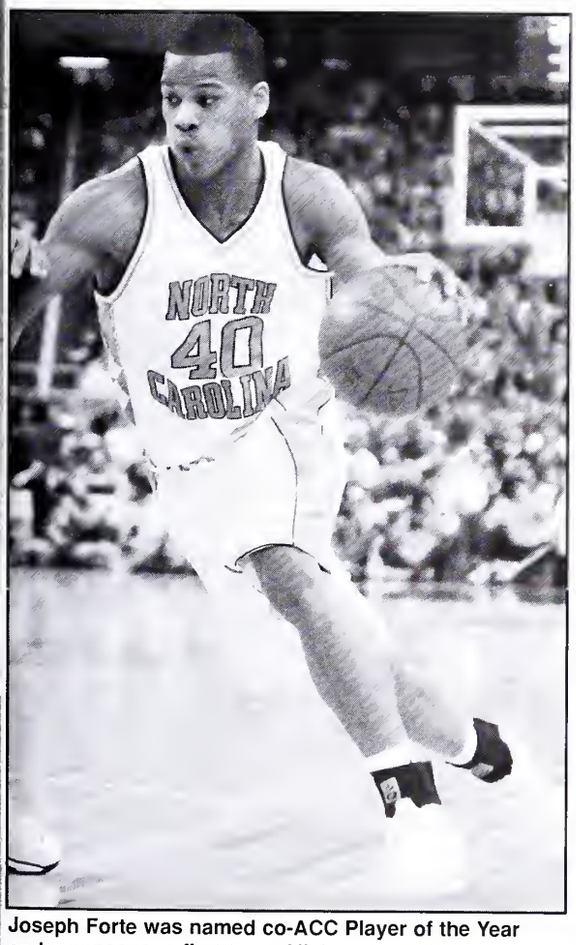


Dan Sears

Ed Cota played in three Final Fours and is the only player in NCAA history to compile 1,000 points, 1,000 assists and 500 rebounds in a career.



Brendan Haywood left Carolina in 2001 as its leader in careeer blocked shots and the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage.



Joseph Forte was named co-ACC Player of the Year and a consensus first-team All-America in 2000-01.

UNC's Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957 and Duke's Christian Laettner in 1992 – to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison finished his career fourth all-time at UNC in rebounds with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. The Charlotte, N.C., native set a single-season record as a junior with 316 field goals and 389 rebounds and scored 822 points, second only to Rosenbluth's 895 in 1957. Jamison became the first player in ACC history to be named first-team All-ACC in his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons.

Cota established a UNC single-season assist record with 274, shattering Kenny Smith's previous mark of 235. Shammond Williams became the leading three-point shooter in UNC history with 233 and set the all-time ACC single-season free throw percentage record as he made 133 of 146 for a percentage of .911.

The Tar Heels twice defeated No. 1 ranked Duke. Those wins give Carolina nine all-time wins over No. 1 ranked teams, matching Notre Dame for the most wins over the nation's top-ranked programs. The first UNC win over Duke was a 97-73 decision on Feb. 5, 1998, and was only the second meeting between the two schools in which the teams were ranked 1-2 in the nation. The second win over the Blue Devils came in the ACC Tournament final. Jamison had 35 points and 11 rebounds in the regular-season game and 22 points and 18 rebounds in the ACC championship game.

After the season, Jamison and fellow first-team All-ACC selection Vince Carter declared for the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. Jamison was the fourth player selected in the first round and Carter was taken with the very next pick. The two players were then traded for each other with Jamison ending up with the Golden State Warriors and Carter with the Toronto Raptors. Carter went on to win the NBA Rookie of the Year Award, becoming the fifth Tar Heel to win the honor.

In 1998-99, the Tar Heels faced the early NBA departures of Carter and Jamison, but still finished 24-10. Carolina won 10 ACC regular-season games for the seventh straight year and advanced to the championship game of the ACC Tournament with a stunning 86-79 victory over fifth-ranked Maryland. Senior Ademola Okulaja earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding, steals and three-point baskets.

In 1999-2000, Guthridge led Carolina to the NCAA Final Four for the second time in his three years as head coach. The Tar Heels reached the national semifinals despite 13 regular-season losses, tying the record for most losses by a Final Four team. UNC, a No. 8 seed entering the NCAA Tournament, reached its sixth Final Four in 10 years and 15th overall, setting an NCAA record.

Ed Cota in 1999-2000 became UNC's all-time assist leader with 1,030 and became just the third player in NCAA history to top the 1,000-assist plateau. Cota ended his career as the only player in NCAA history to score 1,000 points, dish out 1,000 assists and grab 500 rebounds.

Also in 1999-2000, freshman guard Joseph Forte became Carolina's fifth ACC Rookie of the Year honoree after leading the Tar Heels and all conference freshman in scoring. Forte is the first freshman in school history to lead UNC in scoring and scored more points as a freshman than any other player in school annals.

Carolina upset No. 3-ranked and top-seeded Stanford, 60-53, in the NCAA Second Round. In the regional final, Forte scored 28 points and Carolina beat Tulsa, 59-55.

DOHERTY RETURNS HOME

Following the 1999-2000 season, head coach Bill Guthridge retired with a record of 80-28 in three years as a head coach, which tied the record for most wins by a three-year head coach in NCAA history.

Matt Doherty, the head coach at Notre Dame, was named head coach on July 11, 2000. Doherty started at small forward on Carolina's 1982 NCAA championship team and tri-captained the 1984 squad that went unbeaten in ACC regular-season play.

Under Doherty, the 2001 Tar Heels reeled off 18 consecutive wins, including 11 in a row to start ACC play, and moved into the No. 1 national ranking in February. The 18-game winning streak included wins at NCAA qualifiers UCLA, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Duke and Wake Forest. The Tar Heels knocked off Duke, 85-83, at Cameron Indoor Stadium behind Joseph Forte's 24 points and 16 rebounds and Brendan Haywood's two free throws with three seconds to play.

Carolina finished the ACC 13-3 and shared regular-season title honors with eventual national champion Duke. Forte earned first-team All-America honors and was named co-ACC Player of the Year as he averaged 20.4 points per game. Haywood set the single-season school record with 120 blocked shots. Doherty was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

When ESPN's award-winning Sports Century program selected the greatest coaches of the 20th Century, it came to no surprise that Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith was among the top seven of alltime. Smith joined other legends Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden as the preeminent coaches in sports history.

Smith's tenure as Carolina basketball coach from 1960-97 is a record of remarkable achievement and consistency. In 36 seasons at UNC, Smith's teams had a record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

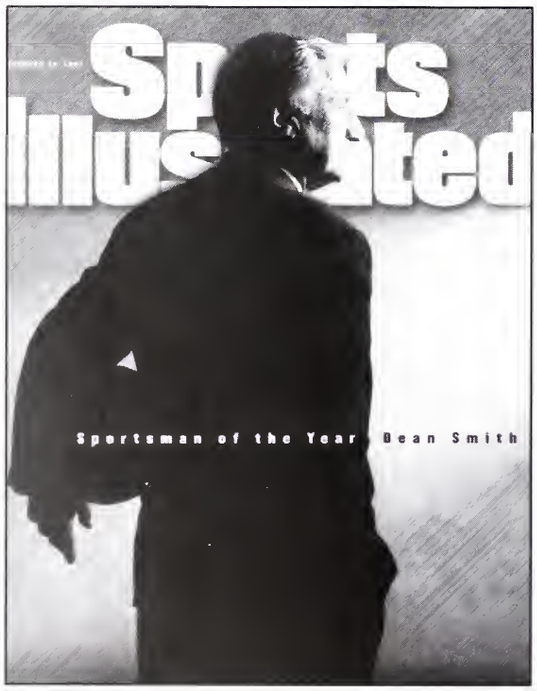
However, that's only the beginning of what his UNC teams achieved.

• Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of his final 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons. In fact, no other coach has even won 20 games for 27 years.

• A 28-7 finish in his final year also gave Smith an NCAA-record 22nd season with at least 25 wins. Fresno State's Jerry Tarkanian ranks second in 25-win seasons with 14 and former UCLA Coach John Wooden is third with 11.

• From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top 10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

• In an era of tremendous competitiveness in the college game, the Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final top 15 teams 28 of his last 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996, and were among the top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Kentucky was second on the list with 23 appearances in the final top 15. Carolina teams coached by Smith finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).



Dean Smith was named the 1997 Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year.

• Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

• The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

• In 36 years of ACC competition, Smith's teams finished in the conference's upper division all but one time. That was in 1964, when UNC was fifth and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season play under Smith at 6-8.

• Carolina's sweep of the 1997 ACC Tournament was its 13th under Smith. Mike Krzyzewski of Duke ranks second in ACC Tournament titles with seven.

• When Carolina advanced to the NCAA Final Four in 1997, it marked the 11th trip for one of Smith's teams to the national semi-finals. Only Wooden, with 12, has been there more often.

• Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Arizona's Lute Olson has the second-longest streak in history at 17.

• In his last 31 years, Smith led the Tar Heels into the NCAA Tournament 27 times.

• From 1981 through 1993 Carolina reached the Final 16 of NCAA play every season. That 13-year streak is the second-longest in Tournament history to a 14-year stretch by UCLA from 1967 to 1980.

Those numbers just begin to tell the story of what Dean Smith accomplished in his Carolina career. He has done more for his sport than perhaps any coach in history. Respected by fellow coaches, admired by his current and former players and acknowledged as one of the greatest minds in the game, Smith has accomplished nearly everything imaginable in his sport.

The awards and accolades continue to be given to Smith, even after he stepped down as Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith was named Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated, Honorary Coach of the Year by the United States Olympic Committee, received the Arthur Ashe Award for Courage at the annual ESPY Awards, and was honored with special awards for contributions to basketball by the Atlanta Tipoff Club and New York Athletic Club.

Smith also became the first recipient of the Mentor Award for Lifetime Achievement, given by the University of North Carolina Committee on Teaching Awards for "a broader range of teaching beyond the classroom."

He's recognized throughout the sports world for his character, his innovations to the game and his ability to have established Carolina's program as one of the greatest in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produce on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

As in any vocation, it's one's peers who truly know the daily rigors of a job best and can most appreciate what it takes to excel in the competitive world of collegiate coaching. The accolades Smith has received over the years are an indication of the respect they have for him.

Those have been common throughout his career, but mushroomed in March 1997 as he surpassed Adolph Rupp as the coach whose teams have won the most games in college history.

Here are a few examples of what some coaches said when that milestone was reached:

Former UCLA Coach John Wooden: "It's a tremendous accomplishment to break Coach Rupp's record. More than anything, it shows excellence over a long period of time. But what's more impressive to me about Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of basketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketball than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players the things Dean has taught them. I've admired him because there's more to him than just wins."

Texas Tech's Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't say. He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's the way it should be. But let me put it in perspective. His being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do it through all the years without ever having a problem with any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very singular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it's a great achievement, indicative of a guy who really knows how to coach and has decided from day one that things are going to be done the absolute right way.

"He's not going to tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, great accomplishment for a coach."

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski: "It's singularly such a tremendous accomplishment. People might say 'Yeah, you're at North Carolina and you've been there a number of years." You be there a number of years. You be competitive. And you be as consistent with excellence as he has been.

"So whatever is written about him in a positive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit, as we all would, to the players who have played for us, but in this situation the praise for him should rise well above that for the players who played for him."

Roy Williams of Kansas: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. And when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire lives, their entire existence ... and what they're going to do after they leave you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature."

Dave Odom of South Carolina: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the numbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on every single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often and there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, he's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever I think about it, I shake my head in wonder."

Former Virginia Coach Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the ACC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The Carolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into the league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped create national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other ACC teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Carolina has certainly had its share of sensational players. But, it was Smith who molded them into great teams by stressing unselfish play on offense and emphasizing hard-nosed defense on the other end of the court.

That's why he received praise for years and not just because of his all-time record.

In the December 1993 issue of College Sports magazine, Smith was hailed by his fellow NCAA Division I coaches as the coaching colleague they respected the most. In a survey of 46 Division I basketball coaches, Smith topped the most respected category and was second in the most feared category behind Indiana's Knight. The latter was based on the question, "Who would you least like to face in a big game?"

The results of a 1986 Dallas Morning News poll of college head coaches also revealed resounding admiration for Smith. In a survey of head coaches at that season's NCAA Final Four, Smith received 49 votes as the nation's top basketball coach.

At the 1995 NCAA Final Four, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer conducted a poll of all attending coaches. The paper asked, "If you could spend one hour talking with one living person about college basketball, who would it be?" The top three answers were UCLA's Wooden, Indiana's Knight and Smith.

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a group of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete Newell and Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball team in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans had finished a controversial second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the challenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a group of improving international teams.

He promptly named his longtime Carolina assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's John Thompson, to be his assistants on the Olympic Team staff.

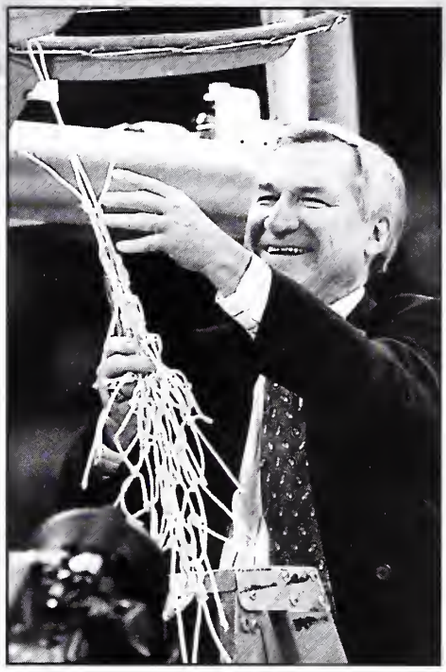
Smith's teaching skills were put to one of their toughest tests. In the international game, it's not about building character and preparing young men for life, it's about winning under extreme pressure.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into a cohesive unit during a few short weeks in that summer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, sweeping through the Games undefeated and beating Yugoslavia in the championship game. Emphasizing a tough pressure defense and a fast-breaking, attacking style on offense, the Americans returned to the top of the international game.

Just as Smith used his talents to develop that 1976 all-star team into an Olympic champion, he has prepared a host of players for successful careers in the NBA.

"UNC is a plus-four school," according to Orlando Magic Vice President of Basketball Operations-Player Personnel John Gabriel, "meaning that if I rate a player as the 10th-best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar Heel automatically jumps him to number six. The plus-four rating is based upon the success of former Tar Heels in the NBA."



The Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley a few years ago. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

While statistics can sometimes be misleading, in Smith's case the figures are just too overwhelming to ignore.

During his last 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, Carolina was among the most dominant teams in the history of the game. The Tar Heels had a record of 813-207 in that span, winning 79.7 percent of their games. That's an average record of 26-7 per year.

In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina won either the regular-season or tournament title or both. That level of consistency would be an amazing feat for any college basketball program, but it is particularly significant in a league as competitive as the ACC.

Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it's become a habit. No school in the country won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA was second with 751 victories. The Tar Heels also had the most wins over his last 20 seasons with 539, and over his last 10 years with 268.

Smith's teams earned 27 or more wins in 14 of his last 17 seasons.

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right. The Tar Heels' astounding consistency on the court was due in large part to Smith's efforts to teach his players the fundamentals and the intricacies of the sport.

That dedication, along with a graduation rate among his lettermen of 97.3 percent, have been instrumental in Carolina's success.

Without compromising a commitment to academic excellence, Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and a sweep of the National Invitation Tournament in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell and Bob Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

Former Marquette Coach Al McGuire once said of him: "If anyone was born to be a coach, it's Dean Smith. He's the Jack Armstrong-type person."

A key to Smith's success has been his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play.

He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.

Smith had tremendous rapport with his players and that was an important aspect of what he has accomplished. He had an uncanny talent for getting the best out of all his players, from his many All-Americas to the last guys on the bench.

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Only four times since 1970 did Carolina failed to hit 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year.

Among Smith's many innovations are the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teamming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

Smith's amazing knack for being such a good instructor developed early. Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA title in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

After graduating from Kansas, Smith served as an assistant coach at his alma mater to Phog Allen and Dick Harp and then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. In 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Since Smith taught the fundamentals and complexities of basketball so well, former Tar Heel players, assistant coaches and managers have moved on to enjoy very successful careers in all fields of endeavor.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Many of his assistants went on to head coaching jobs, including Larry Brown, Roy Williams, John Lotz, Kenny Rosemond, Eddie Fogler, Randy Wiel and Bill Guthridge.

Brown, inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in September 2002, led UCLA to the 1980 NCAA finals and won the 1988 NCAA championship at Kansas. He led the Philadelphia 76ers to the NBA Finals and was named NBA Coach of the Year in 2001. Williams has led Kansas to three Final Fours and has earned National Coach of the Year honors. Lotz and Rosemond earned Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year honors at Florida and Georgia, respectively. Fogler won an SEC title and was named National Coach of the Year at Vanderbilt and had a successful career at Wichita State and South Carolina, as well.

Guthridge, Smith's assistant at Carolina for 30 seasons, received numerous head coaching offers during his stint at UNC. Guthridge, however, made a career decision to stay in Chapel Hill and not pursue head coaching positions. He was named Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997, when Smith resigned. Guthridge posted a 34-4 record in his first year as a head coach and was named National and ACC Coach of the Year as the Tar Heels won the ACC championship and played in the Final Four. Two years later, Guthridge again directed Carolina to the Final Four.

Matt Doherty, Carolina's current head coach, played for Smith at UNC from 1980-84. In his first year as the Tar Heels' head coach, he was named The Associated Press Coach of the Year. Billy Cunningham, Smith's first All-America, was head coach of the 76ers in 1983 when Philadelphia won the NBA title.

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality college coaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, more than 50 of his players went on to play pro basketball in the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association and many more played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

After playing in Smith's program at Carolina, most Tar Heels have made a smooth transition to the rigors of the professional game. Six of Smith's players won rookie of the year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Scott, Robert McAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter.

"Coming out of high school I had all the ability in the world, but I didn't know the game," says Jordan, a five-time NBA MVP. "Coach taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quickness, when to use that first step, or how to apply certain skills in certain situations. I gained all that knowledge so that when I got to the pros, it was just a matter of applying the information. Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to score 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

In his 36 years at Carolina, Smith coached players who went on to become doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Many of them attribute their success to the skills and lessons they carried over from their time as a player under Smith.

"He was always very supportive and has provided me with invaluable insight for most of the major decisions I've made since 1971," says Charles Waddell, Assistant Director of Marketing and Sponsorships for the NFL's Carolina Panthers. "He is one of the best teachers I've had. He taught us to work hard, to sacrifice for the good of the team, to maximize your strengths and minimize your weaknesses. Although he taught us these lessons through basketball, they have provided me with a strong foundation for life."

Here are more examples of what some of his former players have said about him in the past:

Indiana Pacers' President Donnie Walsh: "He was great. I could really relate to him. Basketball-wise, he hit me with things defensively I had never heard before. I thought, 'No one has ever told me to do this, but it works.' When basketball was over, he cared about how you were fitting in socially and academically."

Milwaukee Bucks Head Coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world."

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience— the things that we learned away from the game.

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult."

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty. He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year. That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said, 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has. He won in the '60s, '70s, '80s and '90s and if you look at his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or left behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young, he's learned to deal with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

Smith ranks as the winningest coach in the history of the NCAA Tournament with 65 victories. In 36 ACC Tournaments, he had a coaching record of 58-23, a winning percentage of .716.

Smith, who played for the legendary Phog Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is also one of only two men to both play on and coach an NCAA championship team. Smith was a member of the Jayhawk squad that won college basketball's top prize in 1952. He then coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 1982 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Bob Knight played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coached Indiana to three titles.

Certainly, one of the highlights of Smith's coaching career came in the form of Carolina's NCAA championship in 1982. The Tar Heels began that year ranked No. 1 in both polls, ended the regular season the same way and won the NCAA Tournament by beating Georgetown, 63-62, in the title game. Carolina's wire-to-wire first-place finish is one of the few times in college basketball history that has been accomplished. The championship game with Georgetown still is considered one of the best-played and most exciting title contests in 58 years of the post-season classic.

The 1993 NCAA championship was also won in New Orleans, where the Tar Heels had won the 1982 title. Again going down to the wire just as the 1982 game did, this championship was not decided until Carolina's Pat Sullivan and Donald Williams sank several crucial free throws in the closing moments to ensure a win over Michigan.

Carolina was invited to the postseason in each of Smith's last 31 years as head coach. In 27 of those seasons, including the last 23 in succession, Carolina was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament. In 1970, 1971, 1973 and 1974, Carolina was invited to play in the NIT, winning the championship in 1971 and finishing third in 1973. But those appearances came before the NCAA opened its tournament in 1975 to admit more than one member from any conference.

Smith is also the author of "Basketball: Multiple Offenses and Defenses," which has been translated into several foreign languages. His autobiography, "A Coach's Life," hit bookstores in November 1999.

Smith's ability to teach the fundamentals of life and basketball to his players has earned him many honors. He won the prestigious Golden Plate Award from the American Academy of Achievement, which honors people from all fields. The list of other coaches to win the award include Wooden, the late Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, the late Bear Bryant of Alabama, Joe Paterno of Penn State and the late Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

After taking Carolina to the NCAA championship game in 1977, Smith was named National Coach of the Year by the NABC. He received similar honors from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and Basketball Weekly in 1979 and from Medalist in 1982. He was named the Naismith National Coach of the Year in 1993 after leading the Tar Heels to the national crown.

In 1993, the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association named Smith the ACC Coach of the Year, an honor he received on seven other occasions as well—1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979 and 1988.

Smith has received honorary doctorates from Eastern College in St. Davids, Pa., and Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. In 1984, he was cited by his alma mater, Kansas, with the Distinguished Service Citation. This honor is the highest KU bestows upon an individual to acknowledge outstanding achievements for the betterment of society.

In addition to basketball, Smith especially enjoys golf, music and reading. He also has a special interest in theology.

Smith's wife, Linnea, is a physician. He has five children. Daughters Mrs. Sandy Combs, Mrs. Sharon Kepley and Kristen Caroline and son Scott are all Carolina graduates. Kelly Marie is a senior at the University of Pennsylvania. Coach Smith also has six grandchildren. Tim and Sharon Kepley have a son, Drew, and a daughter, Megen; Scott and Kelli Haynor Smith have a daughter, Morgan Kay, and a son, Brian Dean; and Sandy and Steve Combs have two sons, Luke and Sam.

Bill Guthridge stepped down as the head coach at the University of North Carolina on June 30, 2000, after a record-setting coaching career. He won more games than any college head coach in history after two seasons and tied Everett Case for coaching victories after three years. He took his teams to two Final Fours in three years and was consensus National Coach of the Year in 1998. He played or coached in 14 Final Fours, more than any person in NCAA history. That includes two as a head coach at Carolina, 10 as a Tar Heel assistant coach, and one each as a player and assistant coach at his alma mater, Kansas State.

Prior to being appointed head coach to succeed the legendary Dean Smith, Guthridge was Smith's assistant for 30 years. He joined the UNC staff in 1967 after five years as assistant to the widely-respected Tex Winter at Kansas State. In his 33 seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels won two NCAA championships (1982 and 1993), played in 12 Final Fours, won the ACC Tournament championship 13 times and played in the ACC Tournament championship game a total of 22 times. The Tar Heels finished first or tied for first in the ACC regular season 16 times, finished second or tied for second in the ACC regular season 11 times, and finished third or tied for third in the ACC regular season six times. UNC never finished lower than third in the ACC regular season standings and participated in the postseason in all 33 years (29 of the 33 years in the NCAA Tournament, including the last 26 years in a row).

He was a part of 867 wins in 33 seasons at Carolina and 960 college coaching victories overall, including 93 wins on the staff at Kansas State. Those 960 wins are a Division I record for most wins as both a head and assistant coach. He was on the sidelines for a record 73 NCAA Tournament victories, including 71 at Carolina and two at Kansas State.

Guthridge played college basketball at Kansas State. After two seasons as a high school coach, he began his college coaching career as a Wildcat assistant for five seasons. His 14 NCAA Final Four appearances include one as a player at Kansas State (1958); one as an assistant coach at Kansas State (1964); 10 as an assistant at Carolina (1968, '69, '72, '77, '81, '82, '91, '93, '95 and '97) and two as UNC's head coach (1998 and 2000).

The Parsons, Kan., native posted an 80-28 record in three seasons as Carolina's head coach. Guthridge led the 1998 and 2000 UNC teams to the Final Four. He joined Ohio State's Fred Taylor as just the second man in history to lead teams to two Final Fours in his first three seasons as a head coach. He was named National Coach of the Year in 1997-98 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award), CBS/Chevrolet, the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club and The Sporting News. That year, UNC went 34-4 and Guthridge set the NCAA record for wins by a first-year head coach with 34. He directed UNC to the 1998 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championship and was named the ACC Coach of the Year.

Tom Copeland/News & Record

He guided the Tar Heels to team tournament championships in the 1997 Great Alaska Shootout, 1998 ACC Tournament, 1998 NCAA East Regional, 1998 Preseason NIT, 1999 Maui Invitational, 1999 Food Lion MVP Classic and 2000 NCAA South Regional.

"He stuck by us through (last) season," said forward Jason Capel. "He's someone you could always talk to. He's a very caring, genuine person who is good-hearted. That's his biggest quality, and he really cares about us much more than as athletes, but as people."

He coached 1997-98 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison and 1998-99 NBA Rookie of the Year Vince Carter, both of whom entered the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. In his tenure at UNC, he coached five (5) National Players of the Year (Phil Ford, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, Jerry Stackhouse and Antawn Jamison), six ACC Players of the Year (Larry Miller, Mitch Kupchak, Ford, Jordan, Jamison and Joseph Forte), five ACC Rookies of the Year (Sam Perkins, Jordan, J.R. Reid, Ed Cota and Forte) and 28 first-team All-ACC players. He also coached 66 players who were selected in the NBA and/or ABA Drafts.

He coached summer basketball in 1967 and 1970 in Puerto Rico and was named coach of the year in 1967.

Guthridge was an assistant coach along with Hall of Famer John Thompson under Dean Smith in 1976 when the United States won the Olympic gold medal in Montreal.

CAROLINA'S COACHING HISTORY

For 39 seasons from 1962-2000, North Carolina basketball teams were guided by two of the finest coaches in history—Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge.

Smith's 879 victories are the most ever by a Division I coach. His teams won at least 20 games a record 30 times, including 27 in a row, another all-time high.

Smith's last 33 teams finished in the top three of the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference each season. They won 17 ACC regular-season titles and 13 ACC Tournament championships. Both figures are league records.

Carolina made a record 27 appearances in the NCAA Tournament under Smith, including the last 23 in a row. That is also a Tournament record. Tar Heel teams coached by Smith reached the NCAA's Final Four 11 times and won national championships in 1982 and 1993.

Guthridge, an assistant to Smith for 30 years, directed the Carolina program for three years and twice took his team to the Final Four in that short period.

He won 80 games in his time as head coach. That equals the all-time NCAA record for most victories by a coach in his first three years on the job.

While these two men took Carolina to remarkable heights on the basketball court, some outstanding coaches also preceded them. Two of those coaches—Ben Carnevale and Frank McGuire—have been inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame. Tom Scott, who worked here between those two, had a six-year record of 100-65. The following are short sketches on the careers of Carnevale, Scott and McGuire.

BEN CARNEVALE

Ben Carnevale only spent two seasons as Carolina's head coach, but both were remarkable years. He led the Tar Heels to a 22-6 record in 1945 and a 30-5 mark in 1946.

Carnevale had been a collegiate star at NYU for the legendary Howard McCann. The Violets were undefeated in 1936 and only lost five games in his three years of varsity competition. After graduating in 1938, he coached the freshmen there before playing one season of professional basketball. He then became head coach at Cranford High in New Jersey.

A lieutenant in the Navy, he came to Chapel Hill during Worth War II as part of the V-12 program here. When Carolina Coach Bill Lange resigned to become athletic director at Kenyon College as the 1945 season was approaching, Carnevale volunteered to help out in the emergency.

Because of the war, his first Carolina team was comprised completely of newcomers with the exception of one returning varsity reserve and one "B team" member from 1944. The "White Phantoms", as the team was called, still posted a 22-6 record and won the Southern Conference Tournament championship.

Bigger things were to come the following year. Led by Jim Jordan, John "Hook" Dillon, Horace "Bones" McKinney and Bob Paxton, Carolina posted a 30-5 record.

Carnevale's team advanced to NCAA Tournament play at Madison Square Garden. The White Phantoms beat NYU, 57-49, in the Eastern semi-finals and then edged Ohio State, 60-57, in an overtime battle for the Eastern crown. In the NCAA Finals, Carolina was beaten by Oklahoma A&M and the Aggies' seven-foot star, Bob Kurland. Carolina simply could not match the inside power of Kurland who finished with 23 points in a 43-40 victory.

Following the 1946 season Carnevale left Chapel Hill to take the head coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. His first Navy team went 16-1 and earned the school's first-ever berth in the NCAA Tournament. He was named national coach of the year because of his success that season.

Carnevale spent 20 seasons at Navy, posting a career record there of 257-160. One of his most stunning victories came in 1959 when the Mids upset a Carolina team that had been ranked in the Top 10 almost all year in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Five of his Navy teams played in the NCAA Tournament and two others competed in the National Invitation Tournament. He was named president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches for the 1965-66 season and has been inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame because of his coaching career.

Carnevale retired from coaching following the 1966 season to become athletic director at his alma mater, NYU. He served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee, which selects the field for the postseason tournament in his final year at Navy and until 1970 while at NYU.

TOM SCOTT

When Ben Carnevale left Carolina following World War II to go to Navy, Tom Scott was chosen as his successor.

A native of Pittsburgh, Kan., he was a four-year varsity player at Kansas State. Upon graduation he played with the Wichita Henrys AAU team, which won the 1931 national AAU championship.

He coached on the high school level in Kansas for five years before becoming head coach at Concordia College in Minnesota for two seasons. In 1938 he began a four-year stint as head coach at Central Missouri State. After serving four years in the Navy during World War II, he returned to Central Missouri State where his teams won conference titles four out of the next five seasons. In fact, Scott's teams only lost five league games in that period and advanced into post-season play each year.

His first Carolina squad posted a 19-8 record in 1947, dropping a narrow 50-48 decision to N., C. State in the Southern Conference Tournament finals. Carolina was 20-7 in 1948, 20-8 in 1949 and 17-12 in 1950. The Tar Heels had remarkable success against Duke in that three-year period, winning seven of eight games.

After back-to-back 12-15 seasons, he resigned to become coach of the famed Phillips 66 Oilers AAU team in Oklahoma. In six seasons at Chapel Hill his overall record was 100-65, a winning percentage of .665.

He returned to the college scene in 1954 as athletic director at Davidson. However, when Danny Miller resigned at mid-season, Scott had to take over the coaching duties. He remained in that position until 1960. His overall collegiate record was 315-173.

He hired Lefty Driesell as his replacement which turned out to be a great move. Driesell took the Wildcats to four NCAA Tournaments and posted seven 20-win seasons there.

Scott also coached the Davidson golf team from 1955 until 1976. His teams won five Southern Conference titles.

Scott was honored twice by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1968 he received an award of merit for 35 years of coaching. In 1975 he received an Appreciation Award for contributions to the NABC.

From 1967 to 1975, Scott served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee and was its chairman from 1970-1975. He was instrumental in bringing the 1994 Final Four to Charlotte, as well as over 50 regional and early-round NCAA Tournament games.

FRANK McGUIRE

The man who brought the Atlantic Coast Conference its first NCAA basketball championship was Frank McGuire. He also changed the course of college basketball history by hiring Dean Smith as an assistant in 1958. Smith, of course, would go on to develop the most consistent program in the game's history.

McGuire came to Chapel Hill prior to the 1952-53 season after Tom Scott had resigned to become head coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers.

A native New Yorker, McGuire had spent the previous five seasons at St. John's. His 1952 team had reached the NCAA championship game before losing to Kansas.

McGuire starred in football, basketball and baseball at Xavier High School in Brooklyn. He then played both basketball and baseball at St. John's.

After graduation, he returned to Xavier as basketball coach. His teams there went 126-39. His high school coaching was interrupted by Navy duty during World War II. He spent some of his time at Chapel Hill in the pre-flight unit, leading to his interest in Carolina.

Because of his success at Xavier, he was selected to follow the great Joe Lapchick at St. John's in 1947. In five seasons at St. John's, his teams won 103 games and lost just 36. All five of his teams there were chosen for the National Invitation Tournament and two also played in the NCAA Tournament.

However, when the Carolina job became available, McGuire could not turn it down. His first Tar Heel team went 17-10. In nine years here he would have just one losing season, a 10-11 mark in 1955.

His nine-year record was 164-58. Carolina finished first or tied for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings five times in this period.

Because of his background in New York City, that proved to be a fertile recruiting area for McGuire. With his many contacts among New York high school coaches, he developed a pipeline of top talent for Carolina. This "underground railroad" brought players like Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg and Bob Cunningham to Chapel Hill. They were the starters on McGuire's greatest team — the 1957 squad that went 32-0 and swept the NCAA title.

Later McGuire would talk New York-area stars like York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham into attending Carolina.

The highlight of McGuire's Tar Heel career was certainly the 1957 season. This team had a perfect starting unit for McGuire. The 6-5 Rosenbluth was one of the national scoring leaders, averaging 28.0 points a game, as well as 8.8 rebounds. Brennan, a 6-6 forward, was the top rebounder at 10.4 and second-leading scorer with a 14.7 mark. The 6-9 Quigg gave the Tar Heels an inside presence. Kearns was the playmaker in the backcourt and also scored at a 12.8 clip. Cunningham was the team's defensive stopper.

As was the case with many of McGuire's teams, the starting unit played most of the way. Of Carolina's 32 victories, 13 were by 10 points or less. Fans began to believe this was a team of destiny after a double-overtime triumph at Maryland in early February.

The 1957 Final Four in Kansas City is still regarded by many as the most exciting of all time. Carolina topped Michigan State with Johnny Green, 74-40, in a triple-overtime semifinal game. Then the very next game the Tar Heels had to go three overtimes again before outlasting Kansas, featuring Wilt Chamberlain, 54-53.

Prior to the 1958-59 season, McGuire hired Dean Smith to be his top assistant. This move would change the course of college basketball history as Smith was selected to replace him when McGuire moved to the NBA for the 1961-62 season.

As coach and vice-president of the Philadelphia Warriors, he led his team to a 49-31 record. The Warriors—with Hall of Famers Paul Arizin, Tom Gola and Chamberlain—took the Boston Celtics to seven games before losing in the NBA's Eastern Conference finals.

McGuire left coaching briefly before returning to the college ranks for the 1964-65 season at South Carolina. He compiled a 283-142 record in 16 seasons with the Gamecocks. That gave him a career record of 549-236 in 30 years. He led South Carolina to its only ACC regular-season title in 1970 and only ACC Tournament championship in 1971.

McGuire, a member of the Naismith Hall of Fame, suffered only three losing seasons in his 30 years as a college head coach. He was the first coach in history to win over 100 games at three different schools and also to take two different schools to the NCAA championship game. He is one of only a few coaches to take three different schools to the NCAA Tournament.

He was named national coach of the year three times—in 1952 at St. John's, 1957 at Carolina and 1970 at South Carolina.

He remains the only man in history to win ACC titles at two different schools. In 1970 he received the Award of Merit from the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1977 South Carolina renamed its homecourt "Frank McGuire Arena."

CAROLINA'S ACC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament is annually the pre-eminent college roundball clash in the country and no team has won as many tournament championships or dominated the history of the event more than the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels have won a record 15 ACC Tournament crowns, an unmatched 74 games and been the No. 1 seed on 18 occasions. Coach Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 championships, six more than Mike Krzyzewski of Duke, who has won seven titles, the second-highest number of titles by one coach.

Carolina won its first ACC Tournament title in 1957 as the Tar Heels would go on to post a perfect record and win the NCAA championship. UNC is the only school in the conference that won at least one ACC Tournament in the 1950s (one), 1960s (three), 1970s (four), 1980s (three) and 1990s (four). From 1954 to 1974, only the conference tournament champion was invited to the NCAA Tournament; UNC won five tournaments in that era, including three straight from 1967-69.

If remarkable seems like too strong a word to describe UNC's history in the ACC Tournament, consider these statistics:

✓ UNC has entered the tournament as the No. 1 seed 18 times, compiling a 35-10 record in that slot and winning eight titles as the No. 1 seed.

✓ UNC has been seeded lower than No. 5 just once and has been seeded lower than No. 3 only four times since 1966 (No. 4 in '89, '90, 2000 and No. 7 in 2002). UNC won the tournament as the No. 4 seed in 1989.

✓ The ACC Tournament has been played in five different cities, and UNC has a winning record in each arena, most prolifically a 30-10 (.750) record in Greensboro.

✓ A UNC player has won the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player 16 times. Those players read like a who's who list of college basketball talent. They include: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1967, 1968), Charles Scott (1969), Lee Dedmon (1971), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1975), John Kuester (1977), Dudley Bradley (1979), Sam Perkins (1981), James Worthy (1982), J.R. Reid (1989), Rick Fox (1991), Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Shammond Williams (1997) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

Overall, Carolina has a 74-33 record in the ACC Tournament. Dean Smith's teams were 58-23 in the event. No other coach in history has won more than 31 games. Smith's teams played in the title game in 21 of his 36 years.

Carolina won three straight ACC Tournaments from 1967-69. Overall, the Tar Heels have won 15 conference crowns, more than any other ACC school.

North Carolina lost its first two games, both as the No. 5 seed, in 1954 and 1955. Skippy Winstead's 25 points, 70 percent shooting and 40 minutes played did not go unnoticed in the 1954 game against N.C. State, garnering first-team all-tournament honors.

The breakthrough season for the Tar Heels in the ACC Tournament came in 1957. A group of displaced Yankees playing for Frank McGuire ran the table in the conference regular season, 14-0. That year marked the first time that UNC reached the finals of any conference tournament since the 1947 finals of the Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semi-final and then defeated South Carolina by 20 points in the final to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle as well as a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship en route to 38 points, the team title and MVP honors.

Carolina made the championship game again in 1958 and '59 but lost to Maryland and NC State, respectively.

THE 1960s

Carolina won only four of 10 games from 1960-66, but dominated the ACC over the next three years. In an era when only the ACC Tournament champion would advance to the NCAA Tournament, the pressure to win the conference tournament was greater than ever. The 1967-68-69 Tar Heel teams rank as one of the great eras in conference history. Those teams went a combined 36-6 in regular-season league action and a perfect 9-0 in the ACC Tournament.

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time in 1967 and was the site of Smith's first title. Larry Miller and the Tar Heels defeated N.C. State in the quarterfinal by three points, Wake Forest in the semifinal by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Miller was selected the Most Valuable Player (25.7 points, 8.3 rebounds). Joining Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad was Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds). Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar were selected to the second team.

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. A fiery second-half start by North Carolina was extinguished by the Gamecocks, as USC produced an 18-4 burst to tie the score at 74 at the end of regulation. The Tar Heels had to come from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

In the championship game, Carolina led N.C. State by only five at the half, but the final tally was a lopsided 87-50 victory for UNC's second straight title. Miller (25.3 points, 8.7 rebounds) repeated his selection as the MVP, and Grubar (13.3 points, 4.7 rebounds) was also a first-team selection. Charlie Scott and Clark were second-team selections.

North Carolina entered the 1969 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed for the third year in a row after posting a 12-2 league record. It was a tale of two "Charlies" in the semifinals as Carolina's Charlie Scott and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis battled. Davis won the first half, as the Deacons led 37-29 at intermission. Scott took over in the second stanza, enabling UNC to win, 80-72. Scott and Grubar scored 23 points each.

Carolina and Duke squared off in the championship game. The Blue Devils led by nine at halftime and the Tar Heels lost Grubar to a first-half knee injury. The second half featured one of the most memorable performances in ACC history as Scott scored 25 of his game-high 40 points on 12 of 13 shooting. Thanks in large part to Scott's efforts, Carolina won its third straight ACC title, 85-74, and Scott earned MVP honors.

The 1970s brought many changes in the ACC. South Carolina left the conference after its victory in the 1971 ACC championship game. Georgia Tech filled the void in 1980 with its membership. In addition, beginning in 1975, a team no longer had to win the ACC Tournament to receive an NCAA Tournament bid since the NCAA began sending out at-large bids with the '75 tourney.

One constant in the Seventies was the success of the Tar Heels, who won four ACC Tournaments.

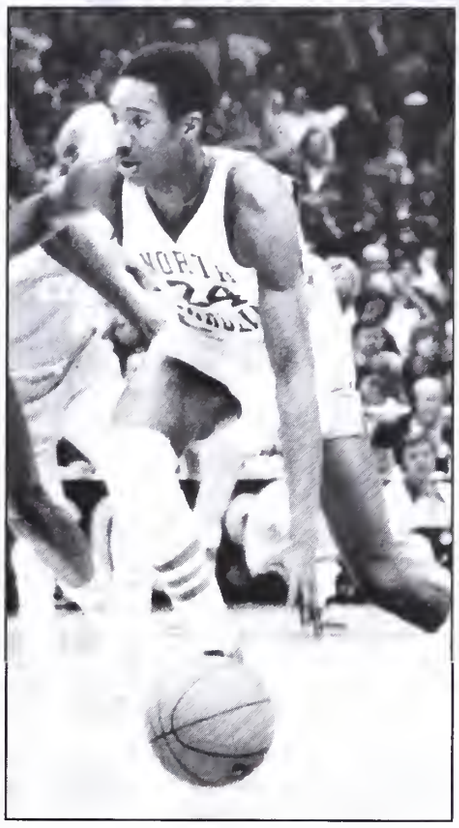
The first of the four came in 1972. Carolina entered the tournament with three blemishes on its conference ledger, but earning the No. 1 seed. South Carolina's secession from the league left only seven teams in the tournament, and Carolina received a bye into the semifinal against Duke. Four Tar Heels scored in double figures, led by Bobby Jones, who carded a double-double (14 points, 11 rebounds) as the Tar Heels won, 63-48.

Carolina was in the championship game for the fifth time in six years. Maryland was in the finals for the first time since 1958. Carolina posted a large early lead, 21-9, and the two teams ran even for the rest of the first half with UNC leading at intermission, 41-29. Robert McAdoo (15 points, 7.5 rebounds per game) became the fifth Tar Heel in six years to win the MVP award as Carolina held on for a 73-64 win. Dennis Wuycik (17.5 points, 5 rebounds) and George Karl (13 points, 2.5 rebounds, .571 shooting percentage) joined McAdoo on the all-tournament first team.

In 1975 the Tar Heels trailed Wake Forest in the quarterfinals by eight points with 50 seconds left. Freshman point guard Phil Ford (44 seconds to play), Mitch Kupchak (36 seconds), Walter Davis (30 seconds) and Brad Hoffman (two seconds) hit jump shots and the Deacs missed a pair of free throws to force overtime. In the extra session with the game tied at 96 Carolina took possession with 58 seconds to play. UNC went to the "Four Corners" offense, and drew a technical against Wake Forest with 29 seconds to play for not forcing UNC to take action. Ford hit the free throw and another free throw six seconds later as Carolina triumphed, 101-100. UNC's winning effort was led by Davis (31 points, 12 rebounds), Kupchak (16 points, 14 rebounds) and Ford (25 points).

In the 1975 semifinals Clemson came back from 11 down at the half to force overtime. A tip-in basket by Kupchak gave Carolina an overtime lead it would not relinquish. Ford led UNC with 29, including 15 of 18 from the free throw line.

In the championship game against defending NCAA champion N.C. State, Ford excelled running the "Four Corners." Carolina took the lead, 56-55, on a jumper by Davis with nine minutes left and then went into its delay offense. Ford hit two baskets in the next two and one-half minutes, and N.C. State did not score during a 5:18 stretch, paving the way for a 70-66 Tar Heel victory. Ford (26 points per game) was the MVP and was joined on the first-team by Kupchak (13.7 points, 13.7 rebounds). Davis netted 19 points and grabbed 7.7 rebounds over the three games.



Walter Davis averaged 19 points and 7.7 rebounds in three ACC Tournament wins in 1975.

No. 1 seed Carolina met No. 7 Virginia in the finals of the 1977 Tournament. Ford scored 19 points in the first half, but the Cavaliers led by one at the break. Virginia led 64-56 with 7:08 remaining, but over the next 5:03 the Tar Heels blitzed the Wahoos, 15-1. Freshman Mike O'Koren and John Kuester led the final charge after Ford fouled out with 5:45 to play and UVa still holding a 64-61 advantage. A layup by Tom Zaliagaris gave the Tar Heels the lead with 4:22 left and a layup by Bruce Buckley with 3:37 to play broke a 67-all tie and gave UNC the lead for good. Kuester's take-charge attitude and perfect free throw shooting earned him the tournament's MVP award. Ford and O'Koren were also first-team selections.

At the end of the 1979 regular season, Carolina and Duke were tied atop the ACC standings. Duke defeated UNC in the final game of the regular season, but the Tar Heels won the draw for the tournament's top seed and first-round bye. Carolina defeated Maryland, 102-79, in the semifinal, as five Tar Heels scored in double figures. Al Wood led with 19 points on 8 of 10 shooting.

The tournament ended just as the regular season had — a contest between the Blue Devils and Carolina. O'Koren led five Tar Heels in double figures with 18 points as the UNC prevailed, 71-63. Dudley Bradley scored 16 points with seven steals and four assists and earned MVP honors. O'Koren had 18 points and eight rebounds and was 10 for 11 from the free throw line. The Tar Heels turned the ball over just seven times and forced 14 Duke miscues. O'Koren and Dave Colescott, averaging 15 and 12.5 points per game in the tournament, respectively, also were first-team selections.

The Tar Heels struck fast in the '80s, claiming their first title of the decade in 1981. UNC beat Wake Forest, 58-57, in the semifinal as Mike Pepper nailed a 16-foot jumper with eight seconds to play for the victory. Freshman Sam Perkins scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, James Worthy added 12 points and 11 rebounds and Pepper had 12 points to pace the Tar Heels. The Deacons led 53-46 with 9:40 to play but Pepper and Perkins each hit two baskets. The second basket by Perkins gave UNC a 56-55 lead with 4:12 to play. Alvis Rogers hit an 11-foot jumper to give Wake the lead back with 1:30 to play, but Pepper hit the game-winner with eight seconds to go.

Carolina and Maryland met in the 1981 final in the Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The game was tied seven times in the second half, but the Tar Heels finally went ahead for good with 2:53 to play on a Jimmy Black steal and layup. Wood scored twice in the final 2:00 to help UNC to a 61-60 triumph.

Perkins (17.7 points, 8.3 rebounds) became just the second freshman ever, and first since Ford, to be named the Everett Case Award winner. Worthy (13 points, 7.7 rebounds) joined Perkins as a first-team all-tournament selection.

In 1982 No. 1 Carolina led No. 2 Virginia, 34-31, at halftime behind 16 points by Worthy. Freshman Michael Jordan scored four of the Tar Heels' first five field goals in the second half.

1989 ACC Tournament MVP J.R. Reid led Carolina to victory over Duke in one of the most intense games in ACC history.

His fourth straight field goal, with 8:44 to play, actually was Carolina's last of the game. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 remaining, Carolina spread the floor and held the ball. Virginia fouled six times over the next 7:06, putting Matt Doherty on the foul line for 1-and-1 with 28 seconds left. Doherty hit the first for a two-point edge. Virginia committed a turnover with three seconds to play, Doherty hit two free throws with a second left and Ralph Sampson dunked uncontested with one second to go for the final margin of 47-45, UNC. The field goal by Sampson was the first by the Cavaliers since the 7:34 mark.

Worthy (13.3 points, 8 rebounds), Perkins (9.7 points, 7.3 rebounds) and Jordan (11.7 points, 3 rebounds) were named to the first-team all-tournament team, with Worthy named MVP.

Carolina reached the ACC Tournament championship game four more times in the '80s but did not win another team title until 1989. Carolina breezed to the championship game, recording a 15-point rout of Georgia Tech in the quarterfinal and a 30-point romp over eighth-seeded Maryland.

The 1989 ACC championship game was one of the great meetings ever between Carolina and Duke. Earlier in the year, playing without senior point guard Jeff Lebo, UNC toppled undefeated and No. 1-ranked Duke by 20 points in Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Blue Devils ended the regular-season, however, with a two-point win over the Tar Heels in the Smith Center.

The ACC Tournament finale was one of the fiercest, most intense games in conference history. The Tar Heels committed 26 turnovers and forced 18 mistakes by the Blue Devils. Junior center J.R. Reid and senior guard Steve Bucknall led the Tar Heels. Reid had 14 points and nine rebounds; Bucknall had 10 points and five assists. Carolina led 20-8 early but Duke rallied to within four at the half.The game was tied five times in the second half and Duke led just one time, with 5:28 to play. Bucknall hit a driving basket and subsequent free throw with 1:46 remaining to break a 66 tie. Bucknall and King Rice hit four straight free throws apiece to clinch the win.

Reid (16.0 points, 8.0 rebounds per game) won the Everett Case Award. Lebo (10.7 points, 3.0 assists), Bucknall (10.3 points, 5.3 assists) and Rick Fox (12.0 points, .619 shooting percentage) were also all-tournament selections.

Two years after taking out Duke in the 1989 championship game, Carolina again gave the Blue Devils nightmares in 1991. After hard-fought victories over Clemson and Virginia, the Tar Heels met a Duke team that had swept the regular-season series from UNC. Carolina raced out to a 15-4 lead and thrashed Duke, 96-74. Fox made 10 of 16 field goal attempts for 25 points and Hubert Davis netted 17. Rice had 12 points and seven assists and did not commit a single turnover. Fox averaged 17.3 points and 9 rebounds over the three games and was named the MVP. Davis averaged 13.7 points and hit nearly 64 percent from three-point range in the tournament.

The 1994 ACC Tournament marked a record 13th title for the Tar Heels. Carolina faced Wake Forest in the semifinal in what proved to be one of the most exciting games in the history of the ACC Tournament. Wake Forest led, 76-70, with 2:15 to play in regulation, but UNC point guard Derrick Phelps helped cut the lead to three with 11 seconds to play. Phelps made the first of two free throws and then rebounded his own miss. He fed sophomore guard Dante Calabria who drove the lane and hit a twisting bank shot with three seconds left for a tie at 81.

Carolina led 84-81 in overtime until a three-pointer by Rusty LaRue tied the game with 39 seconds left. Freshman Jerry Stackhouse, the Tournament's MVP, hit the game-winner for the Tar Heels on a baseline move with five seconds on the clock. Wake Forest guard Randolph Childress, who scored 31 points, just missed a long three-pointer as the clock expired.

Stackhouse's 14 points and seven rebounds and Eric Montross' 12 points and nine rebounds led Carolina past Virginia, 73-66, in the 1994 title game.

Wake Forest edged Carolina, 82-80, in the 1995 championship game as Childress scored 37 points, including all nine of his team's points in overtime. The teams traded leads in the second half, but the Tar Heels were forced to play without injured All-America center Rasheed Wallace. Wallace had scored 33 points against Joe Smith and Maryland in an overtime win in the semifinals, but sprained an ankle with just over six minutes to play in the final. Stackhouse had 24 points in the final. He drained a three-pointer with 4.5 seconds remaining in regulation to send the game into overtime, but just missed a three at the final buzzer which would have won the game and the title.

In 1997, the Tar Heels rallied from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish in a tie for second place. Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim its 14th conference crown.

Shammond Williams earned MVP honors averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and freshman point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

In 1998, Carolina defended its ACC Tournament championship for the first time since 1981-82 with victories over N.C. State, Maryland and Duke. Those wins avenged regular-season losses against the same three opponents. Jamison injured a muscle in the overtime win over the Terrapins in the semifinal, and was questionable for Sunday's championship game. However, Jamison was relentless against the Blue Devils, sparking UNC to a 15-point win over the nation's top-ranked team with a 22-point, 18-rebound effort that ranks as one of the finest in championship game history.

Jamison had 25 points in the opening round win over the Wolfpack. The Tar Heels trailed throughout much of the second half against Maryland, but rallied behind Shammond Williams to force overtime. Williams added 10 points in the extra stanza to lead Carolina to an 83-73 triumph.

Carolina's win over Duke in the championship game was UNC's sixth in title game matchups against the Blue Devils. The game was tied at 57 with less than 11 minutes to play, but the Tar Heels reeled off the next 13 points. Carolina finished the game shooting 54.4 percent from the floor, while Duke hit on just 32.8 percent of its field goal attempts. Williams and Vince Carter had 19 and 16 points, respectively.

In 1999, Carolina defeated fifth-ranked Maryland, 86-79, in the semifinal to reach the championship game for the third straight year and the eighth time in the decade. Sophomore Max Owens scored a career-high 23 points, Ademola Okulaja added 19 points, four assists and three steals and Jason Capel shook off a back injury to score 13 points to lead Carolina to the improbable victory. The Terps had knocked off the Tar Heels by 13 points in Chapel Hill in January and by 17 in College Park a month before the ACC Tournament. But the Tar Heels built a 23-point lead midway through the second half and withstood a Terrapin rally that cut the margin to four points with 26 seconds to play. Duke defeated Carolina, 96-73, to win the title.

In 2001, the Tar Heels advanced to the championship game for a record 27th time, but fell to Duke, at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. Capel set UNC records in the Tournament by hitting six for six from three-point range in a 99-81 win over Clemson in the quarterfinal. Joseph Forte had 27 points and 12 rebounds and Brendan Haywood held first-team All-ACC center Alvin Jones to just seven points in UNC's 70-63 win over Georgia Tech in the semifinal. The Yellow Jackets overcame a 13-point Tar Heel lead and took a 55-53 lead with 7:02 to play, but Forte scored nine points in the last five minutes to clinch the win.

CAROLINA'S FANTASTIC FINISHES

Amazing comebacks and heart-stopping finishes have been a Carolina basketball trademark for more than 40 years. Many of the most memorable wins in UNC history have occurred when the Tar Heels had to overcome large deficits or hit clutch shots in late-game situations.

That sense of the dramatic may have been initiated in Chapel Hill by the 1957 national champions, but it was perfected by Dean Smith. Who could ever forget Walter Davis's 28-foot prayer against Duke in 1974; or the 20-point comeback against Wake Forest in 1992; or George Lynch's steal and dunk to overcome a 21-point deficit against Florida State in 1993.

Carolina fans remember in the last four wins of the 1993 NCAA title drive, the Tar Heels trailed by at least double digits in each contest. In 1995-96, Carolina rallied to beat Wake Forest and Duke in a span of four days despite a second-half deficit of 18 points to the Deacons and 17 points against the Blue Devils.

Carolina's poise, discipline and belief in each other have been the calling card of the Tar Heels.

1957 SEASON

In Carolina's incredible 32-0 national championship season, the Tar Heels had to pull out several thrillers to preserve their perfect record. In the fourth game of the season, South Carolina took the Heels to overtime in Columbia before UNC prevailed, 90-86. The 17th win was a double-overtime contest, this time against Maryland in College Park. The Tar Heels trailed by four with just two minutes left in regulation before emerging as the 65-61 victors. The next game was at home in Woollen Gym against Duke, and the score was tied with a minute to play. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73. The 23rd win was one of Carolina's many battles with Wake Forest that season. Trailing by four with just three minutes remaining in Winston-Salem, the Tar Heels pulled out a 69-64 win. Only three games later, the Heels met the Deacons again in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament semifinals in Raleigh. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win for its fourth victory over Wake Forest of the 1956-57 season. In the NCAA Tournament, the close contests continued. In the national semifinals, the Spartans of Michigan State went three overtime periods with Carolina before falling, 74-70. Pete Brennan hit a jump shot with only three seconds left in double overtime to force the third extra frame. The NCAA championship game began with 5-11 Tommy Kearns jumping center against 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of the Kansas Jayhawks and ended in an epic battle that went three overtimes. Tar Heel star Lennie Rosenbluth fouled out of his last college game in regulation, but the rest of the team picked up the slack. Joe Quigg hit two free throws with only six seconds remaining in the final overtime period to give Carolina a 54-53 win. In October of 1999, Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 NCAA title game as its second-favorite game of alltime.

Lennie Rosenbluth and the Tar Heels won triple-overtime thrillers in both Final Four games to win the 1957 NCAA title.

The Carolina bench jumps for joy as Charles Scott hits the game-winner as time expires, giving the Tar Heels an 87-85 win over Davidson in the 1969 NCAA East Regional Final. The victory gave UNC its third straight Final Four appearance.

CAROLINA 76, WAKE FOREST 64
JANUARY 4, 1967

Playing in Winston-Salem, Carolina was engaged in one of its many classic battles with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. It seemed as though this was the Deacons' game to win, however, when Tom Gauntlett missed a 23-foot jumper with 15 seconds left that would have tied the game for Carolina. But the Tar Heels' Rusty Clark was there for the tip-in and the score stood at 74-74. Wake Forest brought the ball upcourt for its game-winning attempt, but Larry Miller came up with a steal at half-court. Miller drove to the basket, made an off-balance layup and just kept on running straight to the Carolina locker room. The Tar Heels ran out of Winston-Salem with another last-second victory, 76-74.

CAROLINA 86, UTAH 84
DECEMBER 29, 1967

In the semifinals of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore., Carolina faced unbeaten Utah. The Utes sprinted out to a 54-41 halftime lead. With 14:34 left in the contest, they had extended their lead to 67-50. But, led by Charlie Scott and Larry Miller, the Tar Heels staged a furious comeback. With just two minutes left, Dick Grubar scored his first basket of the game and tied the score at 82-82. Then, with the score tied at 84 apiece, Scott hit the game-winning shot with eight seconds to go. Both Scott and Miller finished with 24 points, and

MARCH 8, 1969

On this day it was Charlie Scott who provided the heroics in Carolina's ACC Tournament championship win over Duke in Charlotte. Dick Grubar missed most of the game with a knee injury and Bill Bunting played only sparingly before fouling out with 9:26 left. The Tar Heels trailed by nine at the half before Scott put on one of the greatest individual performances in Carolina history in the second 20 minutes. He connected on 12 of his 13 second-half field goal attempts, many of which were long jumpers, and scored 28 points in the half. Scott's game-high 40 points led the Tar Heels to a come-from-behind 85-74 win and their third consecutive ACC crown.

Walter Davis (No. 24) capped an eight-point comeback in the final 17 seconds of regulatoin with this 28-foot shot at the buzzer on March 2, 1974. Carolina went on to defeat Duke, 96-92, in overtime.

CAROLINA 87, DAVIDSON 85
MARCH 15, 1969

A week later, Scott again put on one of his amazing performances, almost single-handedly carrying the Tar Heels to victory. This time the opponent was Davidson and the setting was the NCAA East Regional final in College Park, Md. Scott was dazzling in the second half, connecting on 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Dick Grubar was out of action with a knee injury, but Carolina stayed close. Davidson had the ball with 1:05 remaining, and the score tied, 85-85. Gerald Tuttle drew a charge for the Tar Heels, setting up the final possession of the game. Carolina ran a play for Scott, who took the ball at the top of the key, soared above a defender and launched a 20-footer with three seconds left. The ball sailed through the hoop, the buzzer sounded and the Heels were off to their third-consecutive Final Four.

CAROLINA 73, DUKE 71
JANUARY 19, 1974

In a vintage Carolina-Duke hardcourt battle, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils on another last-second shot at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham. After the Tar Heels had rallied to tie the score at 71-71, Duke had the ball at halfcourt with four seconds left. But Bobby Jones stole the inbounds pass and hit a spinning, off-balance layup with one second left to give Carolina a 73-71 win.

MARCH 2, 1974

In perhaps the most famous comeback in college basketball history, the Tar Heels rallied from eight points down with 17 seconds remaining against Duke to force overtime at Carmichael Auditorium. Trailing 86-78, Bobby Jones connected on both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 ticks left on the clock. John Kuester cut the deficit to four with a layup when Duke threw away the inbounds pass, but there were still just 13 seconds left. Again, the Blue Devils lost the inbounds pass. Jones cut the Duke lead to two on a put-back of an Ed Stahl miss. Six seconds remained. With four seconds left, the Tar Heels fouled Pete Kramer, who missed the front end of the one-and-one. Stahl grabbed the rebound and called a timeout with but three ticks left. Mitch Kupchak inbounded the ball to Walter Davis, who launched a 28-foot prayer as time expired. The prayer was answered as Davis' shot kissed off the glass to tie the score at 86-86. Carmichael Auditorium erupted and Carolina went on to win 96-92 in overtime.

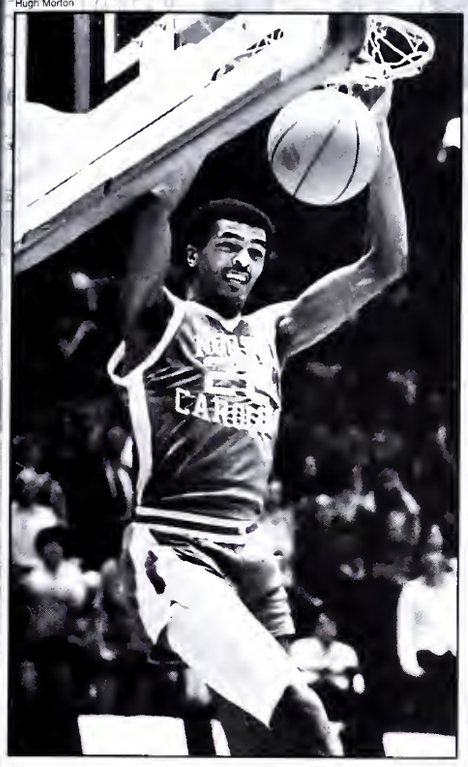
CAROLINA 101, WAKE FOREST 100 (OT), MARCH 6, 1975

In the opening round of the ACC Tournament in Greensboro, Carolina trailed Wake Forest 90-82 with only 50 seconds remaining. A 20-footer by Phil Ford cut the deficit to six with 43 ticks left. After the Demon Deacons turned the ball over in their delay offense, Mitch Kupchak scored on a drive to the hoop to pull the Tar Heels within four with 34 seconds to go. Wake Forest's inbounds pass grazed the scoreboard, turning the ball over to Carolina. Walter Davis quickly capitalized on the mistake, making the score 90-88 with 29 seconds left. Two Deacons failed to convert their one-and-one opportunities and Carolina called timeout with nine seconds on the clock. Brad Hoffman drove the baseline and nailed a 12-footer to tie the game with two seconds left. The Tar Heels pulled out the 101-100 win in overtime and went on to capture the ACC title two days later.

CAROLINA 70, NC STATE 69
JANUARY 17, 1979

Playing at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of NC State, it looked as though the Tar Heels would finally have the tables turned against them. Carolina charged out to a 40-19 halftime lead and was seemingly in control of the game. With 10:30 to play, the Heels still led by 17, but then the Wolfpack hit a torrid streak. State had cut the Carolina lead to three with 43 seconds to play when Hawkeye Whitney went to the line for the Wolfpack. At the same time, Carolina's Jimmy Black was whistled for a technical foul and Whitney hit two of the three free throws to cut the Wolfpack's deficit to one. After the inbounds play, Kenny Matthews hit a long-range jumper with 32 seconds left that gave State a 69-68 lead. Reynolds erupted. Carolina tried to regain the lead, but Dudley Bradley missed a long jump shot and State grabbed the rebound with 16 seconds left. Reynolds celebrated. But Bradley atoned for his miss when he stole the ball from State's Clyde Austin at midcourt and drove in for the game-winning dunk. A Wolfpack desperation shot bounded off the glass and Carolina escaped with a 70-69 triumph.

The 1975 Tar Heels celebrate after thrilling victories over Wake Forest and defending NCAA champion NC State brought home an ACC Tournament championship.



Dudley Bradley's steal and dunk in the final seconds gave the Tar Heels a 70-69 win at NC State on January 17, 1979.

CAROLINA 70, TULANE 68 (3 OT)
NOVEMBER 30, 1982

Coming off their 1982 national championship, the Tar Heels had opened the season with losses to St. John's and Missouri before returning to Carmichael for the home opener. The opponent was the Green Wave of Tulane, which had taken Carolina to the wire several times over the years. With the score tied at 49-49, Tulane's John Williams hit a layup with 1:29 remaining to put the Wave up by two. With just 36 seconds left, Michael Jordan scored on an offensive rebound to tie the game. But with eight seconds left, Williams made two free throws to give Tulane a 53-51 edge. Jordan was whistled for an offensive foul with four seconds remaining, and it appeared the Heels would start a season with three successive losses for the first time since 1928-29. However, Jordan came up with the Green Wave's inbounds pass and hit a spinning 24-foot prayer at the buzzer to tie the game. Carolina finally prevailed, 70-68, after three thrilling overtime periods.

FEBRUARY 10, 1983

Carolina trailed Ralph Sampson and second-ranked Virginia by as many as 16 points in the second half and was down 63-53 with just 4:12 left on the clock. Jimmy Braddock hit a long three-pointer from the right side to cut the margin to seven, and Matt Doherty made both ends of a one-and-one to close the gap to five. Sam Perkins also converted his one-and-one to trim the Cavalier lead to 63-60 with 2:54 remaining. Terry Holland then had Virginia stall and Perkins was forced to foul Sampson with 1:20 left. The All-America center missed the front end of his one-and-one and Michael Jordan proceeded to take over the game. Braddock missed a three-pointer, but Jordan was there to put in the rebound. As Rick Carlisle dribbled the ball upcourt for the Cavaliers, Jordan stole it and slammed it home for a 64-63 Tar Heel lead. Carlisle missed a potential game-winning shot and Jordan grabbed the rebound to seal the win as Carmichael exploded in celebration.

CAROLINA 75, MARYLAND 74
JANUARY 9, 1985

Late in Lefty Driesell's career at College Park, Maryland seemed poised to knock off Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium. The Terps led 72-69 with only 23 seconds left and star guard Keith Gatlin on the line for a one-and-one opportunity. The 83 percent foul shooter missed the front end and Kenny Smith rushed upcourt and sank a jump shot with 16 seconds left. Steve Hale fouled Adrian Branch, a 78-percent free-throw shooter, on the inbounds pass. Branch also missed. Dave Popson provided the winning points with a high-arcing jumper over Maryland defender Derrick Lewis from 16 feet away. The swish at 0:09 gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 lead. Curtis Hunter's steal and free throws secured the win as Carolina prevailed, 75-74.

In the second round of the NCAA Tournament, the higher-seeded Tar Heels played Notre Dame at South Bend. The score was tied 58-58 with 1:38 to go when the Irish's Donald Royal went to the foul stripe. Royal missed, but Jim Dolan grabbed the rebound and the Irish decided to hold for the last shot. As the clock wound down, point guard David Rivers lost control of the ball, enabling Carolina's Curtis Hunter to scoop it up and make a lead pass to Kenny Smith. Smith slammed it home for the game-winning shot and then stole the inbounds pass to seal the win.

CAROLINA 96, SYRACUSE 93 (OT)
NOVEMBER 21, 1987

Carolina was pitted against top-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass. Playing without standouts J.R. Reid and Steve Bucknall, the Tar Heels seemingly were undermanned against the powerful Orangemen, who a season earlier were NCAA finalists. Indeed, with 15:39 left in the game, Syracuse had built a 14-point lead. But Carolina stormed back, and Syracuse led only 85-83 when the Tar Heels had the last possession of regulation. Freshman Pete Chilcutt hit a rim-rattling, turnaround jumper at the horn to send the game to overtime. Carolina prevailed, 96-93, in the extra session to complete the upset of the Orangemen.

CAROLINA 80, JAMES MADISON 79
NOVEMBER 24, 1989

In Carolina's season opener against James Madison at the Maui Classic, the Tar Heels trailed, 79-70, with less than a minute to play. Rick Fox started the Carolina surge with a rebound basket with 51 seconds remaining. Hubert Davis stole the ball three seconds later and canned a three-pointer to cut the margin to 79-75. The Dukes' Billy Coles missed the front end of a one-and-one with 18 seconds left and Pete Chilcutt drilled a trey to cut the deficit to one with 10 ticks remaining. Steve Hood also missed a one-and-one attempt for James Madison, but Jeff Denny's pass upcourt was stolen by the Dukes' William Davis. However, Davis stepped out of bounds, giving Carolina one last shot. King Rice threw up an off-balance runner from the top of the key and the ball banked high off the glass and in as the buzzer sounded. Final score, 80-79 Carolina. It was not the first time James Madison coach Lefty Driesell had been the victim of a Tar Heel miracle.

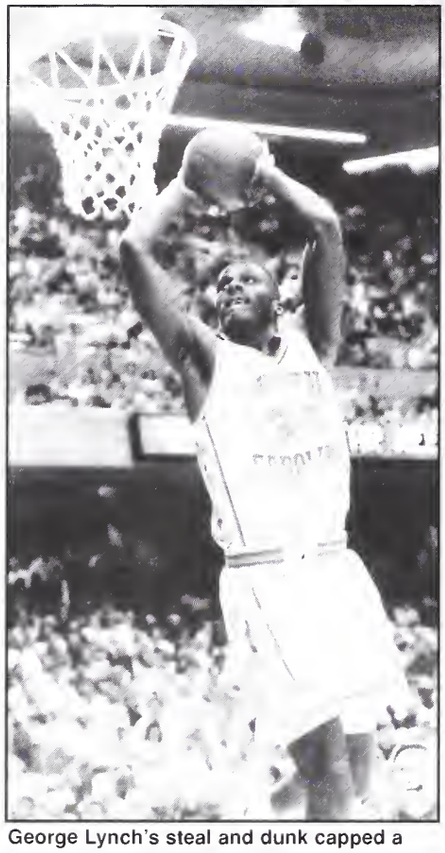
MARCH 17, 1990

Facing the top-ranked team in the country in the NCAA Tournament second round, Carolina was in jeopardy of not advancing to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1980. The Tar Heels trailed the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-73, with 55 seconds to play when Rick Fox nailed a three-pointer from 25 feet away with the shot clock winding down. The Sooners countered with a conventional three-point play and led, 77-76, when King Rice was fouled with 10 seconds left. Rice hit the first shot, but missed the second. The rebound hit off the Sooners out-of-bounds and Carolina had the ball with eight seconds to go and a 77-77 score. Fox took a pass from Hubert Davis and drove the right baseline. His kiss off the glass as the buzzer sounded gave the Tar Heels a 79-77 win and a 10th consecutive Final 16 berth.



George Lynch's steal and dunk capped a 28-4 Tar Heel rally as UNC overcame a 19-point second-half deficit and defeated Florida State, 82-77, on January 27, 1993.

CAROLINA 89, VIRGINIA 86 (2 OT) JANUARY 12, 1991

CAROLINA 80, WAKE FOREST 78 FEBRUARY 8, 1992

Just three days after knocking off top-ranked Duke, Carolina rallied from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on Brian Reese's jumper at the buzzer in Chapel Hill. The comeback was the biggest in terms of point deficit (22) in Tar Heel history. Despite making several mini-runs to cut that 22-point first-half deficit, UNC was behind by 20 with 14:49 to play and still trailed by 11 with 6:17 to go. The Tar Heels then went on a 10-0 run to cut the Demon Deacon lead to 75-74. Then, with 38 seconds remaining, Pat Sullivan tied the game at 78 with a pair of free throws – his only shots of the game. Reese came up with a steal that set up one final possession for Carolina with 16 seconds to go. After a timeout, Reese drove the lane and misfired off the front rim. But he followed his shot, grabbed his own rebound and launched a swish at the buzzer from 12 feet away to give the Heels an improbable 80-78 win. The final score was Carolina's first lead since it led, 3-2.

CAROLINA 82, FLORIDA STATE 77 JANUARY 27, 1993

One of the most memorable second-half comebacks in Carolina history came against Florida State on January 27, 1993. Seminole head coach Pat Kennedy spent the pregame browsing through the Carolina media guide, reading about the great Tar Heel comebacks of the past. Kennedy surely was unaware that his team would soon become another chapter in that storied history.

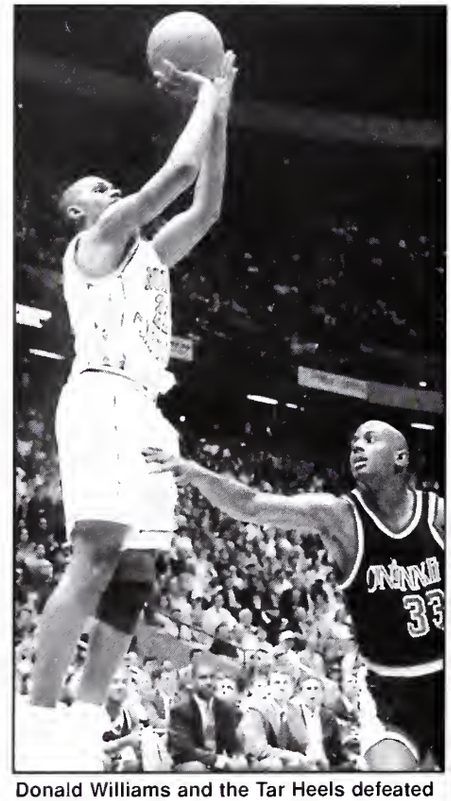
Florida State jumped out to a 45-28 advantage at the half and extended the lead to as many as 21 points in the second stanza. With under nine minutes to go, Carolina still trailed, 73-54. Spurred by pressure defense and long-range shooting, the Heels ran off 15 straight points to cut the deficit to four. Later, an Eric Montross jump hook with 1:59 left cut the FSU lead to 77-76. Then, in a play reminiscent of a Michael Jordan exploit against Virginia 10 years earlier, George Lynch stole a Charlie Ward crosscourt heave at midcourt and slammed the ball home to give Carolina a 78-77 lead. Clutch foul shooting by Donald Williams sealed the 82-77 victory. The Tar Heels had amazingly outscored the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes to end the game.

1993 NCAA TOURNAMENT

In the run to Carolina's fourth national championship, the Tar Heels had to overcome double-digit deficits on three different occasions against tough tournament competition. In the East Regional semifinal at the Meadowlands, Carolina trailed a quick and deep Arkansas team, 25-14, more than 10 minutes into the first half. Sparked by George Lynch and Donald Williams, however, the Heels went on a 14-3 run to tie the game at 28. Carolina again fell behind 38-31 before knotting the score at 45 at halftime and eventually prevailing 80-74. Two days later in the regional final, the Tar Heels trailed Cincinnati 29-14 with under seven minutes remaining in the first half. The Bearcats' Nick Van Exel hit his sixth three-pointer of the half with 4:50 remaining to chalk up his 21st point and a 33-20 lead. But led by Derrick Phelps' suffocating defense on Van Exel, Carolina cut the deficit to one by halftime, held Van Exel to only two more points in the final 20 minutes and pulled out a 75-68 overtime win. After defeating Kansas in the Final Four in New Orleans, the Tar Heels fell behind Michigan 23-13 in the national championship game. Carolina then went on a 12-2 run to tie the game, capped off by a 22-foot three-pointer by Donald Williams. Carolina took a 42-36 halftime lead and went on to win the title, 77-71.

CAROLINA 86, WAKE FOREST 84 (OT) MARCH 12, 1994

In the semifinals of the 1994 ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels overcame 31 points and 10 assists from Wake Forest junior guard Randolph Childress and erased a five-point deficit in the final 1:15 of regulation to down the Demon Deacons, 86-84 in overtime. With an 81-78 lead, Wake coach Dave Odom called a time out and instructed guard Charlie Harrison to foul Carolina's Derrick Phelps with 11.8 seconds left. Phelps made the first free throw and missed the second, but he grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the left side of the court. He found Dante Calabria on the opposite side of the lane and Calabria's baseline drive and basket with 3.8 ticks left on the clock in regulation tied the score at 81, forcing the extra stanza. After a low-scoring overtime, Tar Heel freshman Jerry Stackhouse, who was later named the tournament MVP, took a pass from Phelps and sunk a driving shot in traffic to win the game, 86-84. Carolina went on to win its 13th ACC title the next day with a hard-fought 73-66 victory over Virginia.



Donald Williams and the Tar Heels defeated Cincinnati in overtime to advance to the 1993 Final Four and went on to win the national championship.

JANUARY 28, 1995

UNC again victimized Wake Forest in what would be the first of two comeback road wins over in-state rivals in the span of five days. Winston-Salem was the stage for an epic battle between centers Tim Duncan and Rasheed Wallace. The Demon Deacons' Duncan, who finished the game with 18 points, 17 rebounds and seven blocked shots, and Carolina's Wallace, with totals of 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks, each showed the stuff that made them first-team All-ACC honorees at the close of the season. Carolina did not score during a five-minute stretch of the second half and trailed Wake Forest by 10, 53-43 with 6:39 left. Strong inside play from Wallace and the timely three-point shooting of Jeff McInnis and Donald Williams brought the Heels back within one at 61-60. Williams then hit a running one-hander from the right of the lane with 5.5 seconds remaining to seal a 62-61 win.

FEBRUARY 2, 1995

Five days later, Carolina and Duke waged one of the finest battles in the history of the greatest rivalry in college basketball. It was a game of surges that seemed at times as if it would never end. The Tar Heels jumped out to an early, 26-9 lead on a reverse dunk by Jerry Stackhouse over two Blue Devil players and the ensuing free throw. Duke's three-point shooting pulled the Blue Devils within five at halftime and gave them the lead by as many as 12 midway through the second half. UNC then mounted a comeback of its own, battling back from a nine-point deficit with 6:18 to play to force overtime. The Tar Heels raced out to a nine-point lead in the first extra stanza, but four Duke three-pointers, including a running 30-footer from Blue Devil sophomore Jeff Capel at the buzzer, knotted the score at 95 and forced a second overtime. The clutch shooting of Donald Williams and a steal and basket by Jeff McInnis with under a minute to play sealed Carolina's 102-100, double-overtime win. The 202 points between the two teams were the most points ever scored in a UNC-Duke game.

UNC actually had more turnovers than field goals in the first half and trailed Wake Forest by 14 at halftime, 42-28. The Deacons stretched the lead to 18 (41-23) with 17:23 left in the game before freshman Antawn Jamison ignited the UNC comeback. Jamison had a three-point play at 16:17 to cut the lead to 13, at 15:41 to cut it to 11 and then he followed an Ademola Okulaja three-pointer with another put-back at 12:00 to get the deficit to single digits at 43-35.

Ricky Peral and Tim Duncan scored successive baskets to build the Wake lead back to 12 with 10:56 to play, but from that point on the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons, 30-12. Jeff McInnis scored in the lane, Dante Calabria banked one high off the glass and a layup by Jamison made it six. Wake led by seven with 7:09 to play after a dunk by Duncan, but Carolina then went on a 12-3 tear to take the lead. Okulaja pulled down an offensive board to keep a possession alive which ended with a three from the right corner by Calabria to close within four points. Vince Carter hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one and with 2:24 to play Okulaja buried a three from the left wing for a 56-54 UNC lead.

Tony Rutland hit a three late in the shot clock with 1:49 to play for the Deacons' final lead of the game at 57-56. McInnis stole the ball after a UNC miss and hit a runner in the lane over Duncan to give Carolina the lead for good at 58-57 with 1:09 to play. McInnis and Shammond Williams each made a pair of free throws, with 38 and 15 seconds left, respectively, and Carter capped the scoring with a reverse, alley-oop dunk from McInnis.

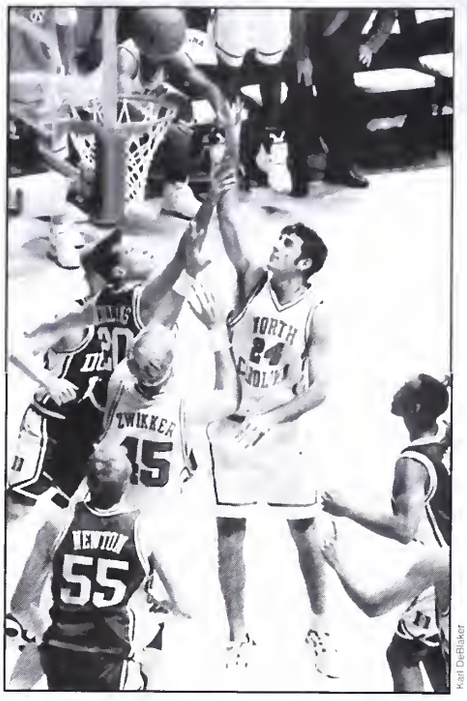
Duke led UNC, 37-20, with 4:32 to play in the opening half and by 12, 42-30, at the half. Carolina pulled within two at 44-42 with 14:14 to play, but the Blue Devils extended the lead to 11 points at 63-52 with 8:44 remaining. A jumper in the lane by Vince Carter, a tip-in by Antawn Jamison and a three-pointer by Shammond Williams trimmed Duke's lead to 63-59 and free throws by Ademola Okulaja and Jeff McInnis narrowed the gap to one. Ricky Price, who scored 20 for Duke, hit a three-pointer with 4:54 to play for a 67-63 advantage. The Blue Devils' lead was three when Okulaja grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 69-68 Duke with 1:55 to go. Steve Wojcicchowski hit a three-pointer at the top of the circle for a 72-68 Duke lead with 1:13 to play, but Williams countered with a three of his own with 58 seconds left. Duke turned the ball over right in front of the Blue Devil bench, and the Tar Heels nearly returned the favor but a hustling Williams forced a jump ball after a wild scramble near midcourt. Possession favored the Tar Heels, who had one last chance.

McInnis drove into the lane and fed Zwikker on the low block. Zwikker's shot was deflected by Greg Newton, but Calabria tipped the ball in for a 73-72 lead. Duke had one final chance to win, but Price's baseline jumper at the buzzer hit the front of the rim and bounced away.



Karl DeBlaker

Dante Calabria's tip-in gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 win over Duke on January 31, 1996. Carolina trailed by 17 points in the first half and by four with 1:13 to play.

This running jumper with 4.5 seconds left by freshman Ed Cota lifted Carolina to a 45-44 win at NC State on February 12, 1997.

CAROLINA 59, NC STATE 56
JANUARY 15, 1997

The Tar Heels began ACC play with three straight losses for the first time in history and a fourth consecutive loss seemed imminent. Carolina led 36-28 at halftime, but did not score a field goal in the second half until the 8:09 mark and had just two baskets in the first 18 minutes of the second stanza. The Wolfpack led 56-47 with 2:00 to play, but that's when the Tar Heels went on a 12-0 run to finish the game. Antawn Jamison began the rally by forcing a steal in the backcourt and Shammond Williams hit a layup to pull within seven. Williams hit a three-pointer and Jamison added a layup to pull within two points with 50 seconds to play. Trailing by one with 28 seconds left, Carolina fouled and the strategy worked as State missed the front end of a one-and-one. The Tar Heels went ahead for good with 12 seconds to play as Ademola Okulaja fed Jamison on the low block for a layup. Vince Carter stole the inbounds pass after the go-ahead score to secure the win.

FEBRUARY 12, 1997

This 45-44 UNC win is the lowest scoring victory in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach. The Tar Heels trailed 28-19 at the half and fell behind by 11 moments after halftime. Carolina chipped away at the Pack's lead and pulled within 42-41 with 7:25 to play on a dunk by Antawn Jamison. Neither team scored for the next 5:22 until a Damon Thornton basket gave State a 44-41 advantage. Serge Zwikker scored for UNC to make it 44-43 and, with just two team fouls, Carolina began to foul to send the Pack to the line. With 12.3 seconds to play, however, Jamison forced a turnover right in front of the bench and Carolina got the ball back for one last play. Freshman point guard Ed Cota drove to the left baseline and lofted a soft lob shot which found the net with 4.5 seconds remaining. State's last-gasp shot, a three-pointer from the right wing by Danny Strong, was blocked by Vince Carter.

CAROLINA 72, GEORGIA TECH 68
FEBRUARY 15, 1997

Georgia Tech led 37-30 at the half and built its lead to 59-44 with 7:42 to play in front of a boisterous crowd in Atlanta. Carolina had to play the entire second half without senior center Serge Zwikker, who suffered a concussion in the first half. Shammond Williams and Ademola Okulaja hit three-pointers and UNC pulled within nine points with 6:37 to play. More than three minutes later, the Yellow Jackets lead remained at nine points, 67-58. From that point on, however, the Tar Heels outscored Tech, 14-1. Antawn Jamison hit three free throws, Ed Cota set up Vince Carter and Jamison for layups and the Yellow Jackets lead was down to 67-65. Cota then set up Williams for a go-ahead three from the left corner with 1:12 to play. Tech sank one free throw to tie the game, but Cota calmy sank two free throws with 33 seconds left for the win.

CAROLINA 82, GEORGIA 80 (OT)
DECEMBER 27, 1997

Carolina trailed Georgia, 73-66, in Athens, Ga., but outscored the Bulldogs 7-0 over the final 2:00 in regulation. Vince Carter's jumper and a tip-in by Ademola Okulaja cut the lead to three with 1:44 left. Okulaja hit three straight free throws to tie the game, the final two with just 25.3 seconds remaining. Okulaja then forced a jump ball on Georgia's last-second possession and the game went to overtime. Okulaja hit a three-pointer early in the overtime and Carolina led by five points in the extra period, but the Dawgs tied the game at 80-80 with 31.9 seconds to play. With 3.2 seconds to play, point guard Ed Cota fed Carter for the game-winning basket.

CAROLINA 107, GEORGIA TECH 100 (2OT)
FEBRUARY 8, 1998

The Tar Heels let a seven-point lead slip away in the final minute of regulation, but Shammond Williams put on an awesome three-point shooting display as Carolina prevailed, 107-100, in double-overtime in Atlanta. Williams sent the game to a second overtime with a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the first extra period. In the second OT, Williams scored 12 of his career-high 42 points, including two three-pointers

CAROLINA 74, TENNESSEE 69

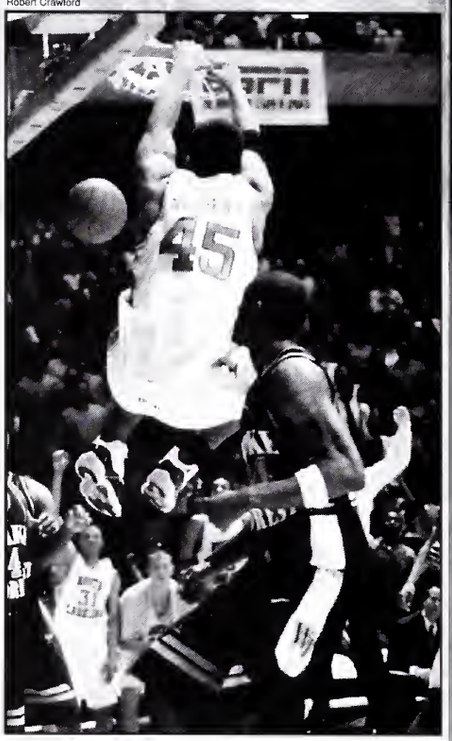
Carolina was unranked for the first time in 10 years and entered the NCAA Tournament as the No. 8 seed in the South. The inspired Tar Heels faced Tennessee, which came into the game at 26-6 and ranked No. 10 in the nation.

Tennessee led, 39-36, at halftime. The Tar Heels then scored just six points in the first 8:00 of the second half as the Vols extended the lead to 51-42. UT still led by a basket when UNC center Brendan Haywood fouled out with 8:03 left and led, 64-57, with 4:48 left. Freshmen Joseph Forte and Julius Peppers and senior point guard Ed Cota sparked UNC's comeback.

Forte hit a three-pointer and Capel made a steal and layup to make it 64-62 with 3:41 left. Cota drove through the UT defense for a layup to tie the game and followed with a jumper in the lane to give UNC the lead with 1:59 left. Peppers, a starting defensive end on the football team and a walkon basketball player, had four points and five rebounds after Haywood's exit. Forte, Peppers and Cota each hit two free throws in the final 0:34 to cap a 15-3 Tar Heel run and a 74-69 win. Carolina beat Tulsa two days later to send Bill Guthridge to his second Final Four in three years as head coach.

Robert Crawford



Julius Peppers scored on this alley-oop in the Jan. 6, 2001, win over Wake Forest.

CAROLINA 70, WAKE FOREST 69
JANUARY 6, 2001

Brendan Haywood grabbed a loose ball in the lane and scored with 3.3 seconds to play to give the Tar Heels the win over No. 4-ranked and previously undefeated Wake Forest in the Smith Center. Haywood finished with 24 points and 10 rebounds. His basket marked the fourth lead change in the final 1:22 and gave UNC the win.

CAROLINA 85, DUKE 83
FEBRUARY 1, 2001

Matt Doherty's first game against Duke as Carolina's head coach was a classic. Joseph Forte was spectacular with 24 points, 16 rebounds (a UNC record for guards), six assists and three steals. Tthe Tar Heels blistered the Cameron Indoor Stadium nets by shooting 51.5 percent from the floor. Carolina led by as many as 13 in the first half, but Duke took the lead midway through the second half. Ronald Curry scored six straight points in 48 seconds to give the Tar Heels a 63-59 lead. UNC later built a seven-point lead, but the Blue Devils rallied to tie with three seconds to play. On the ensuing inbounds play, Shane Battier fouled Brendan Haywood and the UNC seven-footer hit both free throws with one second left for the win.

Dillon Notes

- Leading scorer of the 1946 Final Four Tar Heel team
- All-America in 1946 and '47

Gained national fame early in 1946 against New York University in Madison Square Garden by scoring 21 points, many on his accurate hook shot • The media at the game declared Dillon's patented shot to be among the best ever seen in the Garden and he became known as "Hook" Dillon • Earned All-America honors in both 1946 and 1947 • Was the leading scorer on the 1946 squad, the first Carolina team to reach the NCAA Final Four • During that march to the NCAA title game, Dillon again turned in great performances in Madison Square Garden, scoring 16 points against NYU, 15 versus Ohio State and 16 in the finals against Oklahoma A&M and its powerful center, Bob Kurland • Played for the Tar Heels from 1945 through 1948 after playing three years in the Savannah (Ga.) Ice Delivery city league and a time at the Benedictine Military Academy • Was Carolina's second-leading scorer as a freshman behind All-America Jim Jordan.

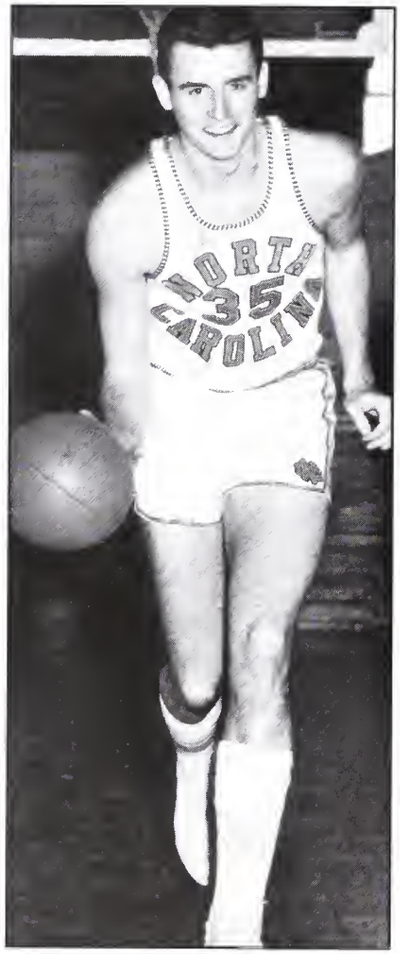
Brennan Notes

- First-team All-America in 1957-58
- Member of the undefeated 1957 national champion Tar Heels

Had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward • Best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title • The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals with only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period • The Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound • Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball • Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line • The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period • UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history • Still ranks 11th in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds • As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year honors • Earned All-ACC honors and All-ACC Tournament honors as a senior.



Kearns Notes

- Second-team All-America in 1956-57
- Playmaker for the 1957 NCAA champion Tar Heels
- Two-time All-ACC choice

A playmaking star of the 1957 NCAA champion Tar Heels, Kearns was a clutch performer who had a habit of making the big play • Ranked third on the '57 team in scoring, but was most valuable simply running the team • A great dribbler and driver, his presence made it impossible for opponents to press the Tar Heels • His ability to deliver under pressure was soon apparent in that 32-0 season • In the fourth game of the year, he scored 29 points as the Tar Heels edged South Carolina, 90-86, in double overtime • In a game at Maryland that year, he tied the game with a jumper, forcing overtime, and hit a crucial shot in the second OT to seal the win • Hit two late free throws with 11 seconds left in a 75-73 win over Duke • Had 15 second-half points in a come-from-behind win at Virginia • In a psychological ploy, head coach Frank McGuire let Kearns jump center against Wilt Chamberlin in the 1957 national championship game versus Kansas • A two-time All-ACC selection who went on to be a successful stockbroker on Wall Street • Played a high school basketball coach in the Sean Connery movie Finding Forrester in 2000.

York Larese, a 6-4 guard from New York City, was one of the few players to be named All-ACC every year he was eligible, sweeping those honors in 1959, 1960 and 1961, the final three years of the legendary Frank McGuire's coaching tenure at Carolina • Was also named second-team All-America as a senior • Named to the All-ACC Tournament first team in 1960 and 1961 and the second team in 1959 • Was a great shooter capable of scoring from anywhere on the court • Was especially accurate from the free throw line, leading the ACC in foul shooting in 1960 with a percentage of 86.8, which stood as the Carolina record for 25 years until it was broken by Steve Hale in 1985 • Had an unusual free throw form, simply shooting the ball as quickly as an official handed it to him • Teamed with Doug Moe to give Carolina a solid one-two punch for three years, and for two of those seasons, the Tar Heels had All-America Lee Shaffer on the front line, forming a dangerous inside-outside combination • Put on an incredible show against Duke his junior season, hitting 21 of 21 free-throw attempts, which still stands as an ACC record for single-game free throws made • In talking about Larese, former Duke coach Vic Bubas said, "I can't ever remember a better shooter in the league."

SENIOR SEASON (1976-77)

The Tar Heels were perhaps the hottest team in the nation midway through the 1976-77 season when LaGarde tore ligaments in his knee against Maryland and missed the remainder of the season • Carolina still reached the NCAA finals, but without LaGarde and with Phil Ford and Walter Davis hampered by injuries, the Tar Heels could not defeat Marquette in the championship game • Despite missing over a third of the season, LaGarde was still named second-team All-ACC and Sporting News second-team All-America after averaging 15.1 points and 7.4 rebounds and hitting 59.3 percent of his field goals before the injury. • He also used his quickness and 6-10 size to form an imposing presence in the Tar Heel defense • Averaged 78.2 percent shooting from the free-throw line • Had an outstanding performance in the Big Four Tournament, making the All-Tournament team • Made the All-Tournament team at the Far West Classic.

JUNIOR SEASON (1975-76)

La Garde led the ACC in field goal percentage at 61.2 percent and was second in free throw percentage with an 80.9 mark • Averaged 14.4 points per game and 7.6 rebounds per game • LaGarde joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Mitch Kupchak on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic team coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and Carolina assistant Bill Guthridge. Started every game of the season • Helped lead Carolina to a 25-4 record overall and a 12-2 record in ACC play • Collected 221 rebounds, 24 assists, 15 blocks and 26 steals • Scored in double figures 23 times • Opened up the season with a 20-point, nine-rebound performance in a win over Howard • Scored 24 points in a narrow victory over South Florida • In that game he hit all eight of his free throws and went 10 for 12 from the field along with 15 rebounds • Scored 22 points and grabbed 11 rebounds against Alabama in the final game of the season.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1974-75)

FRESHMAN SEASON (1973-74)

Appeared in 22 of 28 games as he got limited playing time in a crowded frontcourt • Had 34 rebounds, an impressive statistic, considering the lack of playing time • Hit 55.6 percent of his shots from the field • Had season-high 12 points to go along with seven rebounds against Florida State • Appeared in two games with the junior varsity as well • Made the Dean's List.

Dean Smith on LaGarde — "Tom was having his best year by far in 1977 when he injured his leg. He had speed, and he could run. We had just beaten a good Maryland team by 27, but he got hurt in that game. With him, I like our chances the rest of the season."

We started him against Kansas his first game because we wanted to send a message to the team about the importance of defense. He had quickness, and he grew a lot in college. He matured physically in college, but he worked at his game. The night we lost to Georgia in the 1983 NCAAs, he came home and was in the gym. He was sure a great competitor, something he has always shown."

Dean Smith on Jamison — "We thought he'd be behind Rasheed Wallace for a year. But strange things happen. He had super quickness and we had timing plays for him to score down low. He had the ability to jump a second time faster than most guys could jump once. He had an uncanny ability to go after the ball. I remember a play at the end of the first half against Virginia when he missed a layup on a fast break, but got back up and tipped in his own miss. I remember thinking, 'Wow, what a play.'"

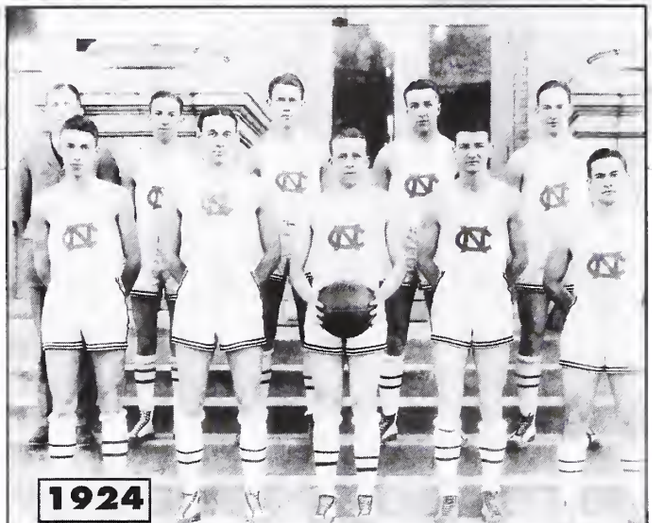
1924 NATIONAL CHAMPS/1946 FINAL FOUR



The first of Carolina's national championships came long before the term "March Madness" became an annual rite of spring. In fact, when Carolina won the 1924 national championship with a 26-0 record, there wasn't even an NCAA Tournament.

The Helms Foundation voted the Tar Heels as national champions after their perfect season, as there was no post-season tournament. Carolina defeated Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama en route to the Southern Conference championship.

Cartwright Carmichael, Jack Cobb, Bill Dodderer and Monk McDonald led the Tar Heel squad directed by first-year coach Norman Shepard. Carolina played its home games in the Indoor Athletic Center, also known as the Tin Can.

The championship season was also Shepard's last at the helm of the Tar Heels, as McDonald took over as head coach the following season. McDonald was the only former UNC player to coach the Tar Heels until Matt Doherty returned to Chapel Hill to take over in 2000-01.

North Carolina made the first of its NCAA record 15 Final Four appearances in 1946 under the direction of second-year head coach Ben Carnevale. Still known as the White Phantoms, UNC was led by All-America guard Jim Jordan, All-America forward John "Hook" Dillon and the legendary Horace "Bones" McKinney.

Carolina finished first in Southern Conference play with a 13-1 record and had impressive regular-season wins at NYU and against previously unbeaten Navy. The Phantoms were beaten by Wake Forest, however, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament, 31-29. Despite Duke winning the league's postseason title, the NCAA Committee selected Carolina to represent District 3 in the NCAA Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden.

NYU was favored to beat UNC in the East Regional semifinal and the Phantoms faced elimination as Dillon and guard Jim White fouled out with 10 and eight minutes to play, respectively. McKinney, a 27-year-old Durham native, led Carolina to a 57-49 win, however, with 11 points. McKinney originally played at NC State, but enrolled at Carolina in January 1946 after being discharged from the U.S. Army.

Dillon and Washington native Bob Paxton led Carolina past Ohio State in the East Regional final. The Buckeyes led by five with less than three minutes to play, but Paxton sent the game into overtime with a jump shot with under 20 seconds left to play. Dillon scored the key shot in overtime as UNC held on for a 60-57 win.

Defending national champion Oklahoma A&M beat Carolina, 43-40, in the championship game. Seven-foot center Big Bob (Foothills) Kurland had 23 points to lead the Aggies. Carolina trailed only 36-33 when McKinney fouled out. A&M then built a 43-34 advantage. Dillon scored 16 points in the title game for UNC.

Carolina finished the year 30-5. Dillon, a sophomore from Georgia, led Carolina in scoring with 12.9 points per game. He earned his nickname because of the accuracy of his favorite shot, a hook shot. He was brilliant in the NCAA Tournament as he scored 16, 15 and 16 points in the three games.

Jordan, who was transferred to Carolina for ROTC by the Navy, was second on the squad with 389 points.

1957 NCAA CHAMPIONS

North Carolina's march toward the NCAA championship in the 1957 Final Four provided legendary head coach Frank McGuire with the defining moment of his career and the Tar Heel faithful with more than a few tense moments.

Battle-torn and weary, the Tar Heels faced a seemingly insurmountable challenge as they headed into the third overtime period against Kansas in the national championship game.

Having already taken three overtime periods to defeat Michigan State in the semifinals, the Tar Heels found themselves without national player of the year Lennie Rosenbluth, who had fouled out in the waning moments of regulation. They were playing a Kansas team led by Hall of Famer Wilt Chamberlain in the not so friendly confines of Kansas City, Mo.

The Tar Heels fought on without Rosenbluth and found themselves behind by one point in the final seconds of the third overtime. After a missed shot, the ball landed in the hands of junior center Joe Quigg near the top of the key. All that stood between him and the national championship was Chamberlain.

Lennie Rosenbluth

Quigg drove the lane, drawing a foul from Chamberlain with six seconds remaining. After a Carolina time out, Quigg, a 72 percent free throw shooter, calmly stepped to the line and drained both shots, securing a 54-53 victory and Carolina's second national championship. Carolina finished the season a perfect 32-0 en route to the Tar Heels' first NCAA championship.

Rosenbluth had 20 points and five rebounds in the championship game and Quigg scored 10 points and garnered nine rebounds.

Carolina had its fair share of overtime experience entering the Final Four, securing an overtime victory over South Carolina and a double overtime victory over Maryland in the regular season.

That experience may have been the difference as the Tar Heels continually came through with clutch plays throughout the Final Four. In the semifinal, neither team was able to open more than a six-point lead as Michigan State tested Carolina's mettle throughout the game.

Pete Brennan & Frank McGuire

Junior forward Pete Brennan kept Carolina's championship hopes alive when he nailed a baseline jumper with three seconds remaining in the first overtime to extend the game to another period. Both teams struggled in the second overtime, scoring only one bucket each. Carolina finally pulled away in the third overtime period scoring the first six points and holding on to a 74-70 victory.

Rosenbluth was the star of the 1957 squad. His 27 points and 8.6 rebounds a game in regular season play led the Tar Heels to the ACC championship and the NCAA tournament berth. Three of the victories came over fellow Big Four and ACC team Wake Forest, with whom Carolina had developed an intense rivalry.

At the end of his senior season, Rosenbluth held on to every major Carolina basketball record except for free-throw percentage and total rebounds in a season.

The championship season was Carolina's only trip to the Final Four under the tutelage of Frank McGuire, who left in 1961 to coach in the NBA. He later went on to coach at South Carolina. In nine years, McGuire led the Tar Heels to three Top 10 finishes and six Top 20 finishes.

The next Final Four appearance for the Tar Heels came under McGuire's replacement, Dean Smith, who began his Final Four legacy in 1967.

1967 FINAL FOUR/1968 FINAL FOUR

It was the dawn of a new era. The year was 1967. A young head coach had brought a proud program back to the forefront of college basketball as Dean Smith's Tar Heels traveled to Louisville, Ky. for the program's first Final Four since the 1957 NCAA championship.

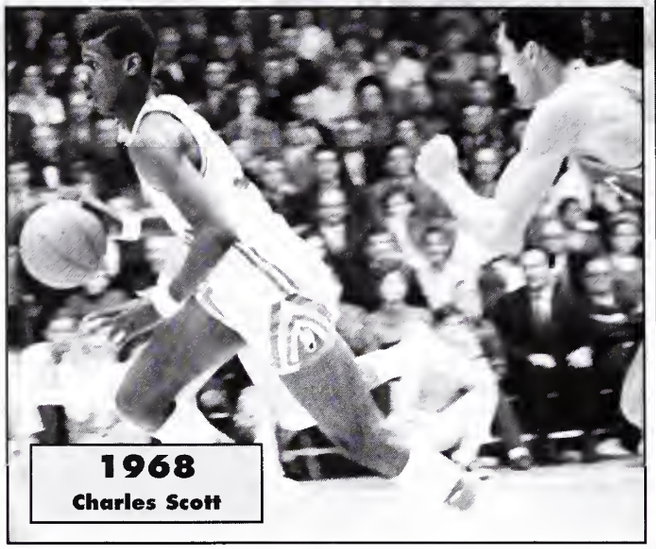
The lineup included one of Smith's best recruiting classes with five sophomores playing in the eight-man rotation. It was junior forward Larry Miller, though, who was the bread and butter of the Carolina squad. Miller's 22.5 points per game and clutch play throughout the season earned him ACC Player of the Year honors and led the Tar Heels to a 22-6 record and the ACC title.

Carolina reached the Final Four via a 96-80 victory over Boston College in the Eastern Regional final with a lineup that hit its opposition from every angle. Senior forward Bob Lewis earned Eastern Regional Most Valuable Player honors with 31 points in the championship game. Miller added 22 points and sophomore center Rusty Clark snagged 18 rebounds to go with 18 points.

The Tar Heels lost to Dayton, 76-62, in the national semifinals. Carolina couldn't overcome the dominant play of Flyer forward Don May, who scored 34 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Clark and Miller had strong outings in the loss, as Clark had 19 points and 11 rebounds and Miller scored 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

Though Carolina left Louisville without a win, the '67 Final Four proved to be the jumpstart to one of the greatest careers in college athletics. The Smith dynasty had officially begun as he went on to lead the Tar Heels to 11 Final Fours and two national championships.

Dean Smith on 1967 — "The big thing is we had to win the ACC Tournament before we could even go to the NCAA Tournament. I was concerned about how we would do in the NCAAs in overcoming the excitement of winning the ACC Tournament. We did go to the Final Four with three sophomore starters that year. That was a thrilling time."



The 1968 Final Four had a familiar feel to it as three teams from '67 were back in the semifinals. UCLA took on Houston for the second year in a row and Carolina faced another upstart team from Ohio. This time, however, the Tar Heels faced Ohio State to get to the title game.

Carolina beat the Buckeyes, 80-66, to advance to the championship game. Junior forward Bill Bunting had 17 points and 12 rebounds and senior guard Larry Miller logged 20 points and six rebounds. Miller had earned All-America honors and was the Most Valuable Player at the ACC Tournament.

Carolina played the defending champion UCLA Bruins for the NCAA championship. The Bruins were led by legendary coach John Wooden and National Player of the Year Lew Alcindor. The game was played in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Miller had 14 points and six rebounds, but that wasn't enough for Carolina to overcome the Bruins, who won their fourth championship in five years, 78-55. Alcindor scored 34 points and pulled down 16 rebounds to lead the Bruins.

Dean Smith on 1968 — "We had four starters returning, again won the regular season championship, but again had to win the ACC Tournament just to get in the tournament. That was the most pressure teams had to feel. We were ready this time for the NCAAs, based on the year before. We were great against undefeated St. Bonaventure with Bob Lanier in the opening round. The field was not seeded in those days. Then we faced Lew Alcindor and UCLA in the championship game. I do think that was the best college team I had ever seen to that date."

1969 FINAL FOUR/1972 FINAL FOUR

The 1969 Tar Heels didn't miss a beat despite losing two-time ACC Player of the Year Larry Miller to graduation. Junior guards Charles Scott and Eddie Fogler combined with seniors Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting and Dick Grubar to make up for Miller's absence and lead Carolina to its third consecutive Final Four.

Scott, fresh off of winning a gold medal with the 1968 U.S. Olympic team, earned first-team All-America honors with 22.3 points and 7.1 rebounds per game.

Carolina advanced to the NCAA Tournament with a stellar comeback victory over Duke in the ACC finals. Led by Scott, who scored 40 points and nabbed five rebounds, the Tar Heels rallied from a nine-point halftime deficit to defeat the Blue Devils, 85-74.

Carolina defeated Duquesne and Lefty Driesell's Davidson Wildcats in the NCAA tournament to advance to the national semifinal against Purdue. Scott was again the hero of both tournament victories as he had 22 points, nine rebounds and six assists against Duquesne and 32 points, six rebounds and four assists against Davidson. His game-winning shot as time expired (see photo above) gave the Tar Heels the 87-85 win over Davidson to send Carolina to the Final Four.

The Boilermakers' Rick Mount and Bill Keller combined for 56 points to lead Purdue to a 92-65 victory over the Tar Heels in the semi-finals.

Dean Smith on 1969 — "The three sophomore starters from '67 were now seniors, but Dick Grubar tore his knee in the ACC championship game and was out for the NCAAs. We had close games just to get to the Final Four. Charles Scott had a tremendous second half against Duke in the ACC finals. We really went to Charles and then we went to Four Corners and Charles could drive by his man."

Dean Smith's 1972 Tar Heels had a different feel from Carolina Final Four teams of years past. There was no Lennie Rosenbluth, Larry Miller or Charlie Scott to dominate the headlines with overwhelming individual performances. Instead, the '72 squad hit the opposition with a deep and balanced attack.

Center Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer, and sharp-shooting senior forward Dennis Wuycik led five Carolina players in double figure scoring for the season.

The Tar Heels had earned their NCAA bid with a 73-64 victory over the Maryland Terrapins in the ACC Championship. That win avenged an earlier 79-77 overtime loss to the Terps.

George Karl had 18 points and Wuycik added 16 to lead UNC to a 92-69 rout of South Carolina in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament. Wuycik (18), McAdoo (17) and Karl (16) then each outscored Penn's leading scorer in a 73-59 win to send UNC to the Final Four.

Carolina lost the national semifinal to Florida State, 79-75, after falling behind by 13 points at the half. McAdoo had 24 points and 15 rebounds, but the rest of the squad made just 19 of 51 shots from the floor against the Seminoles. Ron King led Florida State with 22 points.

McAdoo became the first underclassmen from Carolina to declare early for the NBA Draft. He went on to earn NBA MVP honors in 1975.

Sophomore forward Bobby Jones earned a spot on the 1972 Olympic team and flourished in the NBA, earning All-Defensive First Team honors for eight consecutive years. He earned the NBA sixth-man award as a member of the 1983 World Champion Philadelphia 76ers.

Karl has gone on to a successful coaching career. He is currently the head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks.

Dean Smith on 1972 — "This was one of our great teams. We played extremely well in the regionals to get to the Final Four, paying back South Carolina for beating us in the ACC Tournament the year before. We beat a very good Penn team. We were ranked number two in the nation and UCLA was number one. We shouldn't have, but I think we looked past Florida State ahead to UCLA, and got beat by a good Seminole team. McAdoo fouled out with 13 minutes to play."

1977 FINAL FOUR/1981 FINAL FOUR

The 1977 season was one of the most memorable in Dean Smith's career. The Tar Heels overcame a litany of injuries to key players to advance to the Final Four, but lost to Marquette, 67-59, in the national championship game.

Senior forward Walter Davis was one of the best shooters in the country, Phil Ford ran the point to perfection, and forward Mike O'Koren was one of the top freshmen in the country.

The Tar Heels' road to the Final Four was not an easy one. Senior center Tommy LaGarde injured his knee in February and was lost for the rest of the season. Davis broke his finger in the ACC Tournament and Ford hyperextended his elbow in the NCAA Tournament. Still, the Tar Heels advanced to the championship game.

Ford scored 27 points to lead the Tar Heels to a 69-66 win over Purdue in the first round. Davis did not play against the Boilermakers.

Then, on St. Patrick's Day, the Tar Heels trailed by 14 in the second half of the regional semifinal against Notre Dame. John Kuester had 14 points, eight assists and seven steals and Ford scored 29 points, including two free throws with two seconds remaining, to earn a 79-77 win.

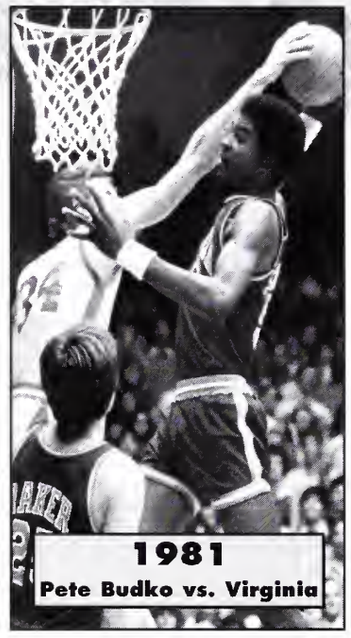
Despite the broken finger, Davis made 7 of 11 shots from the floor en route to 21 points as the Tar Heels beat Kentucky, 79-72, in the East Regional final. Kuester filled in for Ford and hit 13 of 14 free throws en route to victory.

Carolina faced high-powered UNLV in the national semifinal. The Rebels led 49-43 at the half, but the Tar Heels prevailed, 84-83, behind O'Koren's 31 points and eight rebounds and Davis, who made all seven of his field goal attempts and finished with 19 points.

In the championship, Al McGuire's Warriors built a 39-27 lead, but Carolina surged ahead in the second half. However, Butch Lee (19 points), Bo Ellis and Jim Boylan (14 apiece) led Marquette to the title.

Davis and O'Koren had 20 and 14 points, respectively, but Ford's injured elbow limited him to a 3 for 10 night from the field.

Dean Smith on 1977 — "That year was what Coach Guthridge called the most amazing year. We had more huggers that year – that means when the game is over we are all hugging in the dressing room. We lost our All-America center Tom LaGarde in February, then had a great run. All our fans had their fingers taped up in Atlanta for Walter. And Phil had his bad elbow. Walter couldn't shoot against Notre Dame, but Phil happened to make free throws even with his hyperextended elbow. We held the ball against Kentucky in the second half to go to the Final Four. Then O'Koren came on and was great against UNLV. We lost to a really good Marquette team. Jimmy Boylen was terrific against us in the final – he once called wanting to transfer to Carolina, but I suggested he call Coach McGuire instead."



Carolina lost to Ralph Sampson and Virginia twice during the 1981 regular season, as Sampson averaged 23 points and a dozen rebounds. However, the Tar Heels exacted their revenge in the Final Four.

Carolina was sent west by the NCAA committee, despite winning the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels swept through the West Regional with little trouble, beating Pittsburgh, Utah and Kansas State. Sam Perkins had 15 points, 11 rebounds and foue blocks in the regional semifinals and 16 points and 11 boards in the regional final against Kansas State. Wood was outstanding against the Wildcats, scoring 21 points and pulling down 17 rebounds.

Then it was on to Philadelphia and only Sampson and the Cavaliers stood in the Tar Heels' way of a return trip to the national finals.

It was a clash between the ACC regular season champion Cavaliers and ACC Tournament champion Tar Heels — a clash between outstanding front lines as Carolina matched Sampson with a dominant frontcourt of forwards James Worthy and Al Wood and Perkins.

This time, the Tar Heels kept Sampson in check. Sampson scored only 11 points and Virginia could not find an answer for Wood, who scored 39 points and added 10 rebounds. The game was tied at 27 at halftime, but Carolina outscored Virginia, 51-38, in the second half to earn a 78-65 victory.

Bob Knight's Indiana Hoosiers beat the Tar Heels 63-50 in the national championship game. The game was played only hours after an assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan. Sophomore point guard Isiah Thomas led the Hoosiers with 23 points. Wood and Perkins combined for 29 points for UNC.

The Tar Heels shot just 43 percent from the floor and committed 19 turnovers.

Dean Smith on 1981 — "That was an exciting year because we finished second in the regular season. Most of the time when we went to the Final Four we won the ACC regular season. We lost twice to Virginia, but then had another chance to beat them in the semifinals and Al Wood had his great game with 39 points. The shooting of the president affected both teams the same. Bob Knight joked we should flip a coin and send us both home co-champions. Isiah (Thomas) had a great second half."

1982 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Every Carolina Basketball fan remembers The Shot. It is the most famous play in Tar Heel history and one of the most famous in college athletics. It won Dean Smith his first national championship and launched Michael Jordan as the greatest player in the sport's history.

Eric "Sleepy" Floyd had just hit a jumper in the lane to give Georgetown a 62-61 lead as 61,612 fans looked on at the New Orleans Superdome. Carolina called a timeout with 32 seconds remaining. Smith instructed point guard Jimmy Black to draw the Hoya zone defense to one side of the court and look to get the ball inside to James Worthy. But Black couldn't get the ball to Worthy. Smith had designed the play so that if that happened, Black could swing the ball to an open man on the far side of the court. Black found that open man, freshman Michael Jordan.

Georgetown's Fred Brown got the ball near mid-court and looked for an open teammate. He passed the ball in Floyd's direction, but instead found Worthy, who raced downcourt with the ball to seal the victory. It was appropriate that Worthy clinched the win, since he had already muscled and finessed his way through the Hoya defense en route to five dunks and 28 points.

Worthy was not intimidated by the tenacious defense of Hoya freshman center Patrick Ewing, who logged two blocked shots and three steals to go with his 23 points and 11 rebounds. Throughout the game, Worthy challenged the Hoyas frontline and hit 13 of his 17 field goal attempts.

Carolina advanced to the title game with a 68-63 semifinal victory over Houston. Sam Perkins had 25 points and 10 rebounds.

UNC began and finished the year ranked No. 1 in the country in the Associated Press poll. In fact, Carolina held the No. 1 ranking for all but five weeks in 1981-82.

The Tar Heels posted a 32-2 record, losing only to Wake Forest at home when Perkins was sick and did not play and at Virginia. Carolina did beat the Cavaliers, 47-45, in the ACC Tournament championship game in Greensboro. Worthy had 16 points and Matt Doherty had 11 points and four assists. Carolina led 34-31 at the half, but the game is most remembered for the Tar Heels using a delay game in the second half. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 to play, Carolina held the ball. Doherty hit three free throws in the last 28 seconds to win the game.

Michael Jordan

Top-ranked and top-seeded Carolina then survived a scare from James Madison in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, beating the Dukes, 52-50, in Charlotte. A 74-69 win over Alabama and a 70-60 triumph over Villanova in Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum sent the Tar Heels to New Orleans for the Final Four.

Senior guard Jimmy Black was one of five starters in double figures in the regional final win over Villanova. Black had 11 points and 10 assists.

Dean Smith on 1982 — "We had three starters back from the year before, plus Matt Doherty, who I counted as a co-starter in 1981. Two of our best games all year were in New Orleans against Houston and Georgetown. Michael had his best game as a freshman in the final, but James was the obvious MVP. His play gets overshadowed because of Michael's shot. And Perkins was a true hero for his play against Olajuwon in the semifinals. He was sensational.

The play was No. 1 to post up James, then have Sam come in behind him. Or you could go crosscourt to the wing for Michael and he was wide open from 17-18 feet. It looked good, I was right in line with him. Then we we put on our scramble defense. James was out of position, but Michael stopped the pass that made Fred Brown throw it away."

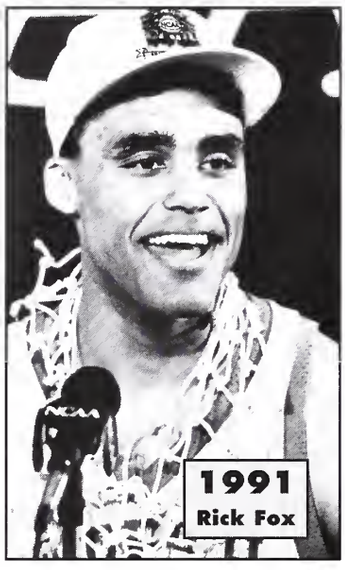
1991 FINAL FOUR



Rick Fox was born in Toronto, grew up playing softball in the Bahamas and played high school basketball in Indiana. So, it may seem a little strange that he ended up donning Carolina Blue for Dean Smith.

But, it just so happens that Fox watched Carolina as a boy and saw Michael Jordan seal the deal on the 1982 national championship. From that moment on, he knew he wanted to be a Tar Heel. In 1991, the senior forward led Carolina back to the Final Four for the first time since Jordan's celebrated shot.

Fox was joined in the starting lineup by seniors Pete Chilcutt (center) and King Rice (point guard), junior guard Hubert Davis and sophomore forward George Lynch.

Dean Smith's eighth trip to the Final Four pitted him against his former assistant, third-year Kansas head coach Roy Williams.

The Tar Heels reached the Final Four as the number one seed in the East Region after crushing Duke, 96-74, in the ACC Championship game. Carolina then cruised to the East Regional final, beating Northeastern, Villanova and Eastern Michigan, all by double-digits.

Carolina then beat Temple, 75-72, in the Meadowlands to return to the Final Four for the first time since 1982. Davis and Fox each scored 19 points and Rice added 12 points and seven assists to get by the Owls. Temple guard Mark Macon made 12 of 23 shots and had 31 points, and missed a 30-footer at the buzzer that would have sent the game into overtime.

Kansas beat the Tar Heels, 79-73, in the national semifinals in the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis. Davis led all scorers with 25 points, but Carolina shot just 38.4 percent for the game. Adonis Jordan led the Jayhawks with 16 points and seven assists.

Dean Smith on 1991 — "We had some of our best teams in the mid- and late-1980s that did not get to the Final Four. There was a lot of pressure in 1987, when Syracuse had Rony Seikaly and Sherman Douglas. Jeff Lebo was sick the whole night before that night and that really hurt us.

So we were glad to get back to the Final Four in 1991. We had great leadership with King Rice, Rick Fox and Pete Chilcutt. We didn't play well in Indianapolis against Kansas. We hadn't been to the Final Four in a while and I think we went back to being happy to be there."

1993 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Dean Smith had been there before. The last time his Tar Heels walked on the Superdome floor, they walked off as NCAA champions.

Now, after a grueling ACC season that included five other Top 25 teams; after a tough road through the East Regional bracket that required an overtime victory to escape the final; after defeating a Roy Williams-coached Kansas squad that had beaten the Tar Heels just two years prior in the national semifinal— Carolina was back on the Superdome floor playing for the national championship.

The 1993 Tar Heels were ready. Center Eric Montross and senior forward George Lynch anchored the team and shooting guard Donald Williams provided the spark from the outside. Point guard Derrick Phelps ran the offense and a handful of role players brought everything together in typical Dean Smith fashion.

Michigan was ready too, though. The raucous Wolverines, led by vocal center Chris Webber and the rest of the "Fab Five," had lost the championship game in 1992 and were hungry to redeem themselves. They won a hard-fought overtime battle against Jamal Mashburn and the Kentucky Wildcats in the national semifinal, 81-78, and were confident they would return to Ann Arbor with a championship.

The styles of the two teams couldn't have been any farther apart. The Tar Heels were a traditional Dean Smith team — talented, disciplined and focused. The Wolverines had brought a brash, new feel to the game, famous for their black shoes, baggy shorts and playground style of play.

The teams battled back and forth throughout the game. Michigan led by 10 in the first half, but Carolina rallied for a 42-36 lead at intermission. The Wolverines built a 67-63 lead with 4:30 left to play, but the Tar Heels scored nine unanswered points to take a 72-67 lead with 1:03 to play.

Trailing by four, Williams began the 9-0 run with a three-pointer, then Phelps hit a fastbreak layup to give UNC the lead with 3:07 to play. Baskets by Lynch and Montross upped the lead to five with a minute to go.

Michigan responded with a Ray Jackson jump shot and a Chris Webber put-back to bring the Wolverines back to within 72-71 with 36 seconds to play.

Carolina junior forward Pat Sullivan was fouled with 20 seconds left and went to the line for a one-and-one. Sullivan connected on the first, but missed the second and Webber got the rebound with the Wolverines trailing 73-71.

Webber stumbled and appeared to travel, but the officials made no call. He then dribbled past halfcourt and found himself surrounded by the Tar Heels and called a timeout. However, Michigan did not have any timeouts remaining and the officials called a technical foul on the Michigan bench.

Williams hit two free throws and Carolina marched on to a 77-71 victory. It was only appropriate that Williams stood at the line at the end of the game, as he dominated the Final Four en route to Most Outstanding Player honors. Williams made five of seven three pointers and scored 25 points in both the national semifinal and championship games.

The Tar Heels finished the season 34-4, winning 18 consecutive games at one point. Carolina had even faced Michigan early on in the season at the Rainbow Classic and lost, 79-78, courtesy a last-second shot from Wolverine point guard Jalen Rose.

The 18-game win streak was snapped by a 77-75 loss to Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament championship game. The Tar Heels played that game without Phelps, who injured his back when he was fouled from behind on a layup attempt in the ACC semifinal against Virginia.

Despite the loss to the Yellow Jackets, Carolina was No. 1 in the East Regional. Wins over East Carolina, Rhode Island and Arkansas setup a regional championship against Cincinnati in the Meadowlands. The Bearcats had played in the Final Four in 1992.

Nick Van Exel hit six three-pointers in the first half and the Bearcats built a 29-14 lead with 7:08 left in the opening half, but the Tar Heels rallied to pull within one at halftime.

In the second half, Phelps clamped down on Van Exel, limiting him to just one field goal.

Carolina led late in regulation, but Tarrance Gibson's driving layup with 35 seconds to play tied the game. The Tar Heels had a a chance to win at the buzzer, but Brian Reese's dunk attempt after an out-of-bounds play with 0.8 seconds left ricocheted off the back iron.

Williams starred in overtime, hitting back-to-back three-pointers and the Tar Heels hung on for a 75-68 win.

Lynch was the heart and soul of the team and recorded double-doubles in each of the last four NCAA Tournament victories.

Dean Smith on 1993 — "We had a such great leader in George Lynch and our team had a lot of confidence. We were very poised. I know I had a lot of confidence in Derrick Phelps and Lynch. The last four games all were close games. Arkansas went down to the wire, Cincinnati we should have won in regulation, but won in overtime. Michigan was a great game with Donald Williams hitting key shots. So many of those games could have gone either way."

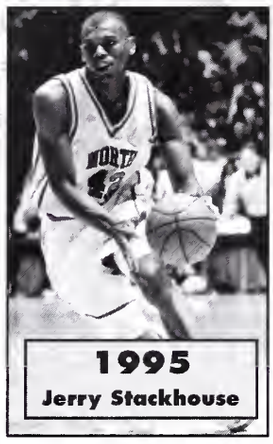
1995 FINAL FOUR/1997 FINAL FOUR



Two years after winning the national championship, the Tar Heels were back in the Final Four. This time, sophomores Rasheed Wallace, Jeff McInnis and Sports Illustrated Player of the Year Jerry Stackhouse were the focal point of the team.

Carolina, Wake Forest, Virginia and Maryland were consistently Top-10 teams throughout the season, and UNC earned the number two seed in the Southeast Region after losing in overtime to Randolph Childress, Tim Duncan and Wake in a classic ACC championship game.

Earlier in the season, Carolina beat Duke in what many consider to be the greatest game between the Tobacco Road rivals. Dean Smith took his Tar Heels into Cameron Indoor Stadium in on Feb. 2 and left after 50 minutes of basketball with a 102-100 victory in double-overtime. Duke rallied from a 17-point first half deficit to take a nine-point second half lead, only to see UNC send the game to overtime.

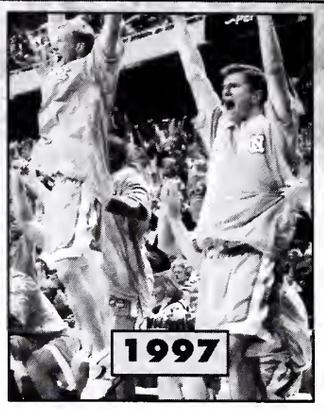
The Tar Heels appeared to have won the game by scoring the first nine points of overtime, but the Blue Devils forced a second overtime with a 30-foot shot by Jeff Capel at the buzzer. Carolina prevailed, though, as Donald Williams hit a difficult running jumper and McInnis stole the subsequent inbounds pass in the final seconds of the second overtime to seal the two-point victory.

In the NCAA Tournament, Carolina trailed Murray State by a point at halftime in the first round, but won 80-70 behind Stackhouse's 25 points, 11 rebounds and five assists. Wins over Iowa State and Allen Iverson-led Georgetown set up a regional final between No. 2 UNC and No. 1 Kentucky in Birmingham, Ala., the heart of SEC country.

Stackhouse dominated the game with 18 points, 12 boards and six assists as Carolina won, 74-61. Williams had 18 points, Wallace added 12 and the Tar Heels held Kentucky to 28 percent shooting from the floor (7 of 36 from three-point range).

Arkansas, the defending NCAA champions, beat the Tar Heels, 75-68, in the national semifinals in Seattle. Stackhouse scored 18 points, but could only play 28 minutes due to a deep thigh bruise, an injury he suffered 12 seconds into the game.

Dean Smith on 1995 — "That was a special year. We lost five seniors and were not deep, but Stackhouse and Wallace were a year older and very talented. Before the regional final, we told the team Kentucky had their celebration party scheduled, and Stackhouse held up his hand and said, "Yeah, I'm going to go to it and celebrate." He was so fired up. What a great competitor. Kentucky was very good. It was tough winning in Birmingham. It was like a road game. But I was really worried about stopping Allen Iverson and beating Georgetown. You never know what would have happened if Stackhouse had not gotten hurt (12 seconds into the game) against Arkansas."



Carolina began ACC play with three consecutive losses for the first time ever. The second of those losses was a Smith Center debacle in which Carolina led Maryland by 22 in the second half, but lost to the Terps, 85-75.

However, by the time the season was over, the Tar Heels had run off an improbable 16-game win streak, won the ACC Tournament, established Dean Smith as the winningest coach in history and earned another trip to the Final Four.

The defining moment of the season may have come after Carolina lost to Virginia, its third consecutive ACC loss. UNC faced an 0-4 start after trailing NC State by nine points with 2:34 remaining. But the Tar Heels scored the final 12 points of the game to win, 59-56.

UNC was 3-5 after the first half of the league schedule, but won their final eight regular-season ACC games. Carolina then beat Virginia, Wake Forest and NC State to win the ACC title.

One of the most memorable wins in UNC history came on March 15 as the Tar Heels beat Colorado to advance to the Final 16 and earn Smith's 877th win, breaking the record of Adolph Rupp.

All-America forward Antawn Jamison scored 21 points and grabbed eight rebounds in the East Region semifinal against California. Shammond Williams scored 22 points and Vince Carter notched 18 points and seven rebounds against Louisville in the East Regional final. The victory over Louisville was Smith's 879th and final victory at the helm of the Tar Heels, as he retired before the start of the 1998 season.

Carolina again shot poorly in Indianapolis, connecting on a season-low 31.1 percent from the floor, and was beaten by Arizona, 66-58. Carter was sensational with 21 points and Jamison had 18 points and 11 rebounds. Guards Miles Simon and Mike Bibby scored 24 and 20, respectively, for the Cats.

Dean Smith on 1997 — "We should have been 0-4 to start the ACC. Vince Carter was hurt, our confidence was shot. Then we played well at Duke, but lost and were 3-5 halfway through the league. I thought then we could win the rest of our games or lose the rest – and we almost won all of them. Fairfield was a remarkable game. That was probably our best offensive game since Loyola Marymount (1988), but they kept making those threes. There was too much going on about the number of wins and the record. I thought it could affect us against Colorado. Then I was really impressed with our team against Louisville. We had a big lead and they cut it to six and I took a timeout. I said "We could let them have it, we've had a pretty good year," and Ademola Okulaja spoke up and said "What do you mean?" And we went on to beat them pretty badly."

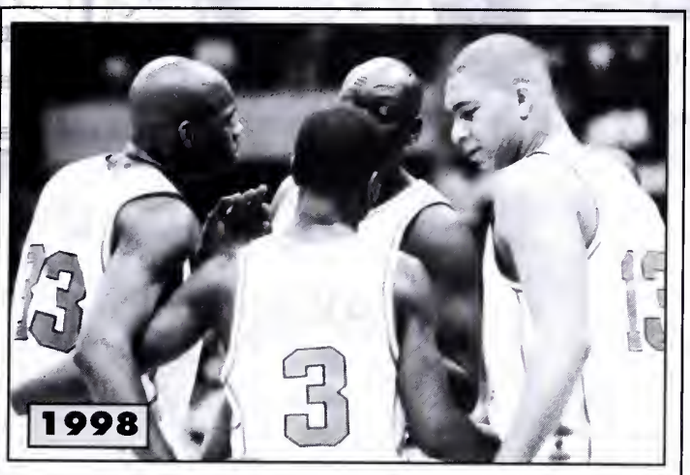
1998 FINAL FOUR/2000 FINAL FOUR



Coming off a national semifinal appearance, the 1997-98 Tar Heels were certainly among the favorites to return to the Final Four. Most of the players from the 1997 Final Four squad returned, including All-America candidates Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Shammond Williams and ACC assist leader Ed Cota.

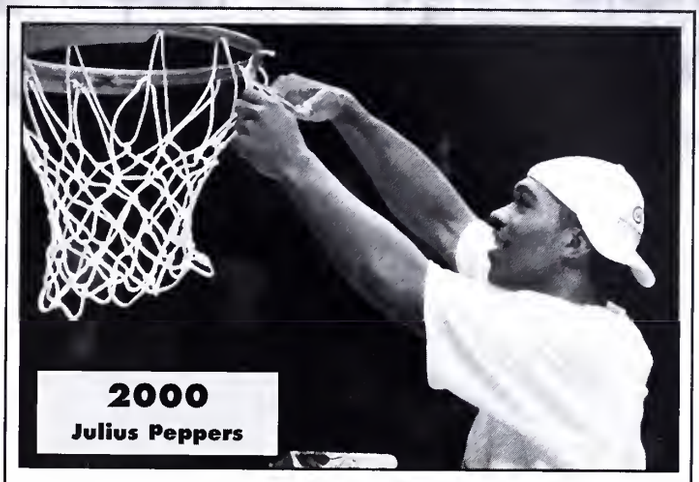
Although the players were same, Bill Guthridge was in his rookei season as head coach. Dean Smith resigned as head coach in October and turned over the reins to Guthridge, who was an assistant under Smith for the previous 30 years. The Tar Heels didn't skip a beat.

Jamison averaged 22.9 points and 10.2 rebounds to win ACC and National Player of the Year honors. Carter's spectacular athletic ability and highlight-reel dunks earned him second-team All-America honors. Carolina was No. 1 in the country for eight weeks and regained the top spot in the final poll after an 83-68 win over Duke in the ACC Tournament championship game. Despite a leg injury that threatened to keep him out of the game, Jamison scored 22 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in the title game against the No. 1 ranked Blue Devils.

Carolina then toppled rising powers Connecticut and Michigan State by double-digit margins to advance to the Final Four. Connecticut went on to win the 1999 national title and Michigan State won in 2000.

Utah built a 13-point lead at the half in the national semifinal and Carolina never was able to pull even, despite a brilliant 21-point outing from Carter. The Tar Heels shot just 39.1 percent in the game, and Jamison was held to 14 points in his final collegiate contest.

Bill Guthridge on 1998 — "We had a very talented group of players, and their attitude was great all year. They adjusted quickly to the coaching change which came just before the start of practice in October. They finished the year No. 1 in the AP poll. The ACC Tournament championship was rewarding, particularly because we beat the three teams that had beaten us in the regular season – NC State, Maryland and Duke. I knew we had a great team, and that was evident again when Connecticut and Michigan State – the teams we beat to get to the Final Four – won the next two national championships."



Carolina didn't enter the 2000 Final Four in typical fashion. After a disappointing season that included a four-game losing streak and a first-round exit in the ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels opened the NCAA tournament against Missouri as an eight seed— equalling the lowest seed in UNC history. Led by freshman guard Joseph Forte, the Tar Heels didn't falter in their newfound role as underdog, though, and marched on to an NCAA record 15th Final Four.

Many expected Carolina to lose to the quick and athletic Missouri Tigers in the first round of the South Regionals, but junior center Brendan Haywood scored a career high 28 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead the Tar Heels to an 84-70 victory.

That victory set up a second round matchup with the third ranked and number one seed Stanford Cardinal. The Carolina defense stymied the dangerous Cardinal squad, holding them to 34 percent shooting.

In the Sweet 16, the Carolina defense stepped up while Forte provided the offensive firepower as Tennessee shot 36 percent from the field and Forte scored 22 points and grabbed five more rebounds. Carolina overcame a seven-point deficit with Haywood on the bench to take the 74-69 victory.

It was the same story against Tulsa in the South Regional final. The Tar Heel defense held the Golden Hurricane to 37 percent shooting and Forte had his most productive game of the tournament with 28 points and eight rebounds.

Carolina lost to Florida in the national semifinal, despite 20 points and 12 rebounds from Haywood, but the 2000 postseason run will go down as one of Carolina's most memorable.

Bill Guthridge on 2000 — "This was a determined group of players. They overcame a lot of adversity in the forms of injuries, illness, and some tough losses to get to the Final Four. I couldn't have been happier nor prouder than I was for that group of players to make it to Indianapolis. We didn't play particularly well in the ACC Tournament, especially late in the game, but they bounced back and had a great week of practice prior to the NCAAs. Then we beat a good Missouri team and the top seed Stanford in Birmingham and that gave us great confidence to beat Tennessee and an outstanding Tulsa team."

THE TAR HEEL SPORTS NETWORK

Learfield Communications is in its third full year as the official media rights holder for the University of North Carolina athletic teams, primarily basketball and football.

Based in Jefferson City, Mo., Learfield purchased Tar Heel Sports Marketing in October 1999, adding the UNC property to 14 other schools under the Learfield umbrella. Among those for which Learfield also owns the rights are Alabama, Syracuse, Oklahoma, Indiana and Purdue.

"Our goal is to continue and add to the tremendous tradition and fan following at Carolina," says Gary Sobba, the General Manager for Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Sobba moved to Chapel Hill from Dallas, where he worked in the Learfield national sales office.

"I have worked on various college campuses for the last 16 years," adds Sobba, "and if there is a better athletic program in the country than this one, I don't know where it is."

Formerly owned by Chapel Hill-based Vil-Com, Tar Heel Sports Marketing is in its 10th year as UNC's multimedia rights holder. All Carolina fans have heard of the Tar Heel Sports Network, which broadcasts the play-by-play of football and basketball games, but that is only one facet of the operation.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television and print products.

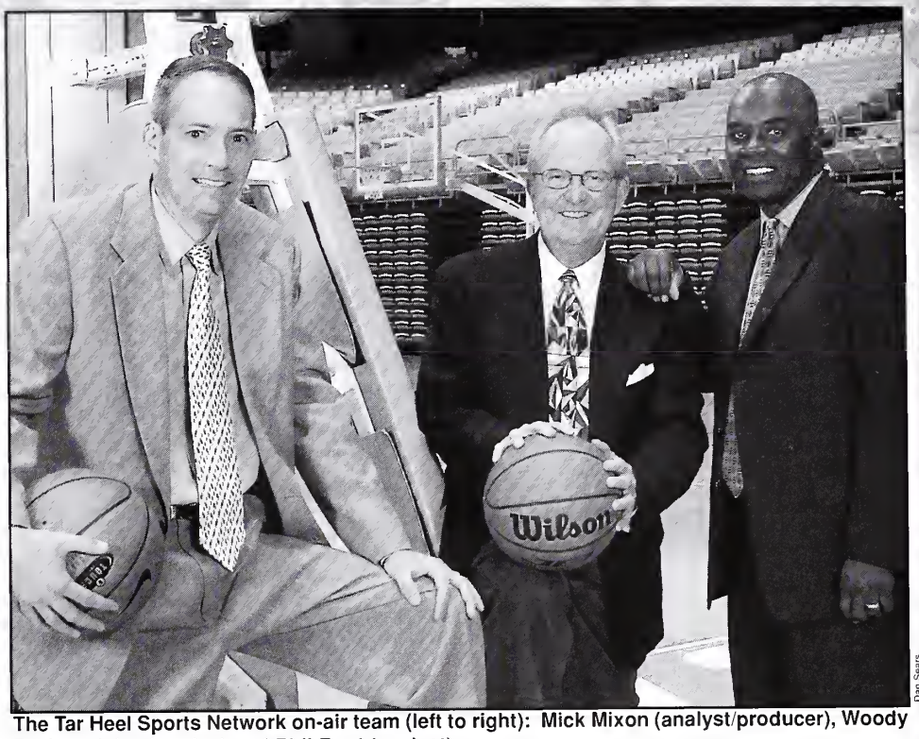
THSM brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply, listen to your radio on Thursday nights for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Sundays on "Inside Carolina Basketball." When you are at the Smith Center, pick-up the official game program.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

Head Coach Matt Doherty will give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk about the Tar Heels every Thursday evening during the basketball season on the "Matt Doherty Live" call-in show from Michael Jordan's 23 restaurant in Chapel Hill.

Coach Doherty can also be heard on "Inside Carolina Basketball," a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Basketball with Matt Doherty" is a half-hour television program seen each week on Fox Sports South throughout North Carolina. The show features highlights of the previous games, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.



Dan Sears

The Tar Heel Sports Network on-air team (left to right): Mick Mixon (analyst/producer), Woody Durham (play-by-play) and Phil Ford (analyst).

Woody Durham is in his 32nd year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels." A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., and began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director at Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Since taking over play-by-play duties in 1971, he has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone during Tar Heel football and basketball games. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times.

Woody and his wife of 39 years, Jean, are parents of two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes, 36, is in his eighth year of play-by-play duties for Georgia Tech. Taylor, 29, is a network recruitment manager with International Sports Properties of Winston-Salem.

Mick Mixon is in his 14th year as color analyst. Mixon was named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999. A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in broadcast journalism.

Mixon joined the network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.

He married Kristin Lyn Tucker (AB Journalism 1990) in 1999. Mixon teaches a popular sports journalism class in the UNC School of Journalism. He also does some freelance writing and some television work for the ACC baseball package on Fox Sports South.

Phil Ford is in his second year as an analyst with Learfield. He also works as an analyst with Fox Sports Net's Sunday night ACC package. He is married to the former Traci Vample. The Fords have a daughter, Tyler, and a son, Mitchell.

ACC LIVE

The ACC LIVE programming umbrella represents a unique partnership among the Atlantic Coast Conference, Raycom Sports, Fox Sports Net South, Comcast SportsNet and Sunshine Network, whereby the conference receives cable television exposure for every conference sport via the following regional sparts networks:

The flagship component of this sixth-year partnership is ACC LIVE -- the half-hour studio program, which weekly (Mondays, 6:30 p.m. ET) updates Atlantic Coast Conference fans on the latest news and notes from across the nine-member conference. The live show airs on 39 consecutive Mondays, beginning Labor Day and concluding in late May.

Host Mike Hogewood anchors ACC LIVE from FSN South's Atlanta studio, where he is joined regularly by in-studio analysts and guests from across the conference landscape, to deliver a behind-the-scenes, rapid-fire look at what's making news this week in the ACC.

DIRECTIONS TO PRESS PARKING

(access only with authorized parking pass)

■ From eastern North Carolina and/or Raleigh/Durham International Airport

Take I-40 West to Chapel Hill. Stay in the left or middle lane because the road splits about five miles past the airport and the right lane heads toward Durham. Stay to the left and follow I-40 West to Exit 273-B. Signs marking this exit are marked in any of the following ways: UNC-Chapel Hill/Carrboro, Kenan Stadium - Dean E. Smith Center, 54 West. Exit 273-B is a right-hand exit. Stay straight on 54 West for approximately three miles. Exit right onto Route 15-501 South/54 West and follow for one mile.

Turn right at the traffic light onto Manning Drive. Go to the top of the hill. Turn left onto Skipper Bowles Drive. Just before the Smith Center on your right is a very large parking lot. That is the media lot. An attendant will check for your pass and allow you to turn into the lot.

■ From north of Chapel Hill

Take I-85 South to Durham. I-85 will split at exit 174. The right-hand lane takes you to I-40 and Greensboro. Stay in the left-hand lane and take exit 174 (a left-hand exit) for 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

■ From Charlotte and west of Chapel Hill

Take I-85 North to I-40 East. 85 and 40 split in Hillsborough, just west of Chapel Hill. Take I-40 to exit 270 and exit onto Route 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

■ From south of Chapel Hill

Take I-77 North to I-85 and then follow the same directions as from Charlotte. Or take I-95 North to I-40 West. 95 and 40 converge just north of Benson, N.C. Then take I-40 all the way to Chapel Hill and follow the directions from the airport. See above.
